Arizona's flooding extensive

By the Associated Press

Water was still rising early today in the normally dry San Pedro and Gila rivers in southcentral Arizona where scores of persons were evacuated as the flooding spilled over thousands of acres.

The Riverside Bridge on State Route 177 near Winkelman, a ranching and mining community, was closed at 10:30 p.m. Monday and the Maricopa Bridge in the town was washed out a few hours earlier.

To the south, the water was receding in the Santa Cruz River near Tucson which could ease the heavy discharge into the San Pedro and Gila rivers. The Santa Cruz runs north from Mexico to a juncture with the Gila.

The San Pedro and Santa Cruz, which carry water only when Arizona monsoons produce moisture, were turned into raging torrents by an eight-inch rainfall triggered by Tropical Storm Heather in northern Mexico and southern Arizona.

Thousands of acres of cropland were inundated by the muddy torrent as dikes hastily erected by ranchers and civil defense units gave way.

About 20 persons were forced from their homes in Winkelman when water spread a mile from the San Pedro channel, swirling through a mobile home park.

"The trailers are about three or four feet off the ground and the water is maybe a foot over the door," said Martha Howe, manager of the nearby Copper Belle Motel.

Officials said most of the damage in the Winkelman area has been confined to farmland. Power was out at many homes in nearby Kearny and Riverside and Mammoth, about 20 miles to the south.

In Nogales, on the Arizona-Mexico border, the rampaging Santa Cruz forced evacuation of 600 persons and an estimated 100 others downstream.

Pomona ordinance on once-weekly bingo goes into effect in 30 days

City to receive 10% of games' proceeds

By GEORGE MacLAREN
PB Staff Writer

The Pomona City Council by a 4-1 vote Monday night held final reading of an ordinance which will limit nonprofit organizations to having bingo games one night a week.

The ordinance will also give the city 10 percent of each organization's gross receipts from the running of such games.

The ordinance goes into effect in 30 days.

The only vote against the ordinance came from Councilman Benjamin Ochoa who explained that he was against the first ordinance which allowed bingo in Pomona.

"Bingo opens the door to gambling," Ochoa said. "I'm not making any concessions."

When the council reached the bingo ordinance on the 56-item agenda, which Mayor Charles Bader called the longest he had seen as a councilman, the council quickly moved to approve the ordinance.

But Bader stressed that although it was not a public hearing, there were people in the audience who wished to talk for or against the ordinance, and he set a time limit of 15 minutes on each side.

Raymond Youngquist, attorney for the Church of All Faiths, asked for a week continuance of the ordinance so he could make a "more meaningful presentation." He was succeeding Joseph Dolan as the church's attorney.

The council quickly turned down that request.

Youngquist said the problem appears that Victor Barbish of the Church of All Faiths is making too much money through his bingo operation.

"Their religion may be unorthodox, but they have demonstrated good faith," Youngquist said. He stressed that the church has given the Humane Society of the Pomona Valley $50,000, and $15,000 to the Esperanza Society.

"I see a spectre in the mind of the City Council," he said. "If there are abuses, they can be remedied by proper police action."

He offered the city a night a week to run the bingo games.

He said that the church spends $5,000 a month for the lease of its building and for bingo equipment.

Youngquist asked that the council seriously consider allowing bingo four nights a week, with the city choosing on two nights any charity it wants.

He was followed by the Rev. Bob Smith of the Church of All Faiths who recalled that the council's moratorium on churches in commerical zones did not include massage parlors nor pornography book stores.

Speaking for the ordinance was the Rev. Hiram Sanders of the First Church of the Nazarene, who said he is opposed to bingo any night of the week.

"I'm here as a matter of conscience," he said. "The real issue continues to be what is a non-profit organization?"

Charles White of the Grove Street Bible Church called the issue "a farce, a dangerous farce. It's dangerous to the ideas of the First Amendment."

Bader spoke of the city's possibly setting a precedent. Speaking of the Church of All Faiths, he said that many similar organizations will single out Pomona as a good place to operate bingo games.

NEITHER RAIN NOR SNOW

A jogger muddles along as best he can, trying to ignore the season's first snowfall in Minneapolis, a harbinger of things to come. About one inch of snow fell Monday, well over a month earlier than the average November date for the first snowfall.

13 inmates executed in prison riot

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (AP) — Hundreds of rebellious convicts held part of Jalisco state prison today after executing 13 inmates they charged tyrannized them as agents of the prison administration.

Police and firemen appeared to be readying for an assault Monday night, setting up floodlights in front of a prison wall. But no attack was ordered.

Prison Director Pedro Parra said late Monday night security forces had regained control of the fortress-like, 2,300-inmate penitentiary. But no guards ventured beyond the administrative section in the front of the prison, and inmates who fled from the cellblocks said the rioters still held the main part of the complex.

A statement reportedly signed by 400 rebel inmates said the killings were "not a crime but justice." They demanded better food, work opportunities, efficient medical service and better living conditions.

Five other persons including two guards were injured in the violence Monday morning. By midafternoon all guards had been withdrawn from the cellblocks, and 2,000 men roamed freely over the interior.

American prisoners — officially said to number eight, but one American inmate said there were 17 — did not join in the rebellion, and none was injured, officials said. The Americans are jailed on narcotics charges.

Eyewitnesses said the slain prisoners enjoyed a privileged status as "coordinators" for the administration. They said their names were on a death list drawn up by the rebels, and they were killed one by one.

Morris Dam OK given by county

Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors today gave approval to a proposal to take over the Morris Dam and reservoir from the Metropolitan Water District (MWD).

The vote was 3-2 with supervisors Kenneth Hahn and Baxter Ward conducting a tooth-and-nail fight against the free acquisition.

They contended that the costs of giving the dam to the flood control district would far outweigh the benefits.

But Supervisor Peter Schabarum, an advocate of the takeover, felt otherwise. He said the county could save $500,000 a year in water costs and another $15 million in the long run by delaying the removal of certain sediments in its reservoirs in the San Gabriel Valley.

High court sets aside ruling on veterans job preference

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today set aside a lower court's ruling that struck down state laws giving a preference to military veterans who apply for public jobs.

The justices, by a 6-3 vote, told a three-judge federal court in Massachusetts to reconsider its decision in light of a 1976 Supreme Court decision that said "discriminatory intent" is necessary to find a constitutional violation.

The lower court said such preferential treatment for veterans represented unconstitutional sex discrimination against women.

The court's action carries broad impact. Only four states — Arkansas, Mississippi, New Mexico and South Carolina — have no form of veterans' preference.

Justices William J. Brennan Jr., Thurgood Marshall and Lewis F. Powell Jr. voted to hear arguments in the case.

The Massachusetts law was challenged in 1975 by Helen Feeney, a state employe from 1963 to that year.

2 jet hijackers ask for asylum

FRANKFURT, West Germany (AP) — A man and woman employed by the Czechoslovak airlines and carrying loaded pistols hijacked a domestic jetliner to Frankfurt airport today, and asked for political asylum, police said.

The two wore their uniforms but traveled as passengers, police said.

After holding the other 24 passengers and three crew members hostage on the plane for two hours, the two surrendered to police, Frankfurt police chief Knut Mueller said.

He identified them only as Vlastislav T., 29, and Ruzena V., 22, both employed by the CSA airline in Karlovy Vary, a once glittering spa known as Carlsbad.

Stabbed repeatedly

Bodies of 3 missing girls found in creek

ELVATON, Md. (AP) — The discovery of the bodies of three missing girls, stabbed repeatedly through their parkas and left lying face down in a creek near their homes, has stunned the Southgate neighborhood here.

The bodies of Theresa Hogan, 8; her sister Deborah Anne, 10; and Ann Marie Brzeszkiewicz, also 8, were found Monday. The schoolgirls had left a house early Sunday evening to play and were last seen on a bridge over the stream, which runs through a wooded area near the subdivision where they lived.

State Medical Examiner Russell Fisher said two of the girls had been stabbed about six times, and the third victim had more than a dozen knife wounds. Fisher said the murder weapon was probably a hunting knife with a blade at least five inches long.

The girls were found fully clothed and there was no evidence that they had been sexually molested, authorities said.

"We don't have anything," said Detective Sgt. William Chaplin of the Anne Arundel County homicide squad. "No clues, no motives, no weapon."

News of the slayings sent parents to Southgate Elementary School to gather up their children when classes were dismissed. School officials said usually a dozen parents will pick up their children but about 150 were waiting outside Monday afternoon.

"You just feel like clutching them to you," said one anxious mother.

"We've always felt fairly safe here," said Bruce Strazza, president of the local civic association.

"You always hear about it happening somewhere else, but it doesn't happen in your neighborhood."

Nobel physics awards go to 2 Americans, Briton

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Two Americans and a Briton won the Nobel prize for physics today, and a Belgian was awarded the prize for chemistry.

The Swedish Academy gave the physics prize to John H. Van Vleck, 78, of Harvard University; his former student Philip Anderson, 55, of Princeton University and Bell Laboratories; and Sir Nevill F. Mott, 72, of Cambridge University in England.

The chemistry prize went to Ilya Prigogine, 60, of the Free University of Brussels. He is also director of the Center for Statistical Mechanics and Thermodynamics at the University of Texas.

The physics winners, who will share equally a $145,000 prize, were cited for research on the electronic structure of magnetic and disordered systems — work applied to development of the laser, advancement in the industrial use of glass, and in copper spirals for birth control devices.

Court battle begins over racial bias of IQ testing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — IQ tests — and their alleged built-in bias against minority children — go on trial here today in a class action lawsuit filed on behalf of six black children placed in classes for the mentally retarded because of low IQ test scores.

"The basic claim that we're trying is that the IQ tests are culturally biased against black children because they don't take into consideration the cultural experience of the children," said attorney Sam Miller.

The class action suit was filed in 1971 after the black children scored below 75 on standard intelligence quotient tests and were placed in classes for the "educable mentally retarded."

The children scored 17 to 35 points higher when retested by the Bay Area Association of Black Psychologists, using tests reworded to better reflect the language and experience of the children.

Miller claims the misuse of IQ tests in class placement could result in irrevocably stunting the educational growth of some minority children.

After the suit was filed, U.S. District Court Judge Robert Peckham stopped the placement of San Francisco black children in classes for the retarded when based on results of IQ tests, pending the outcome of the trial. Other criteria have been used since then. Peckham is hearing the nonjury trial.

At the time the suit was filed, 66.5 per cent of the students in the special classes were black, while 28.5 per cent of the total school population were black.

Attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and a group called Public Advocates will assist in challenging the tests.

Defendants in the case include both the state and San Francisco school superintendents and the state and city school boards.

San Onofre nuclear unit in operation

SAN ONOFRE (AP) - After a month's shutdown, electrical generating capacity at the San Onofre Nuclear Generating Plant's Unit 1 is back to normal.

The plant was shut down maintenance, inspection and repairs to some steam tubes Sept. 9.

An official for the plant's majority partner, Southern California Edison Co., said weekend tests were good. Twenty per cent of the power goes to the minority partner, San Diego Gas and Electric Co. for use in San Diego and Orange counties.

Gov. Brown:

Judge all university applicants the same

LOS ANGELES (AP) — All applicants for University of California graduate and professional programs should be judged under the same broad criteria now reserved for minority applicants, Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. says.

"I would like to see the special admissions program criteria applied to each applicant," Brown told reporters following a Columbus Day ceremony at City Hall Monday. "We need a total examination based on the qualities of the individual applying."

Under the University of California's special admissions provisions, the race of a minority applicant is taken into consideration, along with other criteria besides grades and test scores.

The United States Supreme Court is to hear oral arguments Wednesday on a challenge to the special admissions program at the UC Davis Medical School.

A lawsuit filed by Allan Bakke of Sunnyvale, a white former Marine who was denied admission to the medical school, contends he was discriminated against because the special admission policy automatically set aside 16 of the school's 100 openings for minorities.

The California Supreme Court agreed that Bakke, whose grades and test scores were higher than those of most of the minority applicants who were admitted when he applied, was the victim of discrimination.

However, on Monday, Brown reiterated that he hopes the U.S. Supreme Court will reverse the state court's Bakke decision. The governor claimed that grades and examination scores are not by themselves sufficient to forecast whether an applicant will make a good doctor.

"Somebody who had a C-plus average in college but had to work to support his family might make a better doctor than somebody who got straight A's but never had to work a day in his life," Brown said.

"The present medical school examination only measures test-taking ability," rather than the various human qualities necessary for success as a physician, Brown said.

In this and in other professional and graduate programs, Brown argued, "There should be a qualitative judgment based on the motivation, the character, and the talent of the individual."

Lockheed strike in second day as bargaining stalled

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Thousands of Lockheed workers were staying off the job today at the aerospace firm's plants in Burbank, Palmdale and Sunnyvale as contract talks remained stalemated.

"As far as I know, neither side is talking to the other yet, but perhaps tomorrow or the next day we may get some approaches from the company," said Neil Van der Cooke, spokesman for the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers (IAM).

"The company says they're ready and we're certainly ready. But the mediators are calling the shots at the moment," he said Monday night at the end of the first day of the walkout.

The strike threatened production of Lockheed's commercial jets and defense missiles in California. However, the plants remained open.

Members of the union, which represents about 13,500 workers at the three Lockheed plants, voted to strike this weekend. The Sunnyvale plant is the center for the Navy's Trident missile program and the Burbank and Palmdale plants make Lockheed's L-1011 commercial jetliners, as well as Navy patrol planes.

The striking workers represent roughly one-third of the employes at the three plants — machinists, janitors, secretaries and production workers, officials said. The dispute centers on wage and seniority considerations.

IAM membership in Lockheed's Marietta, Ga., plant, voted Sunday not to strike immediately, and instead to opt for another crack at the bargaining tables.

The workers' contract in Georgia and California expired at midnight Sunday. They are asking for a new pact that would give them pay hikes of 8 per cent in the first year of the contract, then 5 per cent and 4 per cent in the following years. Lockheed has offered increases of 3.5 per cent, and 3 per cent each of the following two years.

Miners claiming meteorite discovery

BARSTOW (AP) — Two miners say they've discovered a meteorite even bigger than the "Old Woman Meteor" that touched off a tug-of-war between state and federal officials and the men who found it.

But the miners aren't saying just where their treasure trove is, except that it's allegedly somewhere in the Avawatz Mountains about 60 miles northeast of Barstow.

The new specimen was dubbed the "Squaw Tom Meteorite" after one of the men who says he found it: "Squaw Tom" Sanders.

The miners claim an assayer has certified the authenticity of the rock as an iron and nickel meteor, the same as the "Old Woman."

But because of Monday's federal holiday, no immediate confirmation was available from Bureau of Land Management personnel or other officials.

Sanders said he discovered "Squaw Tom" in 1927, but did nothing about it. "I thought it was just a piece of iron," he explained.

However, after he and his partner, Art Wilson, viewed the "Old Woman" in Barstow recently, Sanders said he decided to take another look at the specimen he had found in the desert five decades earlier.

Sanders claims "Squaw Tom" weighs more than three tons, while "Old Woman" weighs 2½ tons. The "Squaw Tom" specimen is also 26 inches longer, 11 inches wider and six inches higher, Sanders claims.

The discovery of the "Old Woman," found in the Old Woman Mountains southwest of Needles, touched off a battle between state officials who wanted the rock to remain here and federal officials who wanted to take it the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C. Little attention was paid during the struggle to the claims of the miners who found the rock.

California eventually won out in the battle, when the Bureau of Land Management decided to let the meteor remain on display at various museums in the state.

Wind carries pollution

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Wind currents would carry pollution from Alaskan oil tankers toward Los Angeles, say officials who sent a manned balloon aloft to test the air flow.

The balloon America, launched Monday, was gathering wind trajectory data for the South Coast Air Quality Management District, which must decide whether to approve a proposed Standard Oil of Ohio terminal in Long Beach Harbor.

The free-floating balloon was blown about by prevailing winds the same way air pollutants would be, district officials said.

Earth-moon pictures

PASADENA (AP) — Photographs of the earth and moon together, beamed to earth by the Voyager 1 spacecraft, are being processed and should be ready by the end of the week, a Jet Propulsion Laboratory spokesman says.

The six color pictures, transmitted across 19 million miles of space over the weekend and received early Monday, were actually taken shortly after Voyager 1's takeoff Sept. 5 but had been stored in the spacecraft's computer, said JPL spokesman Alan Wood.

$85 million bill

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Officials estimate that this season's forest fires, mudslides and flooding in California will cost $85 million.

The U.S. Forest Service says it will cost $32 million just to fight mudslides and floods in the central coast region that are expected from winter and spring rains.

Most of last summer's fires occurred on federal forest lands, so the U.S. Forest Service will pick up the heaviest expenses for this year's blazes in California.

State and federal officials said in a published report Monday that the exact cost will not be known for months, probably even years, because they're still reseeding burned areas.

'Loco weed' death

STRAWBERRY (AP) — An 18-year-old man apparently under the influence of "loco weed" has died after plunging 100 feet into a rocky ravine, Kern County officials said.

Jack E. King of Quartz Hill, a small community near Lancaster, may have wandered away from his Tehachapi Mountains campsite after eating jimson plant, also known as "loco weed," the Kern County coroner said Monday.

King had been camping near Castle Rock, about 11 miles northwest of Rosamond in Kern County, authorities said. They said he died Sunday.

Railway speed limit

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Officials of the nation's rail system, Amtrak, say they can cut travel time between San Diego and Los Angeles by 18 minutes, partly by eliminating a speed limit near the San Clemente estate of former President Richard M. Nixon.

The proposal was part of a five-year plan issued in Washington Monday that also recommended increasing service between the two southern California cities.

"Trains passing near the Nixon enclave must still slow down to 40 miles an hour for a five-mile stretch," said Arthur Lloyd, Western region manager for Amtrak's public affairs in San Francisco. "The restriction must have been imposed for security reasons and we inherited it."

Boys abandoned

Two young children were taken to MacLaren Hall, a home for non-delinquent children in El Monte, after they were found Monday afternoon, crying and apparently abandoned in the 2400 block of Alder Street in northeast Pomona, police reported.

The boys, one 11 and the other 5, told police they had been left outside a market, believed to have been at Indian Hill Boulevard and Arrow Highway.

Police said a check with MacLaren Hall revealed that the boys' brother already was at the institution. He was taken there after apparently having been abandoned in Los Angeles. The records revealed that the two boys had been taken to the hall on previous occasions after having been left alone.

2 wrecks hurt 4

A La Habra man was reported in fair condition this morning in County-USC Medical Center where he was being treated for injuries he suffered in a traffic accident Monday afternoon at Ganesha Boulevard and Murchison Street in Pomona.

Steven J. Zipnick, 24, suffered a head injury in the collision of his auto and one driven by Augustine A. Cota, 20, of San Dimas. Cota was uninjured.

Three persons were hurt and one driver arrested in a traffic accident Monday evening at Park Avenue and Philadelphia Street.

Ramon G. Diaz, 31, of Pomona, the arrested driver, was among the injured. The other driver, Ronald L. Grohe, 38, of Pomona, also was hurt slightly.

Police reported that Diaz' auto struck the rear of Grohe's vehicle at a stop sign. They arrested Diaz on a drunken driving charge.

Still unidentified

A woman apparently struck and killed early Sunday morning by a hit-and-run driver on the San Bernardino Freeway offramp at Milliken Avenue in Ontario remaines unidentified this morning, according to the San Bernardino County Coroner's office.

The coroner's office said this morning that the fingerprints taken from the body were being checked through state and county offices.

Market robbed

Two men armed with a revolver robbed Circle K Market at 460 S. Campus Ave., Upland, of a small amount of cash and a clerk's purse Monday evening, police reported.

Upland police said that the two men, both wearing bandanas over their faces, entered the store and confronted the woman clerk.

The men demanded the cash from the register. They took the money and purse and fled.

One of the men was described as a Latin, 18 years of age, of husky build with a light complexion. He was wearing a blue watchcap, a brown corduroy jacket, dark pants. He was armed with a short-barrelled revolver.

The second man was described as a Latin, 18 years of age, 5 feet 7, of slim build, wearing a white T-shirt rolled up around his ribs and a blue watchcap.

Home blaze

Fire in a Claremont home caused an estimated $10,000 in damages Monday afternoon before Los Angeles County firefighters could bring the blaze under control.

One bedroom was destroyed and heavy smoke damage sustained in the home located at 534 Clarion Place in Claremont.

Four engine companies and one batallion chief responded to the blaze which occurred at about 2:30 p.m.

Recover van

A Claremont man's van was found abandoned in an alley Tuesday morning where it had been left by three young men who beat up the driver and took the vehicle from him late Sunday night, Pomona police said.

Terrence Gilmer, 38, told officers that he was attacked by the three youths, 17 or 18 years old, in the 200 block of S. Thomas Street shortly before midnight. He declined medical attention.

Juvenile kidnapers

Two youths were arrested Monday afternoon after they reportedly attempted to force a Colton woman to drive them to San Francisco at knifepoint in Ontario, police reported.

The youths, one from Gilroy and the other from Calamesa, were arrested a short time after the incident was reported and turned over to juvenile authorities for disposition on charges of kidnapping.

Police said the 21-year-old Colton woman had picked up the two 16-year-old suspects who were hitchhiking on the San Bernardino Freeway near Sierra Highway in Fontana about 11:45 a.m. The woman told officers she drove the youths to Ontario where one of them suddenly produced a knife and put it against her ribs, telling her she had better drive them to San Francisco.

The woman said she refused and drove into a service station at Fourth Street and Corona Avenue in Ontario where the youths fled.

Gang stabbing

An 18-year-old Cucamonga man and four juveniles arrested Monday night are accused of attacking two youths outside the Pup n Taco drive-in at Archibald Avenue and Base Line Road in Cucamonga, according to West End sheriff's deputies.

Deputies said that one Cucamonga youth involved in the altercation suffered stab wounds to the chest.

The other youth managed to escape.

Sheriff's deputies said the attackers, apparently from the North Town area of Cucamonga, confronted the two victims outside of the drive-in and asked them where they were from.

When the victims replied, they were suddenly attacked by the other youths, they told authorities.

Deputies said that the victims were able to describe the attackers' vehicle. Officers stopped the suspects's auto a short time later near Turner Avenue and Foothill Boulevard.

Booked in the West End jail for investigation of assault with a deadly weapon was Delfino Anguiano, 18, of 10133 Eighth Street, Cucamonga. The four juveniles were placed in custody of juvenile authorities for disposition.

Deputies said the injured youth, identified as Elias Vasquez, was treated for stab wounds at San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland and later released. Deputies said that the other youth may also have been stabbed but he refused to cooperate with them for fear of gang retaliation.

Illness delays FBI nominee hearing

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — FBI director-designate Frank M. Johnson Jr. has been ordered by his doctor to get a week to 10 days' bed rest after "overdoing it" preparing for his Senate confirmation hearings.

Today's hearings were postponed by the Senate Judiciary Committee after Johnson, who recently underwent stomach surgery, left Washington Monday complaining of exhaustion. The hearings likely will be delayed until the end of the year, according to the office of Sen. James Allen, D.-Ala.

FBI Director Clarence Kelley, who took office in July, 1973, has announced plans to retire Jan. 1. Johnson, 58, a federal judge in Alabama since 1955, is Carter's choice to succeed him.

In Washington, Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell said the postponement of hearings is "nothing serious."

Johnson was met at the Montgomery airport by his brother, Jimmy, and taken to his physician for an examination.

Dr. J.J. Kirschenfeld said Johnson was "basically in good health" although "some swelling" in the area of the abdominal wall caused "a good deal of discomfort." Kirschenfeld said Johnson "overdid it" during a week of FBI and Justice Department briefings for the hearings.

Kirschenfeld said the problem was not serious enough to require hospitalization, so he ordered the judge to spend the next week to 10 days resting in bed.

Chicken guano power

WEST UNION, Iowa (AP) — Electricity generated from chicken manure is lighting up the henhouse on a northeast Iowa farm.

An Agriculture Department spokesman says waste from the 160,000 chickens contains enough methane gas to provide power to 200 average homes.

The $100,000 experimental operation "is to farming what the Wright brothers' airplane was to flying — a beginning," said one of the developers.

Engraved invitations were sent out, and there were state and USDA officials present for the unveiling of the hen-power setup Monday at the Heying Enterprises Farm. Former Iowa Sen. Hilarius Heying and his family put up half the money for the experiment.

"This is a first," noted Carl Larson, representing the USDA Department of Rural Development. "We in government are interested because we want to see farmers use such farm wastes for the betterment of our country."

Rod Riggs, director of the Iowa State Energy Policy Council, pushed the button that sent electricity from the methane-fired generator into the laying house complex.

He said he hoped the production of methane gas from Iowa's chicken manure could offset the nation's dependence on foreign oil.

Manure, after it ferments, gives off methane gas that can be used to fuel generators.

Moscow mum on space linkup difficulties

MOSCOW (AP) — No official reason has been given for the inability of two cosmonauts aboard the Soyuz-25 spacecraft to link up with the orbiting space laboratory Salyut-6, the latest in a series of Soyuz-Salyut failures.

The cosmonauts, Lt. Col. Vladimir Kovalenok and flight engineer Valery Ryumin, returned to earth today after 49 hours and 46 minutes aloft. Both men were reported in good health.

Western space experts in Moscow suggested two possible reasons for the aborted mission: that the docking mechanism did not work or, more likely, that the cosmonauts overshot the space lab and didn't have enough fuel for another try.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, reported that Kovalenok and Ryumin ended their first mission in space with a soft landing "in the set area" 450 miles north of the Baikonur space center in central Asia.

The flight was to have been a dramatic celebration of the 20th anniversary of the space age, inaugurated Oct. 4, 1957, by the first manmade earth satellite, the unmanned Soviet Sputnik.

The only Tass comment on the failure Monday was that that there were "some deviations from a planned docking regime."

Lack of a booster rocket powerful enough to lift loads of more than seven tons into space is the crux of the problems with the Soyuz-Salyut program, in the view of Western observers here.

Western experts feel this problem could prove a serious obstacle to the Soviet space program because it is geared to work by cosmonauts aboard orbiting space stations.

Gang war wounds 2

One victim of an apparent street gang clash early Monday in Pomona remained in critical condition today as police investigation of the incident continued.

Steven Robert Herrera, 22, of Chino, reportedly lost one eye in the shooting — a report that physicians at County-USC Medical Center today refused to confirm or deny. Herrera's condition still was termed critical.

A second victim of the clash, Richard Henry Rico, 21, of Pomona, was in the same hospital. He is reported in fair condition. He also was struck in the face by gunfire.

Pomona police reported the shooting broke out when a car driven by Herrera, containing three other Chinoans, ran into a barricade in the street at Hamilton Boulevard and Center Street. The barricade, consisting of cement blocks 18 inches high, apparently had been placed in the street by Pomonans who expected the Chinoans, authorities said.

Police gave this account of the incident:

The Chinoans were driving without headlights when the car ran into the barricades and Herrera was wounded after he left the auto and was moving the blocks.

An exchange of gunfire followed, during which Rico was wounded also. Herrera's companions put him inside their car and left for Pomona Valley Community Hospital. Rico's companions did the same and the two groups arrived at the hospital at about the same time.

While Herrera and Rico were being treated in the emergency room, a fight broke out outside between the two factions, during which the Pomonans broke all the windows of the Chinoans' car with pieces of pipe.

Police arriving at the hospital arrested three men alleged to have been Herrera's companions. They were David Jesus Benites, 20, Antonio Almaguer, 21, and Rudy Gonzales, 22.

Detective E.G. Allsup said this morning that the three suspects remained in jail and he planned to seek complaints against them from the local district attorney's office later today.

No one wants poor Columbus

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nineteen years after its removal from the East Front of the Capitol, a controversial statue of Christopher Columbus is still looking for a new home.

"The Discovery," by Luigi Persico, stood outside the East Front for 114 years before it was placed in "temporary" storage during a Capitol renovation.

The marble work portrays Columbus holding a symbolic globe, like a basketball referee ready to throw up the first ball. A scantily clad Indian maiden is at his feet.

The statue became controversial when it was unveiled in 1844. Art critics have panned it and Indians protested the girl's semi-nudity. Defenders said the head of Columbus was taken from an original bust in Spain and could be the best likeness of the explorer in Washington.

Today, it rests at the Smithsonian Institution's storage facility in Suitland, Md. A Smithsonian spokesman, Paul Perrot, said, "There are no present plans for 'The Discovery.'"

He said it might be placed in a museum exhibit in the future.

TV's Divorce Court Judge Perkins dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Voltaire Perkins, who for more than a decade portrayed the stern but compassionate judge on the television series Divorce Court, has died of an apparent heart attack at age 80.

Perkins' death came Monday at UCLA Medical Center.

A 1921 graduate of USC Law School who practiced in Los Angeles for 45 years, Perkins was best known to millions for his role in the television series.

Perkins, who had earlier pursued a nominal career as an actor, said that Divorce Court allowed him to do the two things he liked best — practice law and act.

Many viewers believed the program was of actual divorce court proceedings.

Milsap Entertainer of the Year

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Blind singer Ronnie Milsap is the Country Music Association's Entertainer of the Year and for the third time, its Male Vocalist of the Year. Crystal Gayle, younger sister of country star Loretta Lynn, is this year's CMA top female vocalist.

The CMA also named "Lucille," a song recorded by Kenny Rogers and written by Roger Bowling and Hal Bynum, Song of the Year.

Milsap became the first person to win top male vocalist three times when the CMA handed out its 11th annual awards before a national television audience Monday night.

His album, "Ronnie Milsap Live," was named Album of the Year, making him the show's only triple winner.

Milsap, blind since birth, won the male vocalist title in 1974 and 1976. "I didn't see the faces but I had the chance to feel the electricity and the love. Sometimes you don't have to see," he said.

Miss Gayle, whose sister was a three-time winner, said Miss Lynn "was rooting for me before I won."

Rogers, whose song was also named Single of the Year, has also been successful in popular music.

"In the pop market, you're as good as your last hit," he said. "But in country music, I've seen people without a hit for years who still are big favorites."

Merle Travis, a guitarist-songwriter-singer, became the 30th member of the Country Music Hall of Fame. He is probably best known as a pioneer guitarist and as writer of the classic "Sixteen Tons."

Jim Ed Brown and Helen Cornelius were named top vocal duo; the Statler Brothers won No. 1 vocal group for the sixth straight year; the Original Texas Playboys were chosen top instrumental group, and Roy Clark was Instrumentalist of the Year for the first time in his career.

Neither Dolly Parton, top female vocalist for the past two years, nor Waylon Jennings won awards, although Miss Parton was a finalist for Entertainer of the Year and top female vocalist and Jennings was nominated for five awards — more than anyone else.

Jennings, who was arrested on cocaine charges last month, did not attend the show because he objects to musicians competing for awards. The charges were dismissed last week.

Other finalists for Entertainer of the Year were Jennings, Merle Haggard and Rogers. Larry Gatlin, Jennings, Rogers and Don Williams were the other finalists for No. 1 male vocalist and Emmylou Harris and Barbara Mandrell completed the finalists for top female vocalist.

Joyce Brothers

Women not passive

DEAR DR. JOYCE BROTHERS: As a German-American I'm shocked by the number of women involved in criminal acts in Germany. When I was there in the '20s, I think women wouldn't even have considered any kind of violence. Women were in the home and liked it. What's happening to all the old values we lived by? I don't think it's good for any country when women commit violent acts. I look at my granddaughters and I feel that the changes in women are awful. I worry for them and men today. — L.V.

DEAR L.V.: I'm sure you'd agree that violent behaviour is bad in men as well as women. The rise in female crime in Germany is paralleled in other countries. In the United States recent reports show that the number of women arrested since 1970 had risen three times faster than the number of men. According to Dr. Horst Schueler-Springorum of Muich niesity, a decade ago only 11 to 14 individuals out of 100 convicted for crimes were women. Today, it is estimated that one in three criminals is a woman.

A German woman criminologist, Prof. Freda Adler feels that guns help to equalize the difference in the physical strength of men and women and that this, in part, accounts for the rise among women in crimes involving firearms.

Some feminists feel that women may now be reacting in anger about the roles they've been forced to play for so many years. Women are not by nature passive and I don't know that you can assume women were so satisfied with their earlier roles just because they stayed in the kitchen.

No one wants to see men or women involved in crime, but as women gain more freedom, it can be expected that some will choose criminal careers just as some men have.

DEAR DR. JOYCE BROTHERS: My husband insists that our son enter competitive sports, the kind of "win-or-die" games. Often, after he's lost, the boy has trouble sleeping. My husband feels we live in a highly competitive world and he wants the boy to learn the how-to-succeed game before he's 12, or be well on his way by then. I can't fight my husband on this anymore, but what can I do? I'd like to help my son so he won't grow into a mean, aggressive man who feels cheated unless he's on top of every situation. — C.G.

DEAR C.G.: I think you can help your son by presenting a different point of view that will temper his losses, and at least let him know that all people don't see the world this way. This will help give him perspective and balance. Try to introduce him to some art form, painting, poetry or music, where the individual's concentration is on competing with himself rather than winning over others.

Several studies have indicated that highly competitive sports were psychologically and emotionally damaging to youngsters. However, a University of Vermont psychologist, John Burchard, attempted to measure such side effects by studying 122 Pee Wee hockey players during that state's tournament.

He found that the 11- and 12-year-old players took out their frustrations verbally on themselves and the referees, but not on the opposing players and that there was little difference in aggression among those on the winning and losing teams. He concluded that competitive environment may not be all that disruptive. It does not elicit aggression and hostility per se.

Open house

Gateway House Auxiliary will hold open house Sunday at the house, 1139 N. Gordon St., Pomona, from 2 until 4 p.m.

The auxiliary members will take guests on a tour of the home which has been extensively remodeled, refurnished and carpeted. The Gateway office, which was formerly at the First Presbyterian Church, has been relocated in the Gateway House.

Contributors toward the remodeling project have included Claremont Senior Citizens Club, Griswold's, Soroptimist International of Pomona, Perkin-Elmer Corp. Good neighbor Club, Economy Shop in Claremont, St. Ambrose Episcopal Church, Pomona Emblem Club, United Crusade and many church groups and friends of Gateway.

The house is now home for six girls and their babies in several apartments, an apartment for the house manager and the office.

In charge of arrangements are Rhoda Muter, Dee Bechard, Billie Gray, Audrey Piatt and Jean Rogers.

Regional officer to be guest

The Pomona Valley Ladies' Auxiliary, Fleet Reserve Association will have as a guest the regional president of the auxiliary, Barbara Meredith of San Gabriel Valley Association.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. at the American Legion Hall, 13130 Central Ave., Chino. A no-host dinner will be served at 6 p.m. at the Centro-Basco restaurant.

Shirley Willmuth of Pomona, who attended the national convention in New Orleans, La., will report on the conclave and on the dedication of the Jerry L. Pettis Memorial Veterans Hospital at Loma Linda.

Nutrition group sets gathering

Pomona Valley Chapter, American Nutrition Society, will hear Dr. B. L. Weston discuss "Nutritional Factors which Influence Holistic Health" when the group meets Wednesday at Claremont Library at 7:30 p.m.

FAMILY CIRCUS

SPEED LIMIT 55

In 1975, 9400 fewer people died on our highways than in 1973, when speed limits were over 55.

But we can do better. Because some people still think the 55 speed limit is something they can take or leave. It isn't. It's a law. And it's up to each of us to make sure it gets a real chance to work.

BEDWETTERS?
LET THEM HAVE A DRY BED!

The greatest gift you can give a bedwetter and the rest of the family, too, is an end to this serious problem, and make no mistake, bedwetting is serious. It can cause complicated psychological problems that last a lifetime. It's so needless because bedwetting, when not caused by organic defect or disease, can be ended. Phone or mail for our free brochure, "Bedwetting — What It's All About and How To End It." A report by three medical doctors. No obligation.

Bizet opera slated

The West End Opera Company will present Bizet's "Carmen" in Spring Auditorium, Ontario, at 8 p.m. Oct. 22. Tickets are on sale at local music stores and at the Spring box office from 7 to 9 p.m. starting Monday.

Among the newcomers to the company are Maris U. Ubans of Glendale, the stage director; Robin L. Reed of Pasadena, Don Jose; Arlene Thomas of Los Angeles, Micaela; Mary Hurzeler of Anaheim, Frasquita; Diane De Paolo of Walnut, Mercedes; Allan Johnson of Corona Del Mar, El Remendado, and Hazel Schubert of La Jolla, understudy for Carmen.

Ubans is professor of theater arts and chairman of the theater arts department at Cal State Los Angeles. He has had a distinguished career in scholarship and teaching, as well as in the production of musical drama at universities in North Carolina and in Illinois and also at Occidental and Pomona colleges. Operas most recently produced by Ubans have been Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro" and Offenbach's "Orpheus in Hell," both at Cal State Los Angeles.

Reed has sung widely in concert in the Los Angeles area, notably as the featured tenor soloist in Orff's "Cartuli Carmina" with the Pasadena Chorale. Miss Thomas has sung with the American Opera Company and with the Beverly Hills Opera Theater. Miss Hurzeler has appeared in "Gianni Schicchi" and "Madame Butterfly" for Lyric Opera, and Miss De Paolo in Cal State Northridge, productions of "Tales of Hoffman," "Marriage of Figaro," "Faust" and others. Johnson has appeared frequently in concert in Southern California, and Miss Schubert has sung a wide variety of mezzo-soprano roles with the Pacific Lyric Theater of San Diego and with numerous other opera groups.

Returning to West End with production assignments are Mario Cajati of Downey, music director and conductor; Donald Brinegar of Claremont, choral director, and Pam Vander Heyden of Claremont, director of the children's chorus. Cajati, who was introduced to American audiences by the legendary Arturo Toscanini, founded the Downey Symphony Orchestra and conducted it for nine years. In 1976-77 he directed West End's productions of "La Boheme" and "Aida." Brinegar, director of vocal music at Claremont High School, prepared the chorus for last year's productions, and Pam Vander Heyden trained the children who appeared in these productions.

West End audiences are already familiar with many of the principals in this year's "Carmen." Sallyanne Bachman of Corona, who sings the title role of the seductive and tempestuous cigarette girl, was the Amneris in last spring's "Aida." She is currently preparing the role of Preziosilla in "La Forza del Destino" for a Southern California performance, and will shortly go to New York to sing for her friend, the noted diva Rise Stevens. Silvio Barto, Escamillo, will appear for the seventh season with the local company, having most recently sung the role of Marcello in "La Boheme." Ryan Allen of Burbank, Zuniga, and Jean Paul Lavoie of Ontario, Morales, have participated frequently in West End productions, Allen most recently as Colline in "La Boheme" and Lavoie in a variety of choral and comprimario roles since 1968. Donald Bowers of Upland, El Dancairo, has also appeared as featured soloist with the West End Symphony.

ALL THAT JAZZ — The Gus Giordano Jazz Dance Company will perform in Gymnasium 3 at Mt. San Antonio College at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. The program will include tap, rock, ballet and modern dance.

Jazz dance concert

The Gus Giordano Jazz Dance Company will perform in Gymnasium 3 at Mt. San Antonio College at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. Tickets are $4 general admission, $2 for students.

Jazz dance pioneer Giordano will take the audience through narrative performances describing jazz dance and social commentary from the 1900s to the 1970s. Although the repertoire is mainly American jazz, from tap to rock, modern dance and ballet will also be included.

The program has been designed to appeal to all audiences and includes a great variety of expressions and mood characteristics of American jazz music and jazz dance.

Giordano has toured his American product throughout the world and in 1974 was the guest of the USSR Cultural Exchange Program.

West End firemen host demonstrations

Safety demonstrations, school tours and classroom presentations are planned this week by West End fire departments in observance of Fire Prevention Week.

Chino firemen will present safety demonstrations from 4 to 5:30 p.m. at these locations: today, Country Fair, Philadelphia Street and Central Avenue; Wednesday, Alpha Beta market, Central Avenue and Walnut Street; Thursday, Stater Bros. market, Philadelphia Street and Mountain Avenue; and Friday, Alpha Beta market, Glenmeade.

They will also have a demonstration Saturday, 1 to 2 p.m., at the City Hall complex, Central Avenue and D Street.

Montclair firemen will visit various schools during the week to display firegighting equipment and talk to students about fire safety.

Ontario firemen will also go to various schools to present fire prevention tips and discuss the usefulness of smoke detectors.

They will also have safety classes for local merchants, businessmen and their employees.

For information about classroom presentations, persons may phone 986-4579.

Tours of fire stations will be held for various groups.

The Foothill Fire Prevention District and Upland Fire Department will also have tours and other presentations.

On campus

"The Rise of the Nazi State: Prelude to Genocide," will be discussed by a panel at PITZER COLLEGE tonight at 7 p.m. in Avery Auditorium.

First of a three part film and discussion series concerning "The Holocaust and Its Meaning," the event is cosponsored by Pitzer College and the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith.

"The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich, Parts I and II", will be the featured film.

Next in the series will be "The Extermination Program" on Oct. 18, and "Problems of Responsibility: Past, Present and Future," Oct. 25.

All events are free and open to the public. For more information, persons may call 626-8511, ext. 3145.

The Oldenborg Center of POMONA COLLEGE will feature a talk by Colin Jackson, British Parliament member, on Thursday, as part of the Center's International Relations Colloquium.

Luncheon in the center's south dining room will be served at 11:45 a.m., followed by Jackson's talk at 12:30 p.m. The colloquium events are open to the public. There is a charge for lunch to those who do not hold meal tickets.

Overalls and paint-spattered jeans will be the style of the day when LA VERNE COLLEGE holds its semiannual "Build La Verne" day on Wendesday.

Students, faculty, staff and administrators work to beautify the building and grounds of the campus. The first "Build La Verne" day was initiated by President Armen Sarafian in 1976. Results were so favorable the program has continued each semester since.

The first event of the day has traditionally become the forming of a "human chain" to sweep the entire campus from one end to the other. Following the campus sweep, workers break into teams to begin varius campus projects.

The Office of Continuing Education, CAL POLY POMONA, has scheduled the course "The Examined Life: An Introduction to Creative Journal Keeping" as a weekend offering.

Meeting times are scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 15, and Sunday Oct. 22, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Cal Poly library.

The course is a study on the use of journal keeping for personal growth based on the intensive journal method of Ira Progoff. It provides students with a flexible yet systematic way of examing their lives and of deepening their emotional, intellectual and spiritual experience.

Tuition fee is $47 for two units of university credit in English.

Registration and tuition will be accepted at the first meeting. For further information, persons may call 598-4391.

"Achievement Motivation: A Key to Management" is the subject of a seminar to be held at Kellogg West Center for Continuing Education at CAL POLY POMONA on Saturday.

The seminar will assess the motivational styles of participants and then provide planned learning experiences to increase their managerial effectiveness in a selective range of exercises and activities.

The seminar is scheduled from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., with registration at 8:30 a.m. The $38 fee includes lunch at Kellogg West, all instructional materials, parking and refreshment breaks. Persons may call 595-7511, ext. 272 for further information or to register.

Tom Hayden, journalist, author and teacher will make two appearances Thursday, one at POMONA COLLEGE at 11 a.m. in Bridges Hall of Music and at LA VERNE COLLEGE'S La Fetra Hall at 3 p.m.

Hayden is involved in a speaking tour across the U.S. His topic Thursday is "Making the Future Ours."

Both appearances are open to the public free of charge. In addition to his appearance in Bridges Hall, Hayden will be interviewed on the Pomona College radio station, KSPC, 88.7 FM, on Thursday beginning at 7 p.m. Listeners may call in questions for him throughout the show.

Hayden's involvement in politics and current events originated with the civil rights movement of the early 1960s. In 1967 Hayden served as intermediary in the first release of American POW's. He testified at the Pentagon Papers trial as an expert witness on negotiations that occurred during the Vietnam conflict.

Colin Jackson, British Parliament member, will speak Tuesday in LA VERNE COLLEGE'S President's Dining Room.

He will lecture on "The World in Crisis — A View From the House of Commons."

Jackson, a lecturer, writer and commentator on world affairs, has spent his last 20 years traversing the globe, speaking to a wide variety of audiences. Japan, India, South America, Europe, the Middle East, Britain and the U.S. are regular stopovers on his broad itinerary.

A graduate of St. John's College, Oxford, Jackson entered Parliment in 1964. He is chairman of the Government's Foreign Affairs Group. This is his 12th visit to the LVC campus. All interested persons are welcome to attend.

Civic Center lot expanded in Ontario

An additional 17 parking spaces will soon be added to the newly opened Ontario Civic Center.

These will be used by handicapped persons, county supervisors Joseph Kamansky and Robert Townsend, their staff members and visitors.

Initially, disabled veterans had sought parking spaces for the handicapped that would provide easier access to the veteran affairs office in the large complex.

An apparent planning oversight had made access to these offices by persons in wheelchairs quite difficult.

During discussions, Kamansky said building just four or five handicapped parking stalls was "uneconomical" and requested the additional spaces be provided for the supervisors.

This was opposed, however, by Ontario city planners since it would require removing a recently landscaped area in the Civic Center and reduce the amount of park area and landscaped open space.

But Kamansky's argument prevailed, with both the Ontario City Council and county Board of Supervisors approving a request for the additional parking spaces. The cost will be about $20,000.

PATRICIA A. KILLIANY, daughter of Mrs. Marion McCarty, 651 N. Casell Ave., Pomona, has been especially identified for early promotion to senior airman in the Air Force. She is an air traffic controller with a unit of the Air Force Communications Service at Altus AFB, Okla. She is a 1968 Ganesha High graduate.

Market activity

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks headed lower Tuesday in slow trading. Investors were disturbed by reports the Federal Reserve Board is expecting a large rise in the nation's money supply.

Also hindering the market was speculation that banks would raise their prime lending rate to 7¾ per cent, following last week's quarter-point jump to 7½ per cent. This could put a crimp in business expansion programs.

Investors were dismayed further that Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal said President Carter hasn't made up his mind "on any of the issues" that would be involved in his pending "tax reform" program.

As a result, the Dow Jones industrial average, which slipped 0.09 point Monday, was off 2.60 points to 837.66 shortly before noon EDT.

Declines led declines, 650 to 430, among the 1,595 issues crossing the tape. The 515 unchanged issues reflected considerable investor uncertainty about the course of the market.

New York Stock Exchange volume at the two-hour mark amounted to about 6,900,000 shares, up from the 4,570,000 traded during the comparable period Monday, the slowest session since Jan. 2, 1976.

Alcon Laboratories, a 2¾point winner the past two sessions, was the most active NYSE issue, up another ⅛ to 28¼. The firm last week revealed it has been contacted by several companies interested in a takeover. Citicorp was the second most active issue, off ¾ to 22⅞. PepsiCo was third, up ⅛ to 25⅞.

Blue-chip International Paper was off ⅜ after the firm reported third-quarter earnings of $1.33 a share, compared with $1.29 a year ago.

Prices were mixed in moderate trading of American Stock Exchange issues. Incoterm A stock was the most active issue, up ¼ to 15¾. Canadian International Power A stock was second, up ⅛ to 20⅜. Flagstaff was third, up ¼ to 5¼.

Gas company selling bonds

LOS ANGELES (BW) — Southern California Gas Co. filed an application with the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) for permission to issue and sell up to $50 million in first mortgage bonds.

Subject to CPUC approval, sale of the bonds by competitive bidding will take place on or about Oct. 11. A registration statement is scheduled to be filed with the Securities & Exchange Commission on Sept. 14.

Proceeds from the sale of $50 million in bonds will be used by the gas company for construction and development of its facilities and to meet sinking fund requirements.

Southern California Gas owns and operates distribution, transmission and underground storage facilities in Southern and Central California. It directly serves more than 13 million persons and supplies gas at wholesale rates to San Diego Gas & Electric Co. and the Long Beach municipal gas department.

Amtrak unveils expansion plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amtrak on Monday unveiled a five-year plan calling for purchase of new railroad passenger cars and locomotives and modernization of key stations and facilities at a cost of more than $4.5 billion.

It also proposed a complete restudy of Amtrak's national route system, the first major review since the government-subsidized rail passenger corporation was formed in 1971.

The package was submitted to the White House and Congress, both of which must give approval.

In the 177-page document, Amtrak projected a 28.8 per cent growth in passengers it will carry — from 18.6 million in 1976 to 26 million in 1982. In the same period, revenue is expected to increase from $287.5 million to $482 million.

New equipment to be purchased under the plan includes 353 new passenger cars, 15 diesel locomotives, 53 high-speed electric locomotives for use on the Northeast corridor between Boston and Washington and six electric switching locomotives for New York City rail yard operations. Improvements would be made to scores of existing units.

Amtrak also proposed to establish a mothball fleet of up to 200 cars and 30 locomotives for use in periods like the 1974 energy crisis when there was a sudden surge of passengers that taxed Amtrak facilities.

The plan examines the possibility of expanding routes and recommends an increase from three to six daily round trips between Chicago and Detroit and an increase from five to seven daily round trips between Los Angeles and San Diego.

It also considers added frequency on these currently operated routes: Los Angeles-San Francisco Bay area; Chicago-Memphis-Jackson, Miss., and Chicago-Fort Wayne, Canton, Ohio-Pittsburgh.

Of 24 possible new routes studied, Amtrak found six with a high potential for success: Atlanta-Montgomery-Mobile- New Orleans; Kansas City-Denver; Pittsburgh-Youngstown-Cleveland; Cincinnati-Dayton-Columbus, Ohio; Boston-Springfield, Mass.-New Haven; and Grand Forks, N.D.-Winnipeg, Alberta, Canada.

Under the plan, new stations would be built at Altoona, Pa.; Auburn, Wash; Baltimore-Washington International Airport, Md.; Buffalo, N.Y.; Charlottesville, Va.; Dearborn, Mich.; El Paso, Tex.; Hampton Roads, Va.; Jackson, Miss.; Memphis, Tenn.; Niagara Falls, N.Y.; San Antonio, Tex. and Tampa, Fla.

Improvements would be made to several other stations, and Amtrak is considering building suburban stations in Buffalo and Syracuse, N.Y.; Pittsburgh, Los Angeles and in an area east of Chicago.

When the boss doesn't retire at 65, it can cause problems

NEW YORK (AP) — When the cork stays in the bottle, which is to say when the boss stays beyond his expected retirement date, the dissatisfaction among ambitious managers below him spreads like a disease.

And now that mandatory retirement at age 65 is increasingly considered discriminatory, that disease might plague American corporations, causing them to lose some of their best managers and embittering others.

"Every time a chief executive leaves his position, 8 to 10 per cent of managers below typically receive changes in assignments as well as salary adjustments," Eugene Jennings, a management authority, points out.

"If the chief executive stays two years longer than the old mandatory retirement age, more managers who were just midly distirbed before are unhappy. At three years there's a management exodus."

Jennings, management professor at Michigan State University, has spent three decades studying the corporation. He has authored many books on the subject and is a confidential adviser to corporate chairmen and presidents.

"If the chief executive stays five years longer than the existing mandatory retirement age one can see the possibility of hundreds if not thousands of executives have their hopes dashed on the corporate wall," he said.

"In the 500 largest industrial corporations, for example, 35,000 managerial personnel would be reduced to the condition of uncertainty, leading possibly to unhappiness and dissatisfaction.'

The ripple effect of just one person declining to retire when expected is sometimes overlooked by those studying the impact of delayed retirements, Jennings feels. But that effect cannot be isolated, he observed.

In one corporation of 250,000 employes and 15,000 managers, he said, the retirement of the chief executive meant reassignments for more than 1,700 employes. Had the top man not left, many of those managers might have.

"Usually I have noted that among 100 candidates for president or chairman, 15 per cent will leave to make it elsewhere," regardless of retirement policy. "But when the chief executive stays on, another 10 per cent or so will leave," he said.

"This means that when the chief executive stays, the quit rate among eligibles is close to 25 per cent, depending on how long he stays," said Jennings, adding:

"As long as the candidates can expect the chief to retire they can deal with the problem of making it or not. But add the uncertainty about retirement and it becomes too much. They look elsewhere."

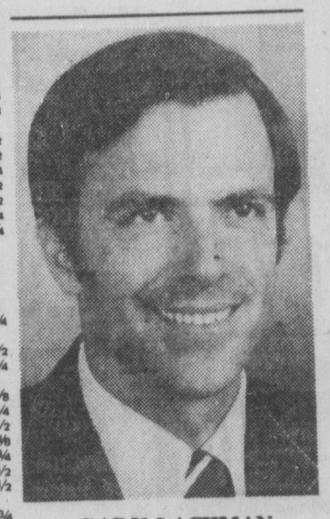
The problem for the individual in such cases is the possible loss of what they feel is life's biggest prize. Candidates for the top jobs are aware that the "window ages," where they are observed, is 45-50 for president, and 51-56 for chairman.

They understand, said Jennings, that they must get their faces in the window at these ages. And if the top man stays, they either pass the window and out of the picture, or they transfer while they have the time.

The stress and perhaps chaos in their lives is matched at the corporate level, where "in companies where the plug stays in an indeterminate time, the candidates left are relatively old or very young."

When the frustrated manager moves to another company, he sometimes does so only on the assurance that he can be a viable candidate. But if the top man there also stays on, "it might increase dissatisfaction with the whole system."

Recognizing that the problem is personal, societal, corporate and economic, and that defenses can be argued for both early and late retirements, Jennings made no attempt during the interview to defend one position or another.



GARY LACHMAN

Rain Bird appoints new V.P.

Gary Lachman has been named Vice President of Marketing for Rain Bird Sprinkler Manufacturing Corp. in Glendora.

In his new position, Lachman will be responsible for all domestic market planning, development sales for the firm's Agriculture, Turf and Consumer Products divisions.

"The U.S. irrigation equipment market is growing in size and complexity at an unprecedented rate," Lachman said, "and it is our intention to maintain a leadership position with increased emphasis on customer services, product development, and field strength."

Lachman lives in Glendora with his wife and two children.

Financial outlook conference at CMC

"The Two-Year Outlook for U.S. and World Financial Markets" is the theme of an all-day conference Thursday by the Applied Financial Economics Center (AFEC) of Claremont Men's College.

The conference, attended by California businessmen, bankers and financial executives, will focus on the practical problems of people who make financial decisions. The event will begin at 9 a.m. in Bauer Center.

Economists and political scientists from the AREC staff will lead discussions on politics, U.S. International economic policy, and exchange rate forecasting, and the center's forecast of economic and financial developments for the next two years. They include A. James Meigs, AFEC director who is on a year's leave of absence from college teaching to study the world's financial systems; John Rutledge, acting director of AFEC; Richard Sweeney, senior research associate of AFEC; Thomas Willett, Horton Professor of Economics; and Ward Elliott, associate professor of political science.

In addition, a group of visitors will lead discussions on particular problems of financial institutions. Phillip Zachary, president of the Community National Bank in Bakersfield will discuss financial futures markets; Lional Kalish III, associate professor of Cal State Fullerton, will discuss strategies for dynamic portfolio management; Donald Kaplan, director of the office of research of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, Washington, D.C., will report the results of research on alternative mortgage instruments; and Mark Riedy, vice president and chief economist of the Federal Home Loan Bank of San Francisco, will present the outlook for housing markets in 1978.

Committee to find Cal Poly president named

Formation of a Presidential Selection Advisory Committee for Cal Poly Pomona, was announced by Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke.

The committee will advise Dumke regarding candidates for the Pomona presidency prior to the chancellor presenting his recommendations to the board of trustees.

President Robert C. Kramer ended a 12-year Cal Poly career last summer to become agriculture program officer for the W.K. Kellogg Foundation in Michigan. Dr. Hugh O. LaBounty Jr. is serving as the campus' acting president.

The committee includes Norman Williamson Jr. of Claremont, community representative; David E. Cole of Glendora, chairman of the Cal Poly Faculty Senate and professor of agricultural business management; Dr. Ruth M. Harmer of Eagle Rock, professor of English and modern languages; Dr. Richard J. Hermsen of Claremont, chairman of the Electrical and Electronics Engineering Department, representing the Cal Poly faculty; Judy D. County suing state over elderly costs

San Bernardino County officials will seek court action to force the state to reimburse administrative costs for a program that provides housekeeping services for the elderly, disabled and blind.

Fred Thies, county welfare director, told county supervisors he believes the law requires the state to pay 25 per cent of all costs.

But since 1974, the county has had to pay $179,434 in administrative costs the state should have paid, he claimed. Several other counties, including Los Angeles and Orange, are seeking similar legal actions against the state, said Thies.

The housekeeping program, called In-Home Supportive Services, is financed by the state and federal governments.

While the state does pay its share of costs for most of the program, it does not reimburse the county for administrative costs in performing state-mandated eligibility determinations, need assessments and reasessments, he reported.

Should the legal action be successful, the county could save close to $60,000 during the current fiscal year, he noted.

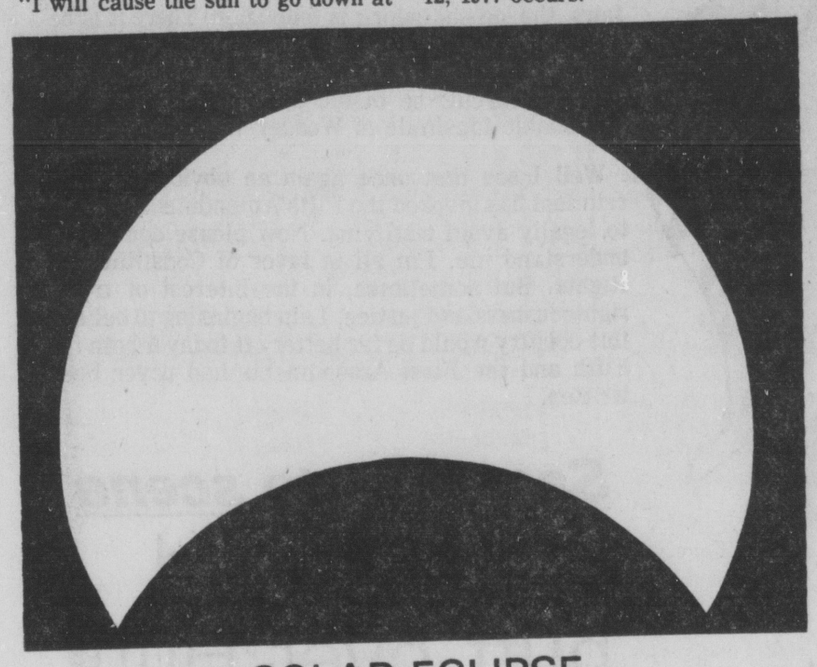
Eclipse will 'darken the Earth in the clear day'

By DAN NIEBRUGGE
PB Staff Writer

In the Bible's book of Amos, chapter eight, verse nine, it states, "I will cause the sun to go down at noon, and I will darken the Earth in the clear day."

So it will be on Wednesday in the valley when the solar eclipse of Oct. 12, 1977 occurs.



SOLAR ECLIPSE
Maximum phase 1:15 p.m.

Here, unfortunately, it won't be at noon and it won't be total. In fact, to see the eclipse at its best one would have to — as hundreds of scientists will — be sitting aboard a ship about 1,200 miles west of Colomubia, South America.

Locally, viewers will see a 47 per cent eclipse, reaching its greatest proportion about 1:15 p.m. Wednesday. From the valley angle, the sun will form a rather large crescent with the moon moving across and blotting out its lower half.

Though partial here, the total eclipse will be visible in a path across the Pacific Ocean west of Mexico, reaching the coast of Colombia shortly before sunset. Some U.S. astronomers are going to a site north of Bogota to be in the path of totality, which then extends into Venezuela, but with the sun extremely low in the sky.

Of course, one should take note of the usual reminders about eye care when looking into the sun. Physicist Robert Chambers of Pomona College notes the two safe ways to view the eclipse while also eclipsing the need for any expensive astronomical paraphernalia are the pinhole cardboard viewer and the folded and exposed (totally black) sheets of black and white picture film.

The pinhole simply requires two pieces of cardboard, one of which has been perforated in the center. With your back to the sun, hold the sheet with the hole up so the sunlight may pass through the hole and reflect on the other sheet. The image of the eclipse should be reflected.

Chambers said smoked glass works well provided the layer of carbon is good and thick and provides protection from the sun's more harmful elements.

The fascination man has for eclipses has not lapsed in the thousands of years since they first were witnessed. Aside from Biblical notations, they are also recorded among the ancient Greeks and Romans with Homer mentioning one in the Odyssey.

During eclipses, birds have been seen to go to roost, squirrels and woodchucks have prepared for sleep and, in the springtime, tree frogs have begun to croak.

Today, says Chambers, appreciation is just as great, though somewhat more sophisticated.

The last really major total eclipse in Kenya in 1973 drew scientists from throughout the world with no fewer than 300 individual experiments performed.

But all those scientists don't go out for the fun of it. Among studies surely to be considered Wednesday will be views of the sun's light spectrum

Hundreds of scientific tests done

in the corona to determine the kinds of gases in the sun, the amount of heat generated and the areas from which the heat comes.

"The sun is hotter in some areas than in others," says Chambers.

Also to be studied will be the sun's coronal region itself; the area where the matter burned by the sun is spewed out into space. These studies can have a significant impact on radio and radar communications, says Chambers.

Also to be conducted will be experiments in observing the positions of stars during the eclipse. This particular job will take six months, as scientists will view stars during the eclipse and six months from now to determine what impact the sun's gravity has on bending the light from far distant stars.

In performing such a study, says Chambers, it is important that one's equipment not be moved from the spot of the original sighting.

"Often that's more difficult than taking the measurements," he said.

The next total eclipse in North America will be Feb. 29, 1979 when the path of totality will sweep through Oregon, Washington and Idaho into Canada. It will be 30 years — 2007 — before the next total eclipse passes through the central part of the nation. In 2024, New York City will get a real blackout when the path of totality travels right down Broadway.

Caused by the moon simply passing between the earth and sun, eclipses occur at least twice a year and sometimes as often as five times a year, though they are not always total.

Wednesday's eclipse should begin at approximately 11:58 a.m. and conclude by 2:38 p.m. with its maximum phase about 1:15 p.m.

Hunting ban argued for Big Bear Valley

By BOB SWETNAM
PB Staff Writer

A proposal to ban the firing of shotguns in the resort area of Big Bear Valley because of danger and nuisance to residents was defeated on a split-vote by San Bernardino County supervisors Monday.

Hunters and wildlife lovers argued the pros and cons of the proposed ban that, if successful, would have stopped water-fowl hunting at the popular resort area.

Supervisors Robert Hammock of San Bernardino and Dennis Hansberger of Yucaipa refused to totally ban duck hunting at Big Bear, but indicated they will support a ban for most of the area next week.

For local hunters, it may mean going somewhere other than popular Big Bear Lake to shoot ducks.

The primary issue before the supervisors Monday was how much of the area should be put off-limits to hunters.

Population growth at Big Bear in recent years has changed the area from rural to urban, residents claimed.

Shotgun hunting, presently allowed in close proximity to homes, is incompatable with the wishes of the vast majority of residents, they said.

Supervisor James Mayfield, who represents the Big Bear residents, proposed completely banning the firing of shotguns — and thus hunting — from the 12-mile long, 2-mile wide valley.

He said sentiment was "90 per cent in favor" of completely outlawing the discharge of firearms in the area.

Firing of high-power rifles and other guns is already prohibited in most of the valley but shotgun use is presently unregulated by local ordinance.

Mayfield claimed risks and dangers of allowing continued duck hunting in the area were too great. He also said most residents were opposed to hunting in the area because of the noise nuisance caused by shotgun blasts.

He pleaded for supervisors to support his motion to outlaw shotgun firing in the valley, but received unqualified support from only one.

Supervisor Joseph Kamansky of Upland supported such a ban. He said residents should not be required to live with noise nuisances and accident dangers around them. "We should not have shotgun shooting in the urban areas of Big Bear Lake or any other areas where people live," he said.

In supporting a total shotgun ban, the two supervisors went against a proposal by the county fish and game commission which had earlier hammered out a compromise between hunters and officials from a wildlife group, the Organization of Wildlife Lovers (OWL).

Tony Linza of Chino, who chairs the commission, recommended supervisors only outlaw shotgun shooting on Big Bear Lake and the shore area surrounding it.

He opposed a total ban in the valley because he said there were no safety reasons to justify it. "There has never been a report of injuries related to shotgun discharges in Big Bear Valley," he said.

Linza said state laws might conflict with a total shotgun ban in the area. He said a similar case in Burbank had been deemed illegal by the state attorney general's office.

"I feel that to close the whole valley (to shotgun use) would be in conflict with the attorney general's opinion," he said.

A spokesman for the California Department of Fish and Game, Lt. Glen Moore, said he was "confused" over the proposed ban since it appeared to conflict with state law.

"We do not concur with the necessity of closing the entire lake to shotgun discharge," he said.

Most of the hunters testifying Monday agreed.

Dennis Riley, a hunter, said supervisors should consider setting aside special areas for duck hunters in the valley. "Why eliminate it (hunting) completely," he said.

Jim Hall, president of the Big Bear Valley Sportsmans Club — which has opposed the ordinance all along, said that there had never been any reported injuries from hunting at Big Bear and questioned why the entire area was considered for closure.

On the other hand, several supporters of the ban said hunting was dangerous and a nuisance.

"We live in a very narrow ecologically fragile valley," said John Joiner a Big Bear Valley resident. "Noise travels in that valley as if it were a drum."

Supervisors said they will make a final decision on the proposed ban next Monday at their regular meeting. If an urgency measure is adopted then, it would likely greatly affect the opening of duck hunting season, which starts in late October and runs till January.

Big Bear has traditionallly been one of the prime duck hunting locales in Southern California.

BATS OVER BASEBALL

Hundreds of baseball fans lined up Monday both here, at Ticketron's agency at the Montclair Plaza's Montgomery Ward store, and elsewhere throughout the Southland to purchase tickets to games of the 1977 World Series to be played at Dodger Stadium. Hundreds were turned away without tickets as the sellout was complete by noon.

Series mania leaves hundreds disappointed

Hundreds of valley baseball fans were among the many thousands disappointed Monday when tickets to the 1977 World Series were sold out by noon.

Among the most disappointed was Bill McGarry, part owner of the Guitar Store in Pomona, one of the valley's Mutual Ticket Agencies.

"It was like a madhouse in here all morning," said McGarry. "Nearly all the tickets went to Ticketron with Mutual getting only 200 tickets for all of its Los Angeles agencies."

McGarry said he wasn't able to reach the Mutual office downtown until 12:15 p.m. Monday and by then all the tickets were gone.

"I haven't even been able to go to a playoff game or a World Series game yet myself," said McGarry, "and that's supposed to be part of the benefits of having a ticket agency in your own store."

Aside from the throngs, the frustration and the constant ringing of the phone by persons asking about the possiblity of finding tickets, McGarry was unable to obtain tickets for any of the better than a hundred persons who showed up.

Fans were only slightly less disappointed at other outlets. Two Ticketron outlets at the Montclair Plaza in the Montgomery Ward and Broadway stores managed to sell about 125 tickets each, but ended up turning away over a thousand fans when tickets were sold out.

Store managers were forced to occupy themselves more with crowd control than store operation and also to hold up under the pressure of the dirty looks from unsatisfied fans.

One ticket agency worker requested that her name not be used in the paper because, "I made an awful lot of people unhappy today."

While Mutual received only 200 tickets to all three games next weekend at Dodger Starium, Ticketron was given about 5,000 tickets per game for the three Series contests in Los Angeles.

No tickets were to be sold at Dodger Stadium and all seats for Friday, Saturday and Sunday games will be reserved. Tickets were priced from $8 to $15.

Fair splits up record bet handle

By GEORGE MacLAREN
PB Staff Writer

The 1977 Los Angeles County Fair enjoyed its fourth highest attendance in history and horse bettors wagered an all-time record amount, but the fair isn't going to become rich from the proceeds, fair Secretary-Manager Phil D. Shepherd has stressed.

He explained that the $20,793,823 wagered by 191,723 bettors during the fair's 14-day meet will not go to the fair association, but is sliced up.

The state receives 5.25 percent and the bettors 84 percent. The fair takes the remainder and gives 52 percent to the horse owners.

The association will use its share, Shepherd said, to pay the racing payroll and maintain the track as well as improve the facilities, such as install new betting windows.

Shepherd saidthe huge handle indicates the state of the economy is improving.

As to the 1,249,010 visitors to the 50th fair, Shepherd explained that the city of Pomona will benefit from the 10 percent admission tax, 10 percent of the parking fees, and two cents per ride in the Fun Zone.

He noted the association pays for the services of the local police and fire departments as well as for city trash disposal.

"The police should be commended for their posture during the fair," Shepherd said.

Other than the usual routine matters, there was not a major disturbance at the fair this year.

Shepherd said the fair association uses all the money it gets for upkeep of the grounds and buildings and for new structures, such as the $600,000 all-steel horse barn used for the recent fair.

Shepherd said that he will be around for the 1978 fair, which will be his last.

He explained he will turn 65 in May, and the fair association's pension policy is geared to a person's retiring at 65.

"Oct. 15, 1978 will be my swan song," he said.

Shepherd will continue after retirement as a member of the fair board. He became secretary-manager in 1960, and has worked 17 fairs.

He has been active in the Western Fairs Association and the International Association of Fairs and Expositions.

Fundamental school discussed in Chino

Should a fundamental school be established in Chino?

The issue will be open for debate tonight when the Chino school board considers the proposed "basics" school for the year 1978-79.

Board members, who will meet at 7 p.m. in the district offices, 5130 Riverside Drive, are being asked for a decision on the controversial school. Supt. Duane Stiff indicates the issue has been discussed for a long time and should be resolved.

A parent attitude survey conducted in the 1975-76 school year showed 31 per cent of the parents favored the fundamental school concept.

Trustees said at that time, however, that they were in no hurry to form the separate school which emphasizes basic education (reading, writing and math), strict discipline, patriotism and a dress code.

Board members tonight also will consider approving guidelines for implementing a designated smoking area at Chino High School. The action would be a followup to the board meeting two weeks ago when trustees gave the go-ahead on a 3-2 vote to permitting the smoking area.

Chino Council supports bond

The Chino City Council has given its unanimous support for passage of a $3 million park bond issue next month.

The city is seeking approval of a $3 million bond issue to finance construction of five parks in Chino and acquire a 30-acre community park, lights for Don Lugo High School, 14 lighted tennis courts, and outdoor recreation facilities for senior citizens.

Should the bond issue pass, property taxes will increase 25 cents per $100 assessed valuation. The owner of a $50,000 home will pay $23 more per year.

City Council members recently signed the ballot argument for the bond issue. It states: "The construction of these (park) improvements will enable Chino residents to enjoy neighborhood recreation activities on supervised, well planned parks."

Back to school

The Alta Loma Junior High School annual "back-to-school" night will be held Thursday, Oct. 20.

Beginning at 7:30 p.m., the staff will welcome parents to the campus.

Prior to the program, the PTA and student government will sponsor a spaghetti dinner for the families and friends of the students. The spaghetti, from Vince's Spaghetti in Ontario, will be served from 6 to 7:30 p.m. The cost will be $1.50 and will include spaghetti, salad, garlic bread and a soft drink.

Liberty for some or all?

One of the major threats to religious liberty today is the complacency of the American people in the face of government encroachment. So says Andrew Leigh Gunn, executive director of Americans United for Separation of Church and State.

In a recent interview, he cited a number of ways the state — chiefly the federal government — is undermining that historic "wall" between it and the church(es): The National Labor Relations Board, for example, telling the Catholic Church it must bargain with teachers unions in parochial schools, or the channeling of federal funds through churches to build hospitals or retirement homes.

It's hard to dispel the complacency precisely because so much of the encroachment is for socially desirable ends. Now if federal agents were to physically invade a church as if it were some kind of speakeasy, the breach in the "wall" would be obvious for all to see.

The strange thing is that this actually happened last July, when FBI agents armed with sledgehammers, power saws and crowbars, swooped down on the Church of Scientology in Washington, D.C., and Los Angeles in search of documents allegedly stolen from extensive government files amassed during years of scrutiny of Scientology.

The warrant for the raid was later declared to b e improper by a federal judge and so vague as to be a violation of the Fourth Amendment's guarantee against unreasonable searches and seizures.

Back in 1963, the Church of Scientology in Washington had again been the target of federal intrusion when the Food and Drug Administration confiscated the church's "E-meters" — electronic devices used in counseling sessions — claiming they were being advertised for the treatment of diseases. The Scientologists eventually won this battle with government also.

Since it was founded in 1954, Scientology has gradually won recognition by numerous courts and government agencies, including the Internal Revenue Service, as a bonafide religion whose doctrines are based on a mixture of religious philosophies. Nondenominational and open to people of all faiths, Scientology currently claims membership of more than three million in this country.

It would seem that the FBI should have something better to do in 1977 than harass a religious organization whose danger to society — if any -- has never been demonstrated.

Felons under glass?

A new type of glass, which a number of penologists would like to see replace the traditional metal bars and screens of prisons, was demonstrated at a convention of the American Correctional Association in Milwuakee a few weeks ago.

The glass is a sandwich of four layers of glass and three of a plastic material, and so strong that its developer, Globe-Amerada Glass Co., confidently displayed a $1,000 check behind it which it offered to anyone who could get to it by breaking the glass with a baseball bat.

The glass, surrounded by a number of broken bats, was still intact at the end of the meeting.

Penal experts have long advocated getting away from the depressing "zoo" aspects of most prisons. Glass, noted one of them in Milwaukee, "is less threatening than bars, less brutal."

Already the supertough glass is being used in the psychiatric section of Walter Reed Army Medical Center in Washington and in the control center of Attica State Prison in New York.

As the poet said long ago, stone walls do not a prison make nor iron bars a cage. But if picture windows can have a beneficial psychological effect on imprisoned criminals, we're all for it.

Joyce Hifler

Think on these things

Someone once said that the secret of staying in love is never to show disillusionment — but is love so fragile? Or is it that we expect so much of it, believing that it should change our very lives. Those who love know it gives reason and purpose, but can we expect it to stand unprotected on its own?

We place such limits on it, make such demands with it, strain the very fiber of it, and complain bitterly when it doesn't stand the test. To be loved in spite of ourselves, to have the real me adored — not for looks or behavior or what one has to give in return, but just to be loved for some quality that even we cannot pinpoint — would be the pinnacle. The inner spirit seeks expression in many ways, but love is its utmost quality and deserves reverence and the most expert treatment.

World opinion on Canal

Dear Editor:

I read your very interesting article on public opinion as regards the Panama Canal Treaty. Public opinion, of course, meant foreign public opinion. United States public opinion being generally adverse can be ignored.

We haven't had much luck trying to buy world opinion. The rabble-rousers think we don't do enough. Generally we're well thought of, though considered slightly stupid. Our public debt attests for our efforts.

The Panamaniacs obviously consider the canal a gold mine. The Suez is a classic example of what can go wrong in such a deal. It is unlikely Panama could dredge too much from United States shippers. Competition of alternate routes would limit fees. As is, Uncle Sam is picking up 73 percent of the tab for subsidized shipping. South and Central American countries are hardly likely to rejoice in the greatly augmented charges.

If we are interested in retaining healthy world opinion, any decision should not be influenced by such factors as defensibility lest we be considered the paper tiger we are.

School meal program ignored

WASHINGTON — Across America, millions of children arrive at school in the mornings hungry. Yet the nation's underfed school children are entitled by law to government-subsidized breakfasts.

The absence of a wholesome morning meal, doctors warn, can have grave consequences for young children. Hungry youngsters simply cannot function in the classroom as effectively as those who get their nourishment. One seven-year-old summed up the problem with touching simplicity: "I get a headache that hurts when I don't eat in the morning."

Congress created a nationwide school breakfast program more than a decade ago. The implementation was left to the Agriculture Department, which is more devoted to the cause of agricultural empires than hungry children. The department's lackadaisical bureaucrats would rather pass out subsidies to farmers, therefore, than food to impoverished youngsters.

This attitude is exemplified by an Agriculture official who was questioned about the breakfast program during a legal proceeding. He was asked for a "reasonable" estimate of how long it would take to make breakfasts available to every school.

"I suppose," he said, "two generations ought to come close to reflecting the congressional intent." The flabbergasted attorney demanded: "Could it be done any faster than, say, 50 years from now?" Replied the bureaucrat: "I don't know. I can't comment on that. I don't know."

Thus 11 years after the Agriculture Department was supposed to start providing school children with subsidized breakfasts, only 18 percent of the nation's schools now offer a breakfast program.

The effects of morning hunger are familiar to teachers throughout the country: listless, apathetic children who don't pay attention, who sometimes fall asleep at their desks, who complain about headaches, dizziness and stomachaches.

Parents and teachers alike have tried to disentangle the feeding of children from the bureaucratic snarl. But the plight of hungry children has received little attention in the Agriculture Department. Now the Food Research and Action Center (FRAC), dedicated to waging war against hunger, is taking the issue to court.

The group is preparing a huge, class-action lawsuit against the Agriculture Department for neglecting the breakfast programs. The evidence has already been extracted from officials in sworn depositions. We have examined some of the findings, which have been held back from the press. Here are the startling highlights:

— Some 14 million children in the United States are eligible for breakfasts free of charge or at reduced prices. Yet the breakfasts were available only to a scant 5 percent of these needy children in 1971, less than 10 percent in 1972. At the present rate, it would take 46 years to provide breakfast to every impoverished child. Yet Agriculture officials swore this wasn't an unreasonable timetable.

— The Agriculture Department hasn't yet established uniform standards for determining which schools are eligible for the subsidized breakfasts. Some states, therefore, have decided all their nonparticipating schools are eligible, while others insist that none of their schools need the program. Incredibly, Phillips Exeter Academy, one of the nation's wealthiest private schools, offers the government breakfasts. Yet Mississippi has no breakfast program for 236 schools, which have a 90 percent eligibility average.

— Because the program was still failing to meet its objectives in 1971, Congress decided to require every state to submit a plan detailing its intentions. The purpose was to make sure the states made the necessary preparations before any federal funds were released for child nutrition. Yet Agriculture officials have approved state plans that are wholly inadequate. Of 330 plans approved between 1972 and 1977, only 24 contained lists of school districts that intended to offer breakfasts to more poor children.

— The indifferent, uninspired folks at the Agriculture Department have regarded the breakfast program as such routine drudgery that they haven't bothered to withhold funds from states for submitting poor plans. Nor has any action been taken against a state for failing to achieve the objectives of previous plans. Some plans have been approved, in fact, even though they stated outright that the program would not be expanded.

— The failure of states to expand the program to cover thousands of low-income children prodded Congress into action. The breakfast program, lawmakers decided, must be offered in all schools whose student bodies contain 25 percent low-income children. Agriculture officials, however, have ignored this congressional mandate and have refused to require the states to comply.

These officials have helped make America the best-fed nation in history. Despite spreading drought, farmers are harvesting record crops. Yet in the swelling slums of America, children still endure the gnawing pains of hunger. They are the anonymous children of parents who are often too poor to afford even the government stamps to buy cut-price food.

So the children exist on a diet of starches and water. They sit in creaking houses, with empty stomachs and dull eyes — hungry children in the midst of plenty, ignored by Agriculture officials engrossed in the struggle to reduce the bulging farm surpluses at the same time that they seek to make farmland more productive.

We can take pride in Mr. Carter

(Editor's Note: The following editorial is reprinted from the Temple Daily Telegram, Temple, Tex.)

Those who witnessed President Carter's press conference when he announced the resignation of his friend and budget director Bert Lance, can take pride in the behavior of the President in the face of — we regret to say — a vengeful and suspicious Washington press corps.

The President was cool, articulate and sincere in fielding questions both sincere and hypothetical. There was no question but that he was deeply distressed by the turn of events which had taken away from his Administration one of its strongest members — a man who was doing a good job. But the President's personal feelings and emotions were controlled as he answered with simplicity and honesty the barrage of questions thrown at him. His full stature came shining through.

When asked if he thought the Bert Lance resignation would hurt him, he forthrightly admitted, "Probably so, to some extent." Without saying so he tacitly admitted that he had made a mistake in appointing Lance in view of the turn of events.

But it was obvious that his faith in Bert Lance has not been shaken by the false charges and innuendoes thrown at Lance, that his friendship for Lance remains intact and that nothing has taken place of record which would have forced Carter to ask for Lance's resignation.

On the other hand, he accepted the Lance resignation as the logical development in view of all the turmoil and at a time when he is burdened with many problems and he needs all the help he can get, without any extra baggage to bear.

The Washington press corps, in its traditional manner of sniping at politicians with loaded questions, twisting answers, and a kick-em-when-they're-down attitude, was more than willing to join forces with Lance's opposition to cast shadows of doubt over Lance in complicated banking matters which few of us can begin to understand.

The press has been punishing Bert Lance for weeks not for what he may or may not have done but for the high principles which the President enunciated during his campaign.

Still, the Washington press corps' role in the "Lance Affair" has been guided more by vindictiveness than by objectivity and the people's right to know. The press has shown itself to be — just like Lance — less than faultless

All in all, and in contrast to some pundits who came on the air after the speech, it is our opinion that President Carter was not hurt by Lance's resignation to any appreciable extent except in the loss of a very valued public servant who had been skillfully carrying on his job.

This press conference, more than any other, gave the public a true look at the inner man who is Mr. Carter, our President. One cannot help but be heartened by his courage, his honesty and his forthright answers, or fail to wish him every success in trying to carry out the duties of his office. His is a job which is bigger than almost any mortal can handle, and it is refreshing to have a man of honesty and integrity capable of adjusting to events in these times of national crisis.

Hopefully, with the support of the people and the good intentions of our elected representatives, these will be resolved without disaster or any mishap to our great nation.

Just in jest

Today, if a gal expects to really go places and do things, just being a liberated woman isn't enough. And if she is looking for something on which to place the blame for this unfortunate state of affairs, the logical culprit is television. There it is being demonstrated day after day that to be a real winner, a woman must have a Farrah Fawcett-Majors haircut, be bionic and, in addition, be a reasonable facsimile of Wonder Woman.

Well I see that once again an obviously guilty criminal has invoked the Fifth Amendment in order to legally avoid testifying. Now please don't misunderstand me. I'm all in favor of Constitutional Rights. But sometimes, in the interest of truth, righteousness and justice, I am beginning to believe this country would be far better off today if both the Fifth and the First Amendments had never been written.

Tax board huff over Huff

By EARL G. WATERS

Whether or not the Franchise Tax Board acts upon the new-found authority provided in an opinion of the legislative counsel to dismiss its executive officer, Martin Huff, the ruling is bound to set the stage for future turmoil in the agency as long as he remains.

Huff's post has been regarded as unique in that, although he is an appointee of the three-member board, the law says he can only be removed by a two-thirds vote of the Senate.

The board itself is unique in that its three members serve ex officio and have full-time responsibilities in other state agencies. Because of that, Huff, under previous memberships, was permitted to administer board affairs unbridled, the members being too busy with other matters to bother supervising him.

The result was that Huff grew to be somewhat of a martinet, ruling the agency with an iron hand and making unilateral policy and personnel decisions without consulting the board and often without its knowledge.

With the turnover of members after the 1974 elections, the new board, seeking to exercise its legally assigned responsibilities for administering the tax laws, encountered difficulties finding out what Huff was doing and, according to at least two of the members, refusals to obey instructions tantamount to insubordination.

Furthermore, Huff, a politician himself who got the job as a reward for being a campaign finance chairman for former Gov. Pat Brown, has been successful in persuading some segments of the press that he stands singlehandedly defending the tax records from political tampering by the board members.

The fact is that Huff, according to the law, has no duties and no powers excepting those delegated to him by the board. His open defiance of the present board can only be attributed to the sense of security he believes he has under the provisions for his removal.

Now, the legislative counsel's opinion that the provision violates the separation of powers provisions of the state's constitution may have cut the rug out from under Huff.

The opinion notes that the California courts have not ruled on the question but cites a parallel case decided by the U.S. Supreme Court which held unconstitutional the removal of an appointee of the president being subject to the consent of the Senate.

In case that causes wonder as to the validity of the requirements for confirmation of appointees by the Senate, the opinion notes that is a practice of long standing and has been recognized by the courts.

In any event, even had the law not been held unconstitutional, such a provision violates all the principles of good management and supervision.

How can a board supervise and control a subordinate employee without the power to discipline and even terminate such employee? That, of course, is what the fuss has been all about.

If the Legislature doesn't feel that the tax laws can be properly administered by the present board, it should change the makeup of the board by altering its composition. Actually, it doesn't seem a bad structure, having two constitutional officers, elected independently, and an appointee of the governor serving as members.

What will happen next is anybody's guess. The board could, on the advice of the opinion, fire Huff, leaving him to take the issue to court. Or, in view of the opinion, Huff may now decide to be a good boy and follow orders.

Ann Landers

Housewife termed parasite

Dear Ann Landers: This is for that nutty housewife in Dallas who wrote to say how hard she works just "raising a family." The truth is that the American housewife is a glorified parasite. She does nothing but amuse herself 95 percent of the time.

I wonder if you know how many hours the "average home-bound slave" spends looking at TV, yakking on the telephone, kaffee-klatching with neighbors and reading trashy magazines.

It takes only a minute to change a diaper. The cooking can't require more than half an hour for supper. Most husbands don't come home for lunch any more. Laundry takes about an hour a week — and the machines do the work. So they clean the house (maybe) and wash a floor or two. This uses up an hour at the most. Big deal.

The real heroines are the women who run the house and hold down an eight-hour job besides. I have a lot of respect for them. They also seem to have independent, well-behaved kids who know how to do things for themselves. What's more, their husbands do less running around and their marriages seem to be working.

So let's hear it for the little lady who can run a home and help her overworked husband pay the bills, which are staggering these days. Thumbs down on the lazy complainers who call themselves "homemakers" when in reality they are "freeloaders." — Seen It All

Dear Seen It: Since your mind is not only closed but nailed shut, I wouldn't attempt to point out the foolishness of some of your statements. You make no distinction between the woman who has a single child and the one who has six — and when you say cleaning the house and washing a floor or two takes an hour at the most — oh, well, what's the use?

'I've let you have your say because this column represents everybody's point of view, but since it's MY column, I reserve the right to have the last word. And my word to you is BULLFEATHERS, Mister.

Dear Ann Landers: You are probably sick of letters about toilet paper by this time but I hope you will pring one more. It should put an end to the hassling once and for all.

My husband works for a paper company. They sell the best known brand of toilet paper in the country. (I won't name it because I know you won't print it.(When he reads all those letters from people who were explaining the "proper" way to put the roll in the dispenser, he laughed and said, "The correct way is so obvious I don't know how people can miss it." Then he pointed out that the fancier toilet tissue is embossed with designs and color. It is made so the paper comes over the top and rolls down on the outside — not to the wall. If placed the other way, the design would not show. It would be the same as hanging your printed draperies with the pattern to the window and the lining on the outside. NOW do you understand? — Sign Me Right Side Up

Dear Right: Gotcha. And this is the last letter I am printing on the subject, so if anyone has anything more to say — tell it to somebody else.

It's not always easy to recognize love, especially the first time around. Acquaint yourself with the guidelines. Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Love or Sex and How to Tell the Difference." Dr. Miller

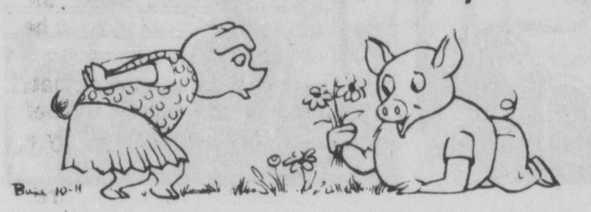
Porkie unable to have family



DEAR DR. MILLER: Dad bought Porkie and Bess to raise for bacon but Sis and I are trying to get him to let us keep them as pets. We couldn't eat them now anyway. He says he will keep them to raise pigs if Porkie could be repaired and used for breeding. The trouble is Porkie was castrated when he was younger. Is there such a thing as transplants for a male pig? — V.T.

DEAR V.T.: Unfortunately for Porkie (and Bess), porcine testicular transplants aren't available.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Our last cat died because his bladder got blocked up with sand and he couldn't urinate. Tommy Tompkings, here, is his replacement. Tommy has had all of his shots. He gets good food. He just had a check-up and he seems in perfect health. We know that bladder blockage happens often in male cats.

We would like to know what we can do besides just good care to keep Tommy Tompkins from getting the same thing? — E.A.

DEAR E.A.: The feline blocked bladder-uremia syndrome is indeed a major cause of death in adult male cats. Perhaps the single most important factor is avoiding the problem is a high daily fluid intake — the heavy drinker is rarely a victim. A cat kept in is less likely to be exposed to a virus which is apparently a causative factor in at least some of these bladder cases. That "in" cat, however, should have some system for exercise since muscle tone and a trim figure also aid in reducing susceptibility to FUS (the blocked bladder syndrome).

FLASH TO FLEA FIGHTERS

In your flea-fighting frustration — and for some feline and canine owners it can be a long tough battle — never use a flea collar in combination with any other anti-flea product.

Using a flea collar along with a powder or spray may cause the elimination of pets as well as pests. There is enough undesirable poison in any single (effective) flea-fighting preparation. All of them are intended to be used alone. There is, however, one exception to this. Aromatic cedar shaving dog beds are safe to use in conjunction with a flea collar (OR) flea powder, and those cedar mats are repelling, revolting and repugnant to most fleas.

Astrographs

By Bernice Bede Osol
For Wednesday, Oct. 12, 1977
Your Birthday, Oct. 12, 1977

You have everything going for you this coming year, so long as you take things calmly and in stride. Trim your sails. Wait if the wind is down momentarily.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Initiative, knowledge, charm and wit are your assets today. The only one who can trip you up is yourself, by being too glib. Find out more about yourself by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Use your intuition today! You're very gifted in this respect. But work from behind the scenes to avoid the risk of others not understanding.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Get involved with large organizations today. You'll be a welcome addition in all respects except those which deal with handling their assets.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A good day to inject some new element into your career. It can be great or small, but it won't be effective unless you do it solo.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Have faith in the knowledge and powers you already possess. If you try to delve too deeply into the whys and wherefores, you'll nullify potential gains.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) As the power behind the throne, you have few peers today. If you tip your hand and try to take the bows, however, you'll blow everything.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Cooperative efforts are favored today. You'll be able to achieve meetings of the mind not possible before. On the homefront, tread softly.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You can formulate new methods today to assist you. This is especially true in handicrafts, even if they're only a hobby.

GEMINI (May 21-June 30) An excellent day for a new contact, be it romantic, social or in the realm of friendship. Avoid, however, trying to impress with real or pretended affluence.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) New harmony in the home today. Your contribution is to act unselfishly and without reservation.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Ignore doubts that might surface today. Have faith in your ability. Take the initiative. Others will recognize your leadership qualities.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Forget trying to please everyone. Restrict yourself to dealing on a one-to-one basis today. Financial gains will accrue from eyeball negotiations.

Raising teenagers no picnic

It was either the Pope . . . or maybe one of the Hollywood Squares . . . who said that raising teen-agers is the happiest part of your married life.

I don't know how rumors like that get started.

If I were any happier, they'd take away my blunt scissors and the water glass in my bathroom before I hurt myself.

At a gathering of the neighbors a few weeks ago, Lillian said, "You are all so lucky to have teen-agers who drive. I can hardly wait. You have no idea how much of my time I spend running the kids around in the car."

No one said anything, but I caught a glimpse of Helen, whose daughter had put up two broomsticks in front of the house to practice parallel parking and was cited for speeding — in reverse.

There was Midge, whose son pulled their station wagon into the garage, left it in neutral, closed the garage door and couldn't get the door open again when it rolled back into the lock.

There was Barbara, whose teenager had 17 temporary permits and on his last try when he ran over the curb and the inspector's foot asked, "Does this mean I don't get my license?"

Lillian prattled on. "You don't know how I envy all of you with teen-agers who eat well. My children are so finicky they won't eat anything."

I looked at Maxine as she wistfully remembered getting a court order to remove her son, "Jaws," from in front of the refrigerator where he had not moved in three months.

I thought I saw Reba wince as she recalled the time she had us over for bridge and her son had eaten two pounds of assorted mints, three pounds of cashews, a three-quart tuna casserole and four straw coasters shaped like strawberries.

"Well, only a few more years," Lillian chirped, "and I won't need a babysitter. I'll be like the rest of you and have one who lives in."

I smiled wanly remembering last New Year's Eve when my daughter met me at the door with her hand computer and said stiffly, "No personal checks, please."

"I think raising teenagers must be the happiest part of your married life," said Lillian.

Our heads jerked up. I got Lillian out of there quickly . . . for her own safety.

Dr. Lamb

Alcohol is poor tranquilizer

DEAR DR. LAMB — I just read your column about the lady who likes to smoke and I have some additional comments that I feel from deep inside my conscience.

After smoking since I was 12 years old I've grown increasingly dependent on my vice. I also resent the comments made by people that it's a nasty habit and offends people socially. But may I ask why everyone makes such a big deal of smoking and completely ignores those who drink themselves into a stupor every night because they want to relax?

I feel resentful toward people when they drink and become different from the persons they really are! They become obnoxious, mouthy and care less about anyone's feelings and there are those who suddenly become quiet and are about as much company as a brick wall.

They drive and cause many accidents that in many cases involve innocent people and inconvenience people by "passing out" and having to be carried out. Thanks, but if there's a choice, I'll take smoking. It's much less hazardous.

DEAR READER — Funny, but I had an idea that you may have had someone close to you in mind when you were complaining about the effects of drinking on the personality.

There is no reason why you need to choose between two bad habits. I don't recommend drinking instead of smoking and I don't recommend smoking instead of drinking. My advice is don't do either.

Alcoholism is a severe problem. Did you know cirrhosis of the liver is the fourth common cause of death in American men between the ages of 35 and 54 and that 60 per cent of these liver deaths are caused by alcoholism? It's true. It is just another example of how people affect their own health, as opposed to depending upon the doctor to provide life and health everlasting regardless of what they do.

No, I am not going to endorse your bad habit but I will say that drinking irresponsibly is also hazardous to your health. I would concur that a warning label should be on every beverage containing alcohol. It is a poison. It does destroy health, personality and families.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-4, Alcohol, Whiskey, Gin, Vodka, Rum, Wine, Beer. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. It will give you a lot more information on how alcohol is hazardous to your health. You might be wise to share its content with some of those in your life who use too much alcohol.

There are a lot of people who both drink to excess and smoke. The combination is like playing Russian roulette with two chambers of the revolver instead of just one.

Incidentally it is not true that alcohol relaxes a person. It may be a social lubricant for some people but it is a depressant or an anesthetic. The person may not feel his anxiety or tension but he has not relieved it with alcohol. He has only numbed his senses. It is not a good tranquilizer. A much better and more healthy tranquilizer is exercise. A good walk, a swim, or participation in some sport you enjoy is much more relaxing and much better for a person's health. A wife can help in this area by planning family activities at the end of the day that provides healthy exercise.

Dr. Lamb answers representative letters of general interest in his column. Write to him in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Q. "Louie, what did your Language man do for a living before he started teaching you what words meant?"

A. Once, he was a football cheerleader, but was dismissed after his first yell, which began: "Impede them! Impede them! Throw obstacles in their path!" Then he hired out as a power company worker, but quit when a linemen dropped a ladleful of molten solder down the back of his neck, prompting him to say, "Shame on you, Roger. That was naughty." Later, he tried ringside broadcasting at prizefights. He described the bruised chin of a glass-jawed boxer as "a heliotrope contusion on that crystalline mandible." He wasn't rehired. No, nevermind, I made it all up. Our Language man has been a professional bookworm, that's all, right from the outset.

CANVAS PANTS

He was a seller of canvas. He peddled rolls of same to miners for their tents. One of those miners happened to complain mightily to him that no pants on the market could stand up to the rough wear in the diggings. So that seller of canvas, Mr. Levi Strauss, had a tailor friend cut out a pair of pants from the tenting material. And now, as the promoter says, just about everybody in the world knows Mr. Strauss's first name.

Opening lead — K♥

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

Here is a problem hand composed by Eddy Kantar, one of our greatest players. Try to avoid looking at the East-West hands until you have planned your entire play starting a trick four.

West starts out by playing ace-king and a third heart. You win in your own hand and must plan the play.

You start by assuming that West will hold both black kings. He really needs them to have an opening bid. Maybe this doesn't worry you and it won't unless it turns out that West holds three trumps and just one diamond. Can you guard against that unpleasant possibility?

You can, but it requires considerable care. You start by cashing your ace of clubs and ruffing the jack.

Now if you stop thinking and just lead dummy's jack of spades the hand will collapse. West will take his king and lead a diamond. You won't be able to shut out his 10 of trumps.

So you cash one high diamond before leading that jack of spades and nothing can touch you.

Ask the Jacobys

A Texas reader wants to know what happens when the contract is three hearts. Declarer makes nine tricks but is entitled to two more because of the revoke. Does he make game?

We have answered this question several times before. Penalty tricks only count below the line if they help declarer make his contract. Otherwise, they are simply scored as overtricks. Thus, this declarer gets 60 points above the line.

Porcupines are small animals noted for their armor of sharp quills, which are very stiff hairs.

The belief that the porcupine shoots its quills at enemies by a swish of its tail isn't true.

When danger threatens, the porcupine turns its back to the danger, bristles its quills, and defends itself by striking the attacker with its well-armed tail, which can plant a dozen or more needle-sharp quills in the attacker's nose. The quills make painful wounds, and are very difficult to pull out because they have hooked ends.

Left alone, the porcupine goes about its own peaceful way, often spending part of the day asleep in a hollow long or rocky den.

American porcupines are good tree climbers. They feed on tender buds and inner bark of trees.

A fully grown porcupine can be three feet long and weigh 20 pounds. Its yellowish quills may be several inches long.

PEANUTS

What's going on around here

Childbirth classes begin

A class in Preparation for Parenthood will start Wednesday at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

The six classes will meet each Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. in room 8 at the hospital.

Instructors will be Kathy Hotchison and Marie Earle. There is a $2 fee to cover cost of class materials.

The class, open to all expectant parents, covers nutrition and care of the newborn, prenatal and postnatal care of the mother and other information related to childbirth.

Reservations for the class may be made by calling the Pomona Red Cross, 622-9930.

Valley Vaqueros meet

The Valley Vaqueros 4-H Club of Claremont will hold its first meeting this year Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Condit School.

Memberships will be received. The club offers a vareity of projects, including horses, leathercraft and photography.

For more information, persons may phone Jim Rogers at 628-3125 or Pam Pawley, 626-8134.

Aide courses

The Pomona Adult School is taking registrations for courses required for nurse aide certificates.

Classes will involve social and psychological problems of patients.

The program starts Friday, with classes offered at the Education Center from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and at the Pomona Valley Community Hospital, 7 to 9:30 p.m.

Persons may register between 8:30 and 4:15 p.m., Monday through Friday, and also 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

Blood Needed

Four valley organizations are responding jointly to urgent appeals for healthy blood by the American Red Cross.

Participating with the Red Cross Bloodmobile in the blood drive slated for Foothill Presbyterian Hospital on Friday from 2 to 6:30 p.m. are the Glendora Rotary and Lions clubs, Glenkirk Presbyterian Church and Foothill Hospital.

Local residents are urged to participate also to ensure that an adequate supply of blood is available at all times for seriously ill patients.

Reservations are helpful to avoid delays. Persons may call Foothill Presbyterian Hospital, (213) 963-8411, ext. 111, for an appointment.

Pomona Red Cross will sponsor a multi-media first aid course on Saturday from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Chapter House, 420 N. Reservoir St., Pomona.

The $6 fee covers books and workbooks.

Enrollment is limited and reservations for the class should be made by calling Diane Turner at the Red Cross, 622-1348.

Cub Olympics

The Old Baldy Council will hold its annual Cub Olympics at Chaffey High School Saturday at 9 a.m.

The event will again be hosted by Boy Scout Troop 301, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Ontario.

Stewart Perkins, scoutmaster, will be assisted by his committee. The mother's auxiliary will handle the refreshment stand. There will be a pre-opening ceremony and a closing ceremony for all boys participating.

Over 300 boys, between 7 and 10 years old, will take part in events such as 50-year dash, standing long jump, running long jump, 100-yard dash, 660-yard walk and softball throw.

School dance

Chamber Singers, a musical group at Alta Loma High School, will sponsor a dance on Saturday in the gym.

Papa Doo Run Run will play for dancing between 8 and 11:30 p.m.

The dance is being sponsored by Chamber Singers to raise money for their spring concert trip to Hawaii.

Pre-sale tickets cost $2 with ASB card and $2.50 without. Tickets at the door will cost $3.

Language survey

The Bonita Unified School District during October will send home survey forms for all students which is in compliance with the state-mandated language census.

Parents are asked to answer four simple questions regarding the language spoken by their children and return the form to the schools as soon as received.

This is a preliminary step to testing those students who indicate they speak a language other than English as a primary language. Further testing will be given to those students who are non or limited-English speaking.

The new law requires documentation that the district has made an effort to obtain a response for each student. District personnel are seeking the cooperation of all parents in this survey to complete the form for each student.

Garage sale

The Diamond Bar Lion's Club and the Diamond Bar Little League will host a garage sale Oct. 16.

Sellers should arrive at the Little League field at the west end of Sunset Crossing Road in Diamond Bar between 6:30 and 8 a.m. to obtain sale locations. Sellers will be charged $1.50 per space and buyers will be charged 50 cents each, with children under 12 free.

There will be a refreshment stand, picnic areas and a playground for children.

Money raised by the sale will be used for the Little League and other charities in the community.

Further information regarding selling spots may be obtained by calling 593-2581 or 595-1134.

CAL POLY WINNER — Daphne Dickenson and Andra Corrothers, both students at Cal Poly Pomona, pose with the Reserve Champion Rambouillet Ram at the Los Angeles County Fair which closed last week. The school entered the animal in college group competition.

Dairy cattle fair winners announced

The Los Angeles County Fair has announced the winners of the Future Farmers of America Dairy Cattle competition held recently. Local winners are:

— Becky Meidinger of Chino who won a blue ribbon for her Holstein grade senior calf.

— George Pindell of Chino who won a second place ribbon for his Holstein grade junior yearling female.

— Marie Nagano of Pomona who was awarded a first place ribbon for her junior yearling female grade Holstein.

GD denies discriminating against the handicapped

A General Dynamics Pomona spokesman has stressed that his firm does not discriminate against qualified handicapped job applicants.

"As a matter of fact," he said in a released statement, "the company employs a large number of physically handicappped persons."

The statement was in reply to allegations by the U.S. Department of Labor that the Pomona firm has failed to provide equal job opporutnities for qualified handicapped workers.

According to an administrative complaint received by the firm, a man was refused a job as a technical illustrator in March 1976 at the Pomona plant.

The company claimed that his previous back injury would be aggravated by the stress of working over a desk.

The company, according to the Labor Department, also refused the man employment on the grounds that he would increase risks of liability.

The Labor Department's investigation, however, indicates that the job did not require proionge periods of sitting or standing which might aggravate his condition.

The individual is now employed as a technical illustrator with another company and only seeks back pay for his nine-month period of unemployment.

General Dynamics has 20 days from the receipt of the complaint to request a hearing before a Labor Department administrative law judge.

If it is found in violation, the firm's present contracts may be terminated and it could be debarred from future government contract work.

The complaint said that General Dynamics has more than $38.4 million in contracts with the government.

The spokesman said that is is the company's policy and that of its division's and subsidaries to hire qualified persons regardless of age, sex, race, color, creed, national origin and regardless of whether or not they are handicapped.

"Prospective employees are evaluated on the basis of their qualifications and their ability to perform safely the job for which they are being considered," the spokesman said.

"General Dynamics," he continued, "believes that it is not only our responsibility under the law to make employment opportunities available on a non-discriminatory basis to capable people, but that it is good business to do so."

"We have been a leader in efforts to develop and implement voluntary affirmative action plans for the handicapped and each of our divisions and subsidiaries has such a plan," he concluded.

Immunization clinic slated on Wednesday

The Pomona Health Center, 750 S. Park Ave., Pomona, will conduct an immunization clinic Wednesday from 5 to 7 p.m.

This is in addition to the immunization clinics held Monday, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 8 to 9 a.m. and Monday through Friday from 3 to 4 p.m.

Free immunizations against measles, rubella, polio, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough are available.

All children must be accompanied by an adult or legal guardian. Parents should bring immunization records for checking by the staff to determine which shots are needed.

Additional information may be obtained by calling 623-6811, ext. 528.

Supt. Stork will resign Alta Loma post in June

Alta Loma schools Supt. Floyd Stork has officially submitted his resignation to the school board, effective June 30.

Stork has previously announced that he would resign at the end of his current four-year contract.

The 55-year-old schools chief who has served in his pressent post for the past 24 years says he is not retiring. "I've decided that being in my job for 24 years is enough."

Stork noted that he wants to remain in some educational field, but at this point has not made a decision on exactly what he will do.

He is submitting his resignation a year in advance to give the school board time to pick his successor. He had previously told the board he would not accept another contract when his presnet one runs out.

Stork was first hired as a teacher in the district in 1950. He became principal-superintendent in 1953 and full-time superintendent in 1964.

Italian 'brothers' go at it tonight

Will Grimsley
Associated Press
Special Correspondent

NEW YORK (AP) — "We're like brothers," said Tom Lasorda, manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"The best of pals," agreed Billy Martin, manager of the New York Yankees.

"But if I was starving in the desert and I found a plate of spaghetti — and I love spaghetti — I'd rather beat his butt this week," said Lasorda.

"That's a two-way street," Martin confirmed.

The two bosom buddies will become arch-rivals for anywhere from four to seven games beginning tonight when Lasorda's Dodgers and Martin's Yankees clash in the World Series.

Before the skirmishing began, however, the rival managers found time to sit down for some friendly libation Monday evening.

After going through the formality of a pre-Series meeting in the mid-town Manhattan office of baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, Martin and Lasorda adjourned downstairs to have a few drinks and relive a few memories while startled onlookers gaped at them.

"It's Columbus Day and us Italians have to stick together," said Martin, born Alfred Manuel Pesano.

Ironically, the Martin-Lasorda friendship began with a near-fight in 1956 during a game between the Yankees and the Kansas City A's.

"Tom Sturdivant had us beat 5-0," Lasorda recalled. "In those days, when the Yankees walked out on the field our team just stared in awe. Our manager, Lou Boudreau, was pacing back and forth in the dugout.

"He said, 'You guys are afraid of the Yankees.' I grabbed him," continued Lasorda, who pitched in the Dodgers' chain for 11 years, "and I told him, 'In the organization I came from we're not afraid of anybody.'

"So he sent me to the bullpen to warm up and I came in the game in the eighth inning. Joe Collins was the first batter and I threw two pitches behind him. Sturdivant was next and I threw behind him. Billy was the third batter and he moved up in the box to hit my curve — I had a pretty good curve ball — and I said, 'Don't you do that.' Then I struck him out.

"In the ninth, Hank Bauer was the first batter and I threw two pitches behind him. Billy was really getting on me from their dugout and I said, 'Come on out and fight.'"

Martin, a ready scrapper, didn't need much coaxing.

"Bauer said, 'Why don't you go out and get him,'" he recalled, "and I said, 'I think I will,' but (umpire) Hank Soar grabbed me before I even got to the foul line."

For Lasorda, in the World Series in his first year as a major league pilot, it is a dream come true to be managing in Yankee Stadium.

"I used to dream that I was a Yankee," said the Norristown, Pa., native. "I used to dream about the Joe DiMaggios, the Bill Dickeys, the Red Rolfes, the Frank Crosettis. It's a thrill in itself to be managing in the World Series and in Yankee Stadium, but to be managing against my old buddy ...."

All the Yankees love each other

Reggie Jackson had nothing but nice things to say about Billy Martin. "Give him credit — the man has guts," he said. "Martin would play Hitler if he thought it would help him win."

Billy Martin had nothing but nice things to say about Reggie Jackson. "I made it hard on Reggie during the year, but I have developed the greatest respect and admiration for the guy. He really put out for us the last two months of the season."

George Steinbrenner had nothing but nice things to say about Martin, the manager he is reportedly ready to fire.

"Last year in the playoffs and World Series, I thought Billy was unsure of himself," the owner said. "I think the job he did in the final game against Kansas City Sunday night was the finest game of managing under pressure I have ever seen."

President Gabe Paul, who is supposed to be fashioning the noose for Martin's red neck, had nothing but nice things to say about everybody.

"This is a team that is not afraid of the consequences," he said. "The tougher the going, the tougher they play. If you are afraid of consequences, you play it close to the vest. Not these guys — they slug away."

Given a reprieve in the final inning of the final game of the final playoff for the league championship, the New York Yankees at last have found the light.

N.Y. sorry for sins

They have got religion. They are sorry for their past sins. Having stared the ghost of disaster squarely in the eyes and lived to tell about it, they have become a humbler, a more mature group of human beings.

The questions now are:

—How will this change of attitude affect their performances against Tommy Lasorda's Los Angeles "Togetherness Boys" in the World Series, starting tonight at Yankee Stadium?

—Has firebrand Billy Martin saved his job with his gutsy benching of Steinbrenner's $2.9 million free agent baby?

—Will the feuding, back-biting, discontented Yankees finally find peace and happiness in their narrow escape from doom?

The specter was raised for the controversial, outspoken Jackson Monday when a lengthy telegram was delivered to him while he was donning his pinstripes in the Yankees locker room. Jackson opened the envelope slowly and read the jolting words: "Your conduct has been disgraceful to the team. Your contract is terminated, effective Oct. 9." It continued for eight abusive pages and was signed "George Steinbrenner." It was just one of the many crank letters Jackson receives.

Martin's benching of Jackson, who had 32 homers and 110 runs batted in for the season, exploded a bombshell prior to Sunday night's game at Kansas City.

"I had to do it for the sake of the team," Martin said. "He was having trouble fielding on the artificial turf and he hadn't hit well against Splittorff (Paul Splittorff, Kansas City's starting left-hander). It was a hard decision. The manager always is a heel."

Steinbrenner agreed

Martin said he first checked out the decision with Steinbrenner, who agreed with it.

"It is true," Steinbrenner said. "Billy came up and said there was something he wanted to try on me for size. When he explained it, I said I had been on the same wave length but my idea was perhaps to play Roy White in left and Lou Piniella in right. When Billy explained that Paul Blair (Jackson's replacement) hit Splittorff well, I agreed it was a good move."

Steinbrenner was delighted with the game.

"Those kids never quit," he said of the Yankees. "They (the Royals) thought they could intimidate us. They couldn't. I love guys who fight."

He wouldn't commit himself on the future of Billy Martin, the scrappiest scoundrel in baseball, but of Jackson he said: "If I had a chance to sign him again for the same price ($2.9 million), I would do it. Reggie has fulfilled all our expectations and, take my word for it, he's going to have a great World Series."

OLD FRIENDS

Yankee manager Billy Martin, left, shakes hands with Dodger manager Tom Ladorda in a New York City restaurant Monday. They'll meet on the field tonight in the World Series.

So what else is new?

Lasorda highly emotional

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees and the Los Angeles Dodgers, two franchises that divided baseball passions and World Series titles in the 1950s, square off in Game 1 of the 1977 World Series tonight.

"This is exciting for baseball," enthused the Dodgers' Tom Lasorda, a National League pennant winner in his rookie managerial season in the big leagues. "Here we have the two great teams which over the years have been synonomous with major league baseball."

Lasorda, who said he was cut from the Dodgers' 1955 championship team because of a young left-hander named Sandy Koufax, was highly emotional about the classic confrontation between the Yankees pinstripes and the Dodgers blue.

Meanwhile, his managerial counterpart, Billy Martin, proclaimed there was no longer any special rivalry between the Bronx Bombers and the Dodgers, former tenants in the borough of Brooklyn.

"The fifties were too long ago," said brash Billy, a hero of the Yankees' 1953 World Series win over the "Bums" of Brooklyn. "We used to travel by subway then. Now we go cross country in planes."

There now is a lot more separating Los Angeles and New York besides 3,000 miles.

The Dodgers, a team built from its minor league system, failed to enter the free-agent market. The Yankees, however, have been called the best team money can buy, adding free-agent plums Reggie Jackson and Don Gullett to last season's AL championship club that dropped four straight World Series games to the Cincinnati Reds.

The Dodgers believe in the credo that the team that loves together plays together, while the Yankees play together on the field and argue about it in the clubhouse.

"We built this team on togetherness, love and spirit," said Lasorda, who managed many of his players in the Dodgers chain before succeeding long-time skipper Walter Alston this season. "I love my players because they got me here. Hey, I was just a third-string pitcher on my high school team and now I'm managing the Dodgers in the World Series in the House That Ruth Built."

The Yankees' road to the AL pennant, won over Kansas City in the ninth inning of the fifth game for the second straight year, was a rocky one, highlighted by a near dugout brawl between Martin and Jackson, the near firing of Martin and personality clashes between Jackson and Yankees captain Thurman Munson.

"It's a relief we won," said Jackson, benched in the final game against Kansas City but a starter in right field tonight. "That way I don't have to hear how Jackson failed. It makes things a lot more peaceful around here."

It looked for a little while like the Yankees weren't going to be allowed to drift peacefully into tonight's game when Jackson received an eight-page telegram, allegedly from owner George Steinbrenner, saying his contract was terminated because his attitude had been degrading to the team.

After seriously scrutinizing the telegram for several minutes, Jackson was able to laugh it off as a hoax.

Things could stay peaceful for the Yankees provided they quickly pick up their 100th World Series victory and follow that fast with three more triumphs. To that end, Martin will send left-hander Don Gullett to the mound against righthander Don Sutton tonight.

Gullett, who ironically was Cincinnati's opening-game pitcher against the Yankees last year, will be making his first start since a shoulder ailment knocked him out in the second inning of Game 1 of the AL playoffs last Wednesday.

At that time, Martin proclaimed Gullett was finished for the season. But Gullett, who said he threw pretty well on Saturday and Sunday, told Martin that he could pitch.

"There's been some physical improvement," said Gullett, 14-4 in the regular season. "I feel I can go out there and pitch. Every pitcher has days when he's not 100 per cent and he goes out there and wins with secondary stuff.

"But I'm not looking for secondary stuff."

Did Gullett take a pain-killing shot?

"I don't want to comment on that. Ask the doctor," Gullett said.

"We don't announce those things," said Martin.

Sutton, the Dodgers' ace right-hander, is both well-rested and healthy following his victory Wednesday over Philadelphia in the NL playoffs.

"I'm fine, did you hear anything different," joked Sutton, 14-8 in the regular season and the winning All-Star pitcher last July.

"There's still a lot of excitement in being here," said the long-time Yankees fan who only changed his allegiance when he was signed by the Dodgers in 1965. "But it can't compare with my All-Star start. That was fun. This is work.

"I now have 33 full World Series shares riding on how I throw."

Bears win war

Rams claim 'cheap shots'

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago Bears Coach Jack Pardee called it "a well fought game in the trenches." Los Angeles Rams quarterback Joe Namath agreed with the battle analogy.

"People get away with taking cheap shots and it becomes one big war out there," Namath said. "If you let people continue to get away with cheap shots, what happens to sportsmanship?"

He accused linebacker Waymond Bryant of hitting him after a play in the waning moments of the Bears' 24-23 nationally televised National Football League upset victory on a rainy, windy Monday night that ended with both teams sporting 2-2 records.

The officials slapped Bryant with a roughing-the-passer penalty and Rams right guard Dennis Harrah slugged him with a fist that brought Harrah a personal foul and ejection from the game.

"I did not see the hit but I know it was a cheap shot. I could feel it. What else can I say?" said a remorseful Harrah. "I lost my head and retaliated when I should not have."

Namath indicated that other Bears weren't bashful about getting in a tardy nudge or two either.

"If the league would look at the films, they'd see what's going on out there," he said. "Next time we play them we'll beat them. We're not that kind of team."

By the time Bryant bashed Namath in the chest, leaving him gasping for air, the Rams were straining to stay alive.

Pat Haden replaced Namath and led Los Angeles to its final touchdown, a 26-yard strike to Dwight Scales that drew the Rams to within one point with 27 seconds to play.

But the best quarterback on the field was a newly independent Bob Avellini, a third-year pro who is progressing week by week. Calling the plays for the first time this season, he said he was more confident. It showed.

He came up with scoring missiles of 70 and 72 yards to James Scott in the first half, which ended with the Rams ahead 16-14 on three Rafael Septien field goals and a 2-yard touchdown run by Lawrence McCutcheon.

Avellini's 29-yard touchdown pass to Greg Latta in the fourth quarter put the Bears ahead 24-16 and provided breathing room.

Pardee said he let Avellini call the plays because "We needed a little more leadership on the field ... Bob would make the same decisions we'd make from the sidelines anyway."

The Bears won with big plays, including a 51-yard scamper by Walter Payton, who gained 126 yards, to set up Latta's catch. But Avellini said that doesn't mean he's a more adventurous play-caller than the often conservative coaches.

"We've tried passes before. We were fortunate enough to hit them tonight. They were in the game plan. I didn't draw up the plays," said Avellini, who completed 11 of 17 passes for 219 yards.

Namath, who went to the air 40 times, completed just 16 and had four intercepted. He said he had trouble with the bad weather and added, "Of course I played poorly. We lost."

The Rams scored the first three times they got the ball. Septien kicked a 22-yard field goal after the Bears punted and the Rams stalled at the Chicago 5.

Isiah Robertson picked off Avellini's pass after the kickoff to set the stage for a 29-yard boot by Septien.

Robertson then recovered Payton's fumble and Namath led a 54-yard march capped by McCutcheon's tally to put the Rams up 13-0 with the game just 11:32 old.

A key play came about 10 minutes into the third quarter when the Rams, leading 16-14, decided to go for a touchdown on a fourth down at the Chicago 1. But Rod Phillips was buried for no gain.

"If we went for the field goal, we didn't think that would stand up later," said Knox. "We felt that the way Payton was running, that he was good enough to break for one and our five-point lead would not have stood up."

Pardee said the return of free safety Doug Plank, who missed the first three games with a bad ankle, helped the pass coverage and gave the linemen more time to get to Namath.

However, he added, "We're not a whole lot different than we were last week when we lost 42 to whatever that stupid score was."

Kings open season

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Kings will open the 1976-77 National Hockey League season at the Forum in nearby Inglewood Wednesday night, playing host to the Cleveland Barons.

The contest, which begins at 8 p.m., PDT, is only the third home opener in 11 seasons for the Kings.

Among the new faces expected in the Kings' lineup will be Ernie Hicke from the Minnesota North Stars, Pete Stemkowski from the New York Rangers, Randy Manery from the Atlanta Flames, and Dave Taylor, the NCAA scoring champion from Clarkson College in New Jersey.

Ron Stewart will be coaching his first regular-season game for the Kings. He succeeded Bob Pulford as the Los Angeles coach in the off-season.

Missing from the Kings' lineup will be Frank St. Marseille, who became player-coach of Montreal's American League entry, the Nova Scotia Voyegeurs; Bob Berry, Shelly Kannegisser, and Steve Clippingdale.

The Kings have a lop-sided series with the Barons in the Forum, winning 24 of 32 games (24-6-2) and going unbeaten in 45 of 64 overall (34-19-11).

Rogie Vachon, who has a lifetime record of 19-9-4 against the Barons, is expected to be in the goal for Los Angeles Wednesday.

Winless gridders enjoy byes

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer

The valley's three winless college football teams all have byes this week, and according to the coaches in question these breaks in the action are coming at a most opportune time.

The value of scheduling byes, and other topics, was discussed Monday at the weekly Progress Bulletin football luncheon at the Castaway Restaurant in Pomona.

Player of the Week honors went to individuals from four different schools. Ben Morrow of La Verne and Steve Schiro of Claremont-Mudd won at the four-year level, while Bob Turner of Chaffey and Greg Grzechiwiak of Citrus claimed the honors at the junior colleges.

Morrow rushed for 169 yards in the Leopards' upset win over Azusa Pacific last week. Defensive back Schiro, the former Daniem High and Chaffey JC performer, made 10 unassisted and five assisted tackles in C-M's 35-7 loss to USIU.

Turner caught five passes for 76 yards in Chaffey's win over Palomar. Grzechiwiak played a strong game at defensive end in Citrus' 21-17 victory over San Diego CC.

Quoting the coaches:

JIM JONES, Cal Poly: "We are really showing that we are a very young team. Northern Arizona was a very good team and they just shut us out completely on offense. They dominated us.

"Right now, I guess you could say we have a balanced attack; we can't run or pass! Our injury situation also hurt, we started two freshmen in the backfield.

"Our defense did a super job. They keep coming up with the big plays but offensively we just have to get our act together.

"We are fortunate to have a buy this week with Ball State coming up in two weeks. We'll try to get some people healthy and see what we can do about our offense."

WALT AMBORD, Pomona-Pitzer: "We did not play to our capabilities against St. Mary's. St. Mary's is starting to come around and they handled us pretty easily.

"We lost a starting linebacker in the game, and also two wide receivers. Andra Moss stepped in at receiver and caught a 75-yard touchdown pass. He's 5-7 and 145 pounds and Saturday was the first time he's played football.

"We have a buy this week due to Caltech canceling out on us.

OFFENSIVE PLAYER OF THE WEEK — Bert Jones, quarterback, Baltimore Colts. Threw four touchdown passes to rally the Colts from a 28-10 deficit to a 45-28 victory over the Miami Dolphins. In all, Jones completed 18 of 30 passes for 205 yards.

DEFENSIVE PLAYER OF THE WEEK — Bob Swenson, outside linebacker, Denver. Had 12 unassisted tackles, six assists and a deflected pass in the Broncos' 23-7 victory over Kansas City. Chiefs Coach Paul Wiggin told Denver Coach Red Miller that Swenson had played "the best game by a strong linebacker against me since I've been a head coach."

Bill Walton in hospital

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Most of the exhibition season has been uncomfortably familiar to the Portland Trail Blazers.

Bill Walton has been missing.

The Most Valuable Player in last season's National Basketball Association championship series has been in the hospital since Saturday.

He's been in traction, the result of a back injury he suffered while chopping wood prior to the start of training camp two weeks ago.

But, team officials insist, the injury is not serious and the Blazer team captain is expected to be in the lineup when the National Basketball Association champions begin their title defense Oct. 21.

"We're a long way from panic," Blazer trainer Ron Culp said after a team workout Monday. "At this time of the year, it's just foolish to push anything."

Walton's reasonably good health last season was a big reason for the team's success. He missed most of his first two pro seasons due to injuries. The team is 3-3 in preseason play, but only 1-3 in games Walton missed.

The Blazers were without four players during much of their loss to the Lakers last Saturday night. Walton and Maurice Lucas didn't play and the team lost Lloyd Neal and Wally Walker during the game.

At one time, because of the foul situation, 6-foot-6 Bob Gross was playing center against Kareem Abdul-Jabbar.

All but Walton are expected to play in Thursday night's exhibition game against the Lakers in Los Angeles.

Walton was to be released from Meridian Park Hospital in the Portland suburb of Tualatin either Monday night or Tuesday morning.

He could go through light workouts Tuesday and Wednesday, Blazer Coach Jack Ramsay said, but probably wouldn't play Thursday. Ramsay hopes to have the Portland center back for the team's final preseason game against Golden State in Oakland Saturday night.

"Obviously we miss Bill," Ramsay said, "but it (the injury) has given us the opportunity to get some playing time from Tom Owens and to use Lloyd (Neal) some at center. That's a situation that might well occur during the regular season.

"It could be time very well spent."

Still, Ramsay admits the Blazers haven't been able to progress as well as he's hoped because of Walton's absence.

"It's not that serious a problem, but when players are injured they can't work as hard so they don't execute as well," Ramsay said.

Walton has been suffering back spasms since training camp opened in late September.

"It's really not a basketball-related injury," Culp said. "He chopped wood for something like six hours. When you're seven feet tall chopping down like that you're bound to aggravate something."

Craig Morton finds home

DENVER (AP) — Ignored in Dallas and deplored in New York, Craig Morton has found a home in Denver, where he has led the Broncos to a 4-0 record with an unexpected blend of passing and running ability.

Morton has a career passing percentage of .523, so his aerial accuracy of 56 per cent and his two TD passes this season come as no surprise. But Morton also has carried 15 times for 62 yards and three touchdowns this year.

A typical Morton running play finds him faking to a back at the left side of the line and, as both teams gravitate toward that side, Morton scampers unescorted around right end. He scored on such a misdirection play from 7 yards out against Kansas City Sunday, and also scampered in from 5 yards out against Buffalo two weeks ago.

Against St. Louis the week before, Morton's naked bootleg picked up a first down on a key third-and-long situation deep in Denver territory late in the game, icing the victory.

Morton isn't fast and his running style isn't pretty, but it is effective.

"I've never had plays designed for me to run the football before," he said. "I'm not going to gain 1,000 yards, but as long as defenses are giving us that option we'll take it. It's really like a reverse. You try to get the flow going one way, then take it the other. It'll work as long as defenses are not containing the back side.

"There's an element of surprise in those plays. Sometimes even my teammates don't know; the only player I'll tell is the back who's supposed to take the handoff."

For someone with scarred knees, the result of four knee operations, such antics could be dangerous. But Morton is smart enough to know when to hit the dirt. He doesn't try running over any defenders. And he has some experience in carrying the ball. He was a feared punt returner in high school and ran the ball with some authority at the University of California.

Football is fun again for the 13-year veteran. At Dallas, Morton lost out to the more popular Roger Staubach in the battle for the No. 1 quarterback spot. Ironically, it was Staubach's running ability which endeared him to the Cowboy fans.

Morton demanded a trade and was shuttled off to the New York Giants midway through the 1974 season. Although his statistics were respectable, his 2½ years in New York were not pleasant.

"I tried to do things I shouldn't have" to make up for the Giants' shortcomings, Morton says, and the results weren't positive. Frustrated Giants' fans, looking for a scapegoat, chose Morton. He was frequently and loudly booed.

Last March, Morton and Denver's Steve Ramsey switched teams in what amounted to a change of scenery for both. Ramsey was similarly disliked by Bronco fans. The trade stands as one of the best in Denver history, since Ramsey didn't make the Giants' roster.

Morton was pleased with the trade. "There's no comparison between the two football programs," he said. "I liked the people in New York and they were good to me, but it's so much better here. This is a disciplined organization, which I was used to at Dallas. Denver has good management and excellent coaching. It's nice to be a part of that again."

He also is a fan of the Broncos' offense instituted by first-year Coach Red Miller. "We've been progressing every week," he said.

Falcons facing pressure

ATLANTA (AP) — It's a novel question: the coach of the Atlanta Falcons being asked if his team's performance will be hurt by the pressure of being on top of its National Football League division.

"No, I don't think so," said Coach Leeman Bennett. "That's not to say we won't have a bad game somewhere along the way. But I don't think the pressure will get us."

The Falcons, 4-10 the past two seasons, are 3-1 and leading the Western Division of the NFL's National Conference.

Their defense got them there.

Sunday's 7-0 shutout of San Francisco kept the number of points yielded by the Falcons to a league-leading 19. And next Sunday's game at winless Buffalo — third-lowest-scoring team in the NFL — doesn't seem to threaten the Falcons' won-lost record or defensive statistics.

"I don't know if we're that good, but we are 3-1," said rookie Coach Bennett. "People will have to consider us a contender now.

"We didn't set any goals when this season started," he said. "We just wanted to improve week by week and play mistake-free football. So far, we've done that."

Almost.

The Falcons lost two apparent touchdowns on offside penalties Sunday, but in three of their four games they haven't given up the ball by interception or fumble.

The offense hasn't moved the ball all that well, either, but the Atlanta defense has made up for that.

"Hey, we've got a good defense," said Rolland Lawrence, the cornerback who scored both apparent touchdowns that were called back. "This is a completely new ball club from what it was and it shows," said Lawrence, who is not a newcomer to the team.

Cougars up for Bruins

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP) — Washington State should be mentally up for UCLA in their Pacific-8 football clash Saturday in Spokane, but UCLA also has a reason for emotional play, according to WSU Coach Warren Powers.

Powers said Monday the Bruins know they have to recover from last week's 32-28 upset defeat at the hands of Stanford. WSU's motivation comes from a 17-10 league win over previously unbeaten California and the memory of last year's contest against the Bruins, when the Los Angeles team crushed the Cougars 62-3.

"I am sure they (the players) remember last year and have something to prove," Powers said. "But we can't dwell on last year. We have to concentrate on this year."

For the first time since 1971, the Cougars enter the night game in 34,800-seat Albi Stadium with a better record — 3-2 on the year to UCLA's 2-3. But WSU probably will play underdog for the sixth straight time this year.

UCLA has won the last 10 games in the series since 1958, and holds a 22-6 edge since 1928.

"We have a pretty tough game every week and UCLA is no exception. They are an excellent team. Injuries have bothered them, but their injuries are healing," Powers said.

MOTORIST TORTURED ON HIGHWAY

Driving a sluggish car that coughs, misses or drags on the highway can be sheer torture. Erratic engine performance is often caused by crankcase contaminents and sticking mechanical parts. In such cases you can help restore lost performance thanks to a special formulation called WYNN'S® ENGINE TUNE-UP. This famous oil treatment works in 10 minutes as you drive to help quiet valves and lifters, while it dissolves away harmful deposits. So to help end highway torture, GET WYNN'S ENGINE TUNE-UP today.

NBC hires McGuire

NEW YORK (AP) — Al McGuire, the colorful Marquette coach who closed out his career by winning the NCAA Basketball Championship last March, has been hired as a special commentator by NBC Sports, the network announced Monday.

McGuire will present filmed reports during halftime of NBC's nationally-televised college games and will appear live with commentary and interviews.

"In over 20 years of college basketball coaching, Al McGuire has been more than a highly successful coach," said Chet Simmons, vice president of NBC Sports. "His personality, showmanship and keen wit have also made him a popular and colorful ambassador for the sport. We look for Al's insight and candid commentary to be an informative and entertaining feature of our college basketball coverage."

McGuire compiled a career coaching record of 404-144 at Belmont Abbey and Marquette. Over the last 10 years at Marquette, his teams were 252-41, averaging 25 victories per season and appeared in 10 consecutive postseason tournaments.

Yanks must go with 24

NEW YORK — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn refused the New York Yankees' application to add a 25th man to their World Series roster.

In a letter to Yankee President Gabe Paul, Kuhn said the Yankees request to add outfielder Dell Alston to their list of Series eligibles could not be approved without the consent of the National League. NL President Chub Feeney would not agree to the addition, the commissioner said.

The Yankee roster vacancy was created when New York sent utiltyman Carlos May on waivers to the California Angels in mid-September. Baseball rules stipulate that players eligible for post-season action must be on the 25-man major league roster Aug. 31. Alston was playing for the Yankees' Syracuse farm team at the time.

Stewart questionable

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Defenseman Bob Stewart of the Cleveland Barons is questionable for Wednesday night's National Hockey League opener against the Los Angeles Kings because of an ankle injury suffered in the final preseason game.

Stewart was hit in the ankle by a shot during Cleveland's 4-2 victory at Edmonton Sunday night. He was scheduled to be examined by a doctor in Los Angeles when the team arrived.

Meanwhile, Barons General Manager Harry Howell said he is continuing his efforts to deal for another veteran defenseman to shore up Cleveland's injury-riddled and youthful defensive corps.

Nelson, Dales honored

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Stanford freshman Darrin Nelson and Oregon State senior Gene Dales have been named Pacific-8 Conference players of the week for their work in a pair of upsets.

Nelson rushed for 189 yards, caught four passes and scored twice to lead the Cardinals to a 32-28 victory over favored UCLA.

Dales intercepted a pass and returned it 79 yards for a touchdown, made eight tackles and sacked the quarterback once as Oregon State dumped unbeaten Brigham Young 24-19.

Nelson's rushing effort against UCLA was the third best in Stanford history. He is the nation's highest ranked freshman in rushing, receiving and all-purpose running. He leads the Pac-8 in receiving and is third in rushing.

Oregon State Coach Craig Fertig said Dales played as good a game as a linebacker can, shutting off Brigham Young's favorite play, the dump pass to the fullback.

Also nominated for offensive honors were Stanford quarterback Steve Dils, Washington tight end Scott Greenwood, Washington State punter Gavin Hedrick and Oregon State tackle Gordon Neumann.

Nominated for defensive honors were end Tom Thompson of Washington State, tackle Doug Martin of Washington and tackle Steve Howe of Stanford.

U.S. edges China

ATLANTA (AP) — Fred Pereira scored on a breakaway late in the final half to give the U.S. National Soccer team a 1-0 victory over The People's Republic of China in an international soccer match Monday night at Atlanta Stadium.

Don Droege got an assist on the winning goal as Pereira raced down the field and ripped a low kick past goalie Li FuSheng with 7:02 remaining.

A crowd of 15,003 watched the Chinese mount three mild scoring threats. However, U.S. goalie Arnold Mausser stopped two shots while the other went wide of the goal.

The United States hardly threatened except for a Mike Flater shot late in the first half which was caught by Li.

The two teams fought to a 1-1 tie Thursday in Washington, D.C., and the Chinese tied the New York Cosmos 1-1 Saturday in East Rutherford, N.J.

BART SULLIVAN

Sullivan pays visit to area

A couple former Damien High stars will be returning to the Southland this week as members of the University of Santa Clara soccer squad.

Bart Sullivan, a senior halfback, and Mike Hunter, a sophomore fullback, will be joining their Santa Clara mates in action tonight at UCLA (8 p.m.) and again Wednesday at Cal State Fullerton (4 p.m.).

Sullivan, co-captain of the Broncos' squad, was the Damien Athlete of the Year in 1974. He made the all-CIF soccer squad that same year and set a CIF record for goals in a season with 56.

Sullivan is hoping to be selected in the North American Soccer League pro draft after completing his collegiate career.

Hunter, who also won All-CIF honors at Damien, has also seen plenty of action this year for the Bronco soccer squad.

Yet another ex-Damien athlete, Brian Sullivan (Bart's younger brother) has been starring this year as a freshman place kicker on the Bronco football team.

The younger Sullivan has hit on 10 of 10 PATs and has made four of six field goals, the longest being a 41-yarder.

The Sullivans are from Diamond Bar, while Hunter hails from Claremont.

Chino league elects officers

The Chino American Little League will hold a meeting Tuesday evening beginning at 8 p.m. at the Pomona First Federal office on Central Avenue to elect officers for the 1978 season.

Head coach Terry Donahue of UCLA played in a Rose Bowl game for the Bruins and also served as an assistant coach in the New Year's Day contest at Pasadena.

Interference call frustrates Stags

We need it to rest up for Redlands. It will also help since we can't afford any more injuries at this point."

JOHN ZINDA, Claremont-Mudd: "The score (35-7) was not indicative of our game at USIU last week. It was still only 14-7 with 30 seconds to go in the half when a pass interference call went against us. That seemed to upset us and we never recovered.

"We were disappointed and frustrated down there. We did not play our game.

"We'll use our bye to try to get ready for our conference opener vs. Whittier. We have four kids down with injuries right now from our defense, but we hope they will be back for Whittier."

ROLAND ORTMAYER, La Verne: "Our trip up the hill last week to play Azusa Pacific was a very pleasant experience for us. Our defense played exceptionally well, in fact we got a very good effort out of everybody.

"Morrow broke an 80-yard early in the second half to kind of ice it for us. Steve Groggans also played an exceptional game at defensive tackle.

"We play Cal Lutheran this week, they have a fine program. We beat them the first year they had a team but have not been able to since in 15 or 16 years. We will have to play a good football game to beat them. I think they have been stronger in the past than they are this year but they are still a outstanding team."

JERRY SCONCE, Azusa Pacific: "There's not much you can say when you turn the ball over seven times inside your own 30, and that's what we did against La Verne.

"It was just one of those days I guess. Right now we'd like to forget it, quick.

"We're looking forward to playing Redlands this week. They are a well-drilled, very physical team. We are going to have to improve our offensive line play if we are going to stay with them."

MAL EATON, MSAC: "Our problem right now is that we are beating ourselves. We have played two of the ranked schools in the state and lost both games by the identical 27-24 score after being ahead late in the fourth quarter.

"Defensively, we did a super job of stopping Mesa's quarterback (Steve) Fairchild. Unfortunately, we probably had to give up something on the run as a result, and that's where we got beat.

"Our job right now is to keep our kids up for the rest of the season. They are a good football team which is just one step away from being a outstanding football team.

"We play Santa Ana this week, although they are winless I can't figure out why from the game films. They look very sharp and play good aggressive football."

JOHN STRYCULA, Citrus: "We beat San Diego CC in a very physical game, we're just happy to come out of it without any injuries. They're a rough bunch.

"We are still not playing as well as we should, we have some guys who will look good for three plays and then relax or something and get burned. We've been our own worst enemy at times.

"We play San Bernardino Valley this week. We expect the same sort of dogfight we had with San Diego. San Bernardino is a similar football team, they're very physical."

MIKE SHAUGHNESSY, Chaffey assistant coach: "We played a good Palomar team last week, I think the final score was a bit misleading. They stopped our running game, which is our strong point. We went to the air in the second half and finally started moving the ball.

"We face San Diego this week. We're not about to take them lightly. They have good size and are very aggressive. We are concerned about them, they have the ability to be a very good football team."

UCLA works at defense

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Prior to the start of the 1977 football season, UCLA Coach Terry Donahue said it would take some time for the Bruins' offense to come around because of its inexperienced personnel.

In their first three games, UCLA indeed struggled offensively, totaling only 43 points. In their last two outings, however, the Bruins have more than come around, scoring 62 points.

Donahue also said last month that the defense would have to carry the team early in the season. To an extent, it did, but against Stanford last Saturday, nearly everything went wrong.

The Cardinals rallied for a 32-28 victory over the Bruins in UCLA's Pacific-8 Conference opener. The 32 points scored by Stanford were well-earned as it rolled up 552 yards in total offense.

"I was surprised," Donahue said Monday at his weekly meeting with reporters. "I thought we would play better defensively. We executed poorly on defense, but you have to give Stanford a lot of credit."

The Bruins took a 28-25 lead on a 21-yard touchdown pass from Rick Bashore to Theotis Brown with 2:20 remaining, but the Cardinals stormed back, scoring the winning touchdown with 37 seconds to go.

"We had to shut them off and we didn't do it," said Donahue. "They went 80 yards in less than two minutes. That was the most disappointing aspect of the game."

After the Cardinals' last TD, UCLA quickly moved downfield but the game ended with the Bruins at the Stanford 15-yard line.

The game ended on a rather surprising note. With 12 seconds left and UCLA in a first-and-10 situation at the Stanford 24, Donahue called a running play instead of a pass, even though the Bruins had no timeouts left.

That meant that there was no way UCLA could stop the clock unless the ball-carrier, James Owens, went out of bounds or picked up a first down. He did neither. Owens gained nine yards and time ran out before the Bruins could get off another play.

"It was a tremendous gamble," Donahue acknowledged Monday. "We ran a trap play, which certainly was unexpected, and it didn't work. Their tackles were so wide there was a gaping hole, and James almost ran for a touchdown."

299.00

Solid state ignition can save up to 30% of total gas use since there is no constant flame on pilots. Has continuous cleaning oven. Charge it. CKM9622-330R.

WHEN YOU COOK

SAVE GAS ENERGY WITH THESE CONSERVATION TIPS

- Don't preheat gas oven ... it is unnecessary.
- Keep pots and pans covered.
- Adjust top burner flame to fit pans.
- Reduce burner flame to simmer after cooking starts.
- When replacing your gas range, consider one with an ignition system which eliminates the constant burning pilots.

Arizona's flooding extensive

By the Associated Press

Water was still rising early today in the normally dry San Pedro and Gila rivers in southcentral Arizona where scores of persons were evacuated as the flooding spilled over thousands of acres.

The Riverside Bridge on State Route 177 near Winkelman, a ranching and mining community, was closed at 10:30 p.m. Monday and the Maricopa Bridge in the town was washed out a few hours earlier.

To the south, the water was receding in the Santa Cruz River near Tucson which could ease the heavy discharge into the San Pedro and Gila rivers. The Santa Cruz runs north from Mexico to a juncture with the Gila.

The San Pedro and Santa Cruz, which carry water only when Arizona monsoons produce moisture, were turned into raging torrents by an eight-inch rainfall triggered by Tropical Storm Heather in northern Mexico and southern Arizona.

Thousands of acres of cropland were inundated by the muddy torrent as dikes hastily erected by ranchers and civil defense units gave way.

About 20 persons were forced from their homes in Winkelman when water spread a mile from the San Pedro channel, swirling through a mobile home park.

"The trailers are about three or four feet off the ground and the water is maybe a foot over the door," said Martha Howe, manager of the nearby Copper Belle Motel.

Officials said most of the damage in the Winkelman area has been confined to farmland. Power was out at many homes in nearby Kearny and Riverside and Mammoth, about 20 miles to the south.

In Nogales, on the Arizona-Mexico border, the rampaging Santa Cruz forced evacuation of 600 persons and an estimated 100 others downstream.

Pomona ordinance on once-weekly bingo goes into effect in 30 days

City to receive 10% of games' proceeds

By GEORGE MacLAREN
PB Staff Writer

The Pomona City Council by a 4-1 vote Monday night held final reading of an ordinance which will limit nonprofit organizations to having bingo games one night a week.

The ordinance will also give the city 10 percent of each organization's gross receipts from the running of such games.

The ordinance goes into effect in 30 days.

The only vote against the ordinance came from Councilman Benjamin Ochoa who explained that he was against the first ordinance which allowed bingo in Pomona.

"Bingo opens the door to gambling," Ochoa said. "I'm not making any concessions."

When the council reached the bingo ordinance on the 56-item agenda, which Mayor Charles Bader called the longest he had seen as a councilman, the council quickly moved to approve the ordinance.

But Bader stressed that although it was not a public hearing, there were people in the audience who wished to talk for or against the ordinance, and he set a time limit of 15 minutes on each side.

Raymond Youngquist, attorney for the Church of All Faiths, asked for a week continuance of the ordinance so he could make a "more meaningful presentation." He was succeeding Joseph Dolan as the church's attorney.

The council quickly turned down that request.

Youngquist said the problem appears that Victor Barbish of the Church of All Faiths is making too much money through his bingo operation.

"Their religion may be unorthodox, but they have demonstrated good faith," Youngquist said. He stressed that the church has given the Humane Society of the Pomona Valley $50,000, and $15,000 to the Esperanza Society.

"I see a spectre in the mind of the City Council," he said. "If there are abuses, they can be remedied by proper police action."

He offered the city a night a week to run the bingo games.

He said that the church spends $5,000 a month for the lease of its building and for bingo equipment.

Youngquist asked that the council seriously consider allowing bingo four nights a week, with the city choosing on two nights any charity it wants.

He was followed by the Rev. Bob Smith of the Church of All Faiths who recalled that the council's moratorium on churches in commerical zones did not include massage parlors nor pornography book stores.

Speaking for the ordinance was the Rev. Hiram Sanders of the First Church of the Nazarene, who said he is opposed to bingo any night of the week.

"I'm here as a matter of conscience," he said. "The real issue continues to be what is a non-profit organization?"

Charles White of the Grove Street Bible Church called the issue "a farce, a dangerous farce. It's dangerous to the ideas of the First Amendment."

Bader spoke of the city's possibly setting a precedent. Speaking of the Church of All Faiths, he said that many similar organizations will single out Pomona as a good place to operate bingo games.

NEITHER RAIN NOR SNOW

A jogger muddles along as best he can, trying to ignore the season's first snowfall in Minneapolis, a harbinger of things to come. About one inch of snow fell Monday, well over a month earlier than the average November date for the first snowfall.

13 inmates executed in prison riot

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (AP) — Hundreds of rebellious convicts held part of Jalisco state prison today after executing 13 inmates they charged tyrannized them as agents of the prison administration.

Police and firemen appeared to be readying for an assault Monday night, setting up floodlights in front of a prison wall. But no attack was ordered.

Prison Director Pedro Parra said late Monday night security forces had regained control of the fortress-like, 2,300-inmate penitentiary. But no guards ventured beyond the administrative section in the front of the prison, and inmates who fled from the cellblocks said the rioters still held the main part of the complex.

A statement reportedly signed by 400 rebel inmates said the killings were "not a crime but justice." They demanded better food, work opportunities, efficient medical service and better living conditions.

Five other persons including two guards were injured in the violence Monday morning. By midafternoon all guards had been withdrawn from the cellblocks, and 2,000 men roamed freely over the interior.

American prisoners — officially said to number eight, but one American inmate said there were 17 — did not join in the rebellion, and none was injured, officials said. The Americans are jailed on narcotics charges.

Eyewitnesses said the slain prisoners enjoyed a privileged status as "coordinators" for the administration. They said their names were on a death list drawn up by the rebels, and they were killed one by one.

Morris Dam OK given by county

Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors today gave approval to a proposal to take over the Morris Dam and reservoir from the Metropolitan Water District (MWD).

The vote was 3-2 with supervisors Kenneth Hahn and Baxter Ward conducting a tooth-and-nail fight against the free acquisition.

They contended that the costs of giving the dam to the flood control district would far outweigh the benefits.

But Supervisor Peter Schabarum, an advocate of the takeover, felt otherwise. He said the county could save $500,000 a year in water costs and another $15 million in the long run by delaying the removal of certain sediments in its reservoirs in the San Gabriel Valley.

High court sets aside ruling on veterans job preference

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today set aside a lower court's ruling that struck down state laws giving a preference to military veterans who apply for public jobs.

The justices, by a 6-3 vote, told a three-judge federal court in Massachusetts to reconsider its decision in light of a 1976 Supreme Court decision that said "discriminatory intent" is necessary to find a constitutional violation.

The lower court said such preferential treatment for veterans represented unconstitutional sex discrimination against women.

The court's action carries broad impact. Only four states — Arkansas, Mississippi, New Mexico and South Carolina — have no form of veterans' preference.

Justices William J. Brennan Jr., Thurgood Marshall and Lewis F. Powell Jr. voted to hear arguments in the case.

The Massachusetts law was challenged in 1975 by Helen Feeney, a state employe from 1963 to that year.

2 jet hijackers ask for asylum

FRANKFURT, West Germany (AP) — A man and woman employed by the Czechoslovak airlines and carrying loaded pistols hijacked a domestic jetliner to Frankfurt airport today, and asked for political asylum, police said.

The two wore their uniforms but traveled as passengers, police said.

After holding the other 24 passengers and three crew members hostage on the plane for two hours, the two surrendered to police, Frankfurt police chief Knut Mueller said.

He identified them only as Vlastislav T., 29, and Ruzena V., 22, both employed by the CSA airline in Karlovy Vary, a once glittering spa known as Carlsbad.

Stabbed repeatedly

Bodies of 3 missing girls found in creek

ELVATON, Md. (AP) — The discovery of the bodies of three missing girls, stabbed repeatedly through their parkas and left lying face down in a creek near their homes, has stunned the Southgate neighborhood here.

The bodies of Theresa Hogan, 8; her sister Deborah Anne, 10; and Ann Marie Brzeszkiewicz, also 8, were found Monday. The schoolgirls had left a house early Sunday evening to play and were last seen on a bridge over the stream, which runs through a wooded area near the subdivision where they lived.

State Medical Examiner Russell Fisher said two of the girls had been stabbed about six times, and the third victim had more than a dozen knife wounds. Fisher said the murder weapon was probably a hunting knife with a blade at least five inches long.

The girls were found fully clothed and there was no evidence that they had been sexually molested, authorities said.

"We don't have anything," said Detective Sgt. William Chaplin of the Anne Arundel County homicide squad. "No clues, no motives, no weapon."

News of the slayings sent parents to Southgate Elementary School to gather up their children when classes were dismissed. School officials said usually a dozen parents will pick up their children but about 150 were waiting outside Monday afternoon.

"You just feel like clutching them to you," said one anxious mother.

"We've always felt fairly safe here," said Bruce Strazza, president of the local civic association.

"You always hear about it happening somewhere else, but it doesn't happen in your neighborhood."

Nobel physics awards go to 2 Americans, Briton

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Two Americans and a Briton won the Nobel prize for physics today, and a Belgian was awarded the prize for chemistry.

The Swedish Academy gave the physics prize to John H. Van Vleck, 78, of Harvard University; his former student Philip Anderson, 55, of Princeton University and Bell Laboratories; and Sir Nevill F. Mott, 72, of Cambridge University in England.

The chemistry prize went to Ilya Prigogine, 60, of the Free University of Brussels. He is also director of the Center for Statistical Mechanics and Thermodynamics at the University of Texas.

The physics winners, who will share equally a $145,000 prize, were cited for research on the electronic structure of magnetic and disordered systems — work applied to development of the laser, advancement in the industrial use of glass, and in copper spirals for birth control devices.

Court battle begins over racial bias of IQ testing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — IQ tests — and their alleged built-in bias against minority children — go on trial here today in a class action lawsuit filed on behalf of six black children placed in classes for the mentally retarded because of low IQ test scores.

"The basic claim that we're trying is that the IQ tests are culturally biased against black children because they don't take into consideration the cultural experience of the children," said attorney Sam Miller.

The class action suit was filed in 1971 after the black children scored below 75 on standard intelligence quotient tests and were placed in classes for the "educable mentally retarded."

The children scored 17 to 35 points higher when retested by the Bay Area Association of Black Psychologists, using tests reworded to better reflect the language and experience of the children.

Miller claims the misuse of IQ tests in class placement could result in irrevocably stunting the educational growth of some minority children.

After the suit was filed, U.S. District Court Judge Robert Peckham stopped the placement of San Francisco black children in classes for the retarded when based on results of IQ tests, pending the outcome of the trial. Other criteria have been used since then. Peckham is hearing the nonjury trial.

At the time the suit was filed, 66.5 per cent of the students in the special classes were black, while 28.5 per cent of the total school population were black.

Attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and a group called Public Advocates will assist in challenging the tests.

Defendants in the case include both the state and San Francisco school superintendents and the state and city school boards.

San Onofre nuclear unit in operation

SAN ONOFRE (AP) - After a month's shutdown, electrical generating capacity at the San Onofre Nuclear Generating Plant's Unit 1 is back to normal.

The plant was shut down maintenance, inspection and repairs to some steam tubes Sept. 9.

An official for the plant's majority partner, Southern California Edison Co., said weekend tests were good. Twenty per cent of the power goes to the minority partner, San Diego Gas and Electric Co. for use in San Diego and Orange counties.

Gov. Brown:

Judge all university applicants the same

LOS ANGELES (AP) — All applicants for University of California graduate and professional programs should be judged under the same broad criteria now reserved for minority applicants, Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. says.

"I would like to see the special admissions program criteria applied to each applicant," Brown told reporters following a Columbus Day ceremony at City Hall Monday. "We need a total examination based on the qualities of the individual applying."

Under the University of California's special admissions provisions, the race of a minority applicant is taken into consideration, along with other criteria besides grades and test scores.

The United States Supreme Court is to hear oral arguments Wednesday on a challenge to the special admissions program at the UC Davis Medical School.

A lawsuit filed by Allan Bakke of Sunnyvale, a white former Marine who was denied admission to the medical school, contends he was discriminated against because the special admission policy automatically set aside 16 of the school's 100 openings for minorities.

The California Supreme Court agreed that Bakke, whose grades and test scores were higher than those of most of the minority applicants who were admitted when he applied, was the victim of discrimination.

However, on Monday, Brown reiterated that he hopes the U.S. Supreme Court will reverse the state court's Bakke decision. The governor claimed that grades and examination scores are not by themselves sufficient to forecast whether an applicant will make a good doctor.

"Somebody who had a C-plus average in college but had to work to support his family might make a better doctor than somebody who got straight A's but never had to work a day in his life," Brown said.

"The present medical school examination only measures test-taking ability," rather than the various human qualities necessary for success as a physician, Brown said.

In this and in other professional and graduate programs, Brown argued, "There should be a qualitative judgment based on the motivation, the character, and the talent of the individual."

Lockheed strike in second day as bargaining stalled

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Thousands of Lockheed workers were staying off the job today at the aerospace firm's plants in Burbank, Palmdale and Sunnyvale as contract talks remained stalemated.

"As far as I know, neither side is talking to the other yet, but perhaps tomorrow or the next day we may get some approaches from the company," said Neil Van der Cooke, spokesman for the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers (IAM).

"The company says they're ready and we're certainly ready. But the mediators are calling the shots at the moment," he said Monday night at the end of the first day of the walkout.

The strike threatened production of Lockheed's commercial jets and defense missiles in California. However, the plants remained open.

Members of the union, which represents about 13,500 workers at the three Lockheed plants, voted to strike this weekend. The Sunnyvale plant is the center for the Navy's Trident missile program and the Burbank and Palmdale plants make Lockheed's L-1011 commercial jetliners, as well as Navy patrol planes.

The striking workers represent roughly one-third of the employes at the three plants — machinists, janitors, secretaries and production workers, officials said. The dispute centers on wage and seniority considerations.

IAM membership in Lockheed's Marietta, Ga., plant, voted Sunday not to strike immediately, and instead to opt for another crack at the bargaining tables.

The workers' contract in Georgia and California expired at midnight Sunday. They are asking for a new pact that would give them pay hikes of 8 per cent in the first year of the contract, then 5 per cent and 4 per cent in the following years. Lockheed has offered increases of 3.5 per cent, and 3 per cent each of the following two years.

Miners claiming meteorite discovery

BARSTOW (AP) — Two miners say they've discovered a meteorite even bigger than the "Old Woman Meteor" that touched off a tug-of-war between state and federal officials and the men who found it.

But the miners aren't saying just where their treasure trove is, except that it's allegedly somewhere in the Avawatz Mountains about 60 miles northeast of Barstow.

The new specimen was dubbed the "Squaw Tom Meteorite" after one of the men who says he found it: "Squaw Tom" Sanders.

The miners claim an assayer has certified the authenticity of the rock as an iron and nickel meteor, the same as the "Old Woman."

But because of Monday's federal holiday, no immediate confirmation was available from Bureau of Land Management personnel or other officials.

Sanders said he discovered "Squaw Tom" in 1927, but did nothing about it. "I thought it was just a piece of iron," he explained.

However, after he and his partner, Art Wilson, viewed the "Old Woman" in Barstow recently, Sanders said he decided to take another look at the specimen he had found in the desert five decades earlier.

Sanders claims "Squaw Tom" weighs more than three tons, while "Old Woman" weighs 2½ tons. The "Squaw Tom" specimen is also 26 inches longer, 11 inches wider and six inches higher, Sanders claims.

The discovery of the "Old Woman," found in the Old Woman Mountains southwest of Needles, touched off a battle between state officials who wanted the rock to remain here and federal officials who wanted to take it the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C. Little attention was paid during the struggle to the claims of the miners who found the rock.

California eventually won out in the battle, when the Bureau of Land Management decided to let the meteor remain on display at various museums in the state.

Wind carries pollution

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Wind currents would carry pollution from Alaskan oil tankers toward Los Angeles, say officials who sent a manned balloon aloft to test the air flow.

The balloon America, launched Monday, was gathering wind trajectory data for the South Coast Air Quality Management District, which must decide whether to approve a proposed Standard Oil of Ohio terminal in Long Beach Harbor.

The free-floating balloon was blown about by prevailing winds the same way air pollutants would be, district officials said.

Earth-moon pictures

PASADENA (AP) — Photographs of the earth and moon together, beamed to earth by the Voyager 1 spacecraft, are being processed and should be ready by the end of the week, a Jet Propulsion Laboratory spokesman says.

The six color pictures, transmitted across 19 million miles of space over the weekend and received early Monday, were actually taken shortly after Voyager 1's takeoff Sept. 5 but had been stored in the spacecraft's computer, said JPL spokesman Alan Wood.

$85 million bill

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Officials estimate that this season's forest fires, mudslides and flooding in California will cost $85 million.

The U.S. Forest Service says it will cost $32 million just to fight mudslides and floods in the central coast region that are expected from winter and spring rains.

Most of last summer's fires occurred on federal forest lands, so the U.S. Forest Service will pick up the heaviest expenses for this year's blazes in California.

State and federal officials said in a published report Monday that the exact cost will not be known for months, probably even years, because they're still reseeding burned areas.

'Loco weed' death

STRAWBERRY (AP) — An 18-year-old man apparently under the influence of "loco weed" has died after plunging 100 feet into a rocky ravine, Kern County officials said.

Jack E. King of Quartz Hill, a small community near Lancaster, may have wandered away from his Tehachapi Mountains campsite after eating jimson plant, also known as "loco weed," the Kern County coroner said Monday.

King had been camping near Castle Rock, about 11 miles northwest of Rosamond in Kern County, authorities said. They said he died Sunday.

Railway speed limit

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Officials of the nation's rail system, Amtrak, say they can cut travel time between San Diego and Los Angeles by 18 minutes, partly by eliminating a speed limit near the San Clemente estate of former President Richard M. Nixon.

The proposal was part of a five-year plan issued in Washington Monday that also recommended increasing service between the two southern California cities.

"Trains passing near the Nixon enclave must still slow down to 40 miles an hour for a five-mile stretch," said Arthur Lloyd, Western region manager for Amtrak's public affairs in San Francisco. "The restriction must have been imposed for security reasons and we inherited it."

Boys abandoned

Two young children were taken to MacLaren Hall, a home for non-delinquent children in El Monte, after they were found Monday afternoon, crying and apparently abandoned in the 2400 block of Alder Street in northeast Pomona, police reported.

The boys, one 11 and the other 5, told police they had been left outside a market, believed to have been at Indian Hill Boulevard and Arrow Highway.

Police said a check with MacLaren Hall revealed that the boys' brother already was at the institution. He was taken there after apparently having been abandoned in Los Angeles. The records revealed that the two boys had been taken to the hall on previous occasions after having been left alone.

2 wrecks hurt 4

A La Habra man was reported in fair condition this morning in County-USC Medical Center where he was being treated for injuries he suffered in a traffic accident Monday afternoon at Ganesha Boulevard and Murchison Street in Pomona.

Steven J. Zipnick, 24, suffered a head injury in the collision of his auto and one driven by Augustine A. Cota, 20, of San Dimas. Cota was uninjured.

Three persons were hurt and one driver arrested in a traffic accident Monday evening at Park Avenue and Philadelphia Street.

Ramon G. Diaz, 31, of Pomona, the arrested driver, was among the injured. The other driver, Ronald L. Grohe, 38, of Pomona, also was hurt slightly.

Police reported that Diaz' auto struck the rear of Grohe's vehicle at a stop sign. They arrested Diaz on a drunken driving charge.

Still unidentified

A woman apparently struck and killed early Sunday morning by a hit-and-run driver on the San Bernardino Freeway offramp at Milliken Avenue in Ontario remaines unidentified this morning, according to the San Bernardino County Coroner's office.

The coroner's office said this morning that the fingerprints taken from the body were being checked through state and county offices.

Market robbed

Two men armed with a revolver robbed Circle K Market at 460 S. Campus Ave., Upland, of a small amount of cash and a clerk's purse Monday evening, police reported.

Upland police said that the two men, both wearing bandanas over their faces, entered the store and confronted the woman clerk.

The men demanded the cash from the register. They took the money and purse and fled.

One of the men was described as a Latin, 18 years of age, of husky build with a light complexion. He was wearing a blue watchcap, a brown corduroy jacket, dark pants. He was armed with a short-barrelled revolver.

The second man was described as a Latin, 18 years of age, 5 feet 7, of slim build, wearing a white T-shirt rolled up around his ribs and a blue watchcap.

Home blaze

Fire in a Claremont home caused an estimated $10,000 in damages Monday afternoon before Los Angeles County firefighters could bring the blaze under control.

One bedroom was destroyed and heavy smoke damage sustained in the home located at 534 Clarion Place in Claremont.

Four engine companies and one batallion chief responded to the blaze which occurred at about 2:30 p.m.

Recover van

A Claremont man's van was found abandoned in an alley Tuesday morning where it had been left by three young men who beat up the driver and took the vehicle from him late Sunday night, Pomona police said.

Terrence Gilmer, 38, told officers that he was attacked by the three youths, 17 or 18 years old, in the 200 block of S. Thomas Street shortly before midnight. He declined medical attention.

Juvenile kidnapers

Two youths were arrested Monday afternoon after they reportedly attempted to force a Colton woman to drive them to San Francisco at knifepoint in Ontario, police reported.

The youths, one from Gilroy and the other from Calamesa, were arrested a short time after the incident was reported and turned over to juvenile authorities for disposition on charges of kidnapping.

Police said the 21-year-old Colton woman had picked up the two 16-year-old suspects who were hitchhiking on the San Bernardino Freeway near Sierra Highway in Fontana about 11:45 a.m. The woman told officers she drove the youths to Ontario where one of them suddenly produced a knife and put it against her ribs, telling her she had better drive them to San Francisco.

The woman said she refused and drove into a service station at Fourth Street and Corona Avenue in Ontario where the youths fled.

Gang stabbing

An 18-year-old Cucamonga man and four juveniles arrested Monday night are accused of attacking two youths outside the Pup n Taco drive-in at Archibald Avenue and Base Line Road in Cucamonga, according to West End sheriff's deputies.

Deputies said that one Cucamonga youth involved in the altercation suffered stab wounds to the chest.

The other youth managed to escape.

Sheriff's deputies said the attackers, apparently from the North Town area of Cucamonga, confronted the two victims outside of the drive-in and asked them where they were from.

When the victims replied, they were suddenly attacked by the other youths, they told authorities.

Deputies said that the victims were able to describe the attackers' vehicle. Officers stopped the suspects's auto a short time later near Turner Avenue and Foothill Boulevard.

Booked in the West End jail for investigation of assault with a deadly weapon was Delfino Anguiano, 18, of 10133 Eighth Street, Cucamonga. The four juveniles were placed in custody of juvenile authorities for disposition.

Deputies said the injured youth, identified as Elias Vasquez, was treated for stab wounds at San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland and later released. Deputies said that the other youth may also have been stabbed but he refused to cooperate with them for fear of gang retaliation.

Illness delays FBI nominee hearing

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — FBI director-designate Frank M. Johnson Jr. has been ordered by his doctor to get a week to 10 days' bed rest after "overdoing it" preparing for his Senate confirmation hearings.

Today's hearings were postponed by the Senate Judiciary Committee after Johnson, who recently underwent stomach surgery, left Washington Monday complaining of exhaustion. The hearings likely will be delayed until the end of the year, according to the office of Sen. James Allen, D.-Ala.

FBI Director Clarence Kelley, who took office in July, 1973, has announced plans to retire Jan. 1. Johnson, 58, a federal judge in Alabama since 1955, is Carter's choice to succeed him.

In Washington, Atty. Gen. Griffin Bell said the postponement of hearings is "nothing serious."

Johnson was met at the Montgomery airport by his brother, Jimmy, and taken to his physician for an examination.

Dr. J.J. Kirschenfeld said Johnson was "basically in good health" although "some swelling" in the area of the abdominal wall caused "a good deal of discomfort." Kirschenfeld said Johnson "overdid it" during a week of FBI and Justice Department briefings for the hearings.

Kirschenfeld said the problem was not serious enough to require hospitalization, so he ordered the judge to spend the next week to 10 days resting in bed.

Chicken guano power

WEST UNION, Iowa (AP) — Electricity generated from chicken manure is lighting up the henhouse on a northeast Iowa farm.

An Agriculture Department spokesman says waste from the 160,000 chickens contains enough methane gas to provide power to 200 average homes.

The $100,000 experimental operation "is to farming what the Wright brothers' airplane was to flying — a beginning," said one of the developers.

Engraved invitations were sent out, and there were state and USDA officials present for the unveiling of the hen-power setup Monday at the Heying Enterprises Farm. Former Iowa Sen. Hilarius Heying and his family put up half the money for the experiment.

"This is a first," noted Carl Larson, representing the USDA Department of Rural Development. "We in government are interested because we want to see farmers use such farm wastes for the betterment of our country."

Rod Riggs, director of the Iowa State Energy Policy Council, pushed the button that sent electricity from the methane-fired generator into the laying house complex.

He said he hoped the production of methane gas from Iowa's chicken manure could offset the nation's dependence on foreign oil.

Manure, after it ferments, gives off methane gas that can be used to fuel generators.

No one wants poor Columbus

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nineteen years after its removal from the East Front of the Capitol, a controversial statue of Christopher Columbus is still looking for a new home.

"The Discovery," by Luigi Persico, stood outside the East Front for 114 years before it was placed in "temporary" storage during a Capitol renovation.

The marble work portrays Columbus holding a symbolic globe, like a basketball referee ready to throw up the first ball. A scantily clad Indian maiden is at his feet.

The statue became controversial when it was unveiled in 1844. Art critics have panned it and Indians protested the girl's semi-nudity. Defenders said the head of Columbus was taken from an original bust in Spain and could be the best likeness of the explorer in Washington.

Today, it rests at the Smithsonian Institution's storage facility in Suitland, Md. A Smithsonian spokesman, Paul Perrot, said, "There are no present plans for 'The Discovery.'"

He said it might be placed in a museum exhibit in the future.

CONTROVERSIAL COLUMBUS STATUE

Moscow mum on space linkup difficulties

MOSCOW (AP) — No official reason has been given for the inability of two cosmonauts aboard the Soyuz-25 spacecraft to link up with the orbiting space laboratory Salyut-6, the latest in a series of Soyuz-Salyut failures.

The cosmonauts, Lt. Col. Vladimir Kovalenok and flight engineer Valery Ryumin, returned to earth today after 49 hours and 46 minutes aloft. Both men were reported in good health.

Western space experts in Moscow suggested two possible reasons for the aborted mission: that the docking mechanism did not work or, more likely, that the cosmonauts overshot the space lab and didn't have enough fuel for another try.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, reported that Kovalenok and Ryumin ended their first mission in space with a soft landing "in the set area" 450 miles north of the Baikonur space center in central Asia.

The flight was to have been a dramatic celebration of the 20th anniversary of the space age, inaugurated Oct. 4, 1957, by the first manmade earth satellite, the unmanned Soviet Sputnik.

The only Tass comment on the failure Monday was that that there were "some deviations from a planned docking regime."

Lack of a booster rocket powerful enough to lift loads of more than seven tons into space is the crux of the problems with the Soyuz-Salyut program, in the view of Western observers here.

Western experts feel this problem could prove a serious obstacle to the Soviet space program because it is geared to work by cosmonauts aboard orbiting space stations.

Gang war wounds 2

One victim of an apparent street gang clash early Monday in Pomona remained in critical condition today as police investigation of the incident continued.

Steven Robert Herrera, 22, of Chino, reportedly lost one eye in the shooting — a report that physicians at County-USC Medical Center today refused to confirm or deny. Herrera's condition still was termed critical.

A second victim of the clash, Richard Henry Rico, 21, of Pomona, was in the same hospital. He is reported in fair condition. He also was struck in the face by gunfire.

Pomona police reported the shooting broke out when a car driven by Herrera, containing three other Chinoans, ran into a barricade in the street at Hamilton Boulevard and Center Street. The barricade, consisting of cement blocks 18 inches high, apparently had been placed in the street by Pomonans who expected the Chinoans, authorities said.

Police gave this account of the incident:

The Chinoans were driving without headlights when the car ran into the barricades and Herrera was wounded after he left the auto and was moving the blocks.

An exchange of gunfire followed, during which Rico was wounded also. Herrera's companions put him inside their car and left for Pomona Valley Community Hospital. Rico's companions did the same and the two groups arrived at the hospital at about the same time.

While Herrera and Rico were being treated in the emergency room, a fight broke out outside between the two factions, during which the Pomonans broke all the windows of the Chinoans' car with pieces of pipe.

Police arriving at the hospital arrested three men alleged to have been Herrera's companions. They were David Jesus Benites, 20, Antonio Almaguer, 21, and Rudy Gonzales, 22.

Detective E.G. Allsup said this morning that the three suspects remained in jail and he planned to seek complaints against them from the local district attorney's office later today.

TV's Divorce Court Judge Perkins dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Voltaire Perkins, who for more than a decade portrayed the stern but compassionate judge on the television series Divorce Court, has died of an apparent heart attack at age 80.

Perkins' death came Monday at UCLA Medical Center.

A 1921 graduate of USC Law School who practiced in Los Angeles for 45 years, Perkins was best known to millions for his role in the television series.

Perkins, who had earlier pursued a nominal career as an actor, said that Divorce Court allowed him to do the two things he liked best — practice law and act.

Many viewers believed the program was of actual divorce court proceedings.

Country-Western awards

Milsap Entertainer of the Year

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Blind singer Ronnie Milsap is the Country Music Association's Entertainer of the Year and for the third time, its Male Vocalist of the Year. Crystal Gayle, younger sister of country star Loretta Lynn, is this year's CMA top female vocalist.

The CMA also named "Lucille," a song recorded by Kenny Rogers and written by Roger Bowling and Hal Bynum, Song of the Year.

Milsap became the first person to win top male vocalist three times when the CMA handed out its 11th annual awards before a national television audience Monday night.

His album, "Ronnie Milsap Live," was named Album of the Year, making him the show's only triple winner.

Milsap, blind since birth, won the male vocalist title in 1974 and 1976. "I didn't see the faces but I had the chance to feel the electricity and the love. Sometimes you don't have to see," he said.

Miss Gayle, whose sister was a three-time winner, said Miss Lynn "was rooting for me before I won."

Rogers, whose song was also named Single of the Year, has also been successful in popular music.

"In the pop market, you're as good as your last hit," he said. "But in country music, I've seen people without a hit for years who still are big favorites."

Merle Travis, a guitarist-songwriter-singer, became the 30th member of the Country Music Hall of Fame. He is probably best known as a pioneer guitarist and as writer of the classic "Sixteen Tons."

Jim Ed Brown and Helen Cornelius were named top vocal duo; the Statler Brothers won No. 1 vocal group for the sixth straight year; the Original Texas Playboys were chosen top instrumental group, and Roy Clark was Instrumentalist of the Year for the first time in his career.

Neither Dolly Parton, top female vocalist for the past two years, nor Waylon Jennings won awards, although Miss Parton was a finalist for Entertainer of the Year and top female vocalist and Jennings was nominated for five awards — more than anyone else.

Jennings, who was arrested on cocaine charges last month, did not attend the show because he objects to musicians competing for awards. The charges were dismissed last week.

Other finalists for Entertainer of the Year were Jennings, Merle Haggard and Rogers. Larry Gatlin, Jennings, Rogers and Don Williams were the other finalists for No. 1 male vocalist and Emmylou Harris and Barbara Mandrell completed the finalists for top female vocalist.

Joyce Brothers

Women not passive

DEAR DR. JOYCE BROTHERS: As a German-American I'm shocked by the number of women involved in criminal acts in Germany. When I was there in the '20s, I think women wouldn't even have considered any kind of violence. Women were in the home and liked it. What's happening to all the old values we lived by? I don't think it's good for any country when women commit violent acts. I look at my granddaughters and I feel that the changes in women are awful. I worry for them and men today. — L.V.

DEAR L.V.: I'm sure you'd agree that violent behaviour is bad in men as well as women. The rise in female crime in Germany is paralleled in other countries. In the United States recent reports show that the number of women arrested since 1970 had risen three times faster than the number of men. According to Dr. Horst Schueler-Springorum of Muich niesity, a decade ago only 11 to 14 individuals out of 100 convicted for crimes were women. Today, it is estimated that one in three criminals is a woman.

A German woman criminologist, Prof. Freda Adler feels that guns help to equalize the difference in the physical strength of men and women and that this, in part, accounts for the rise among women in crimes involving firearms.

Some feminists feel that women may now be reacting in anger about the roles they've been forced to play for so many years. Women are not by nature passive and I don't know that you can assume women were so satisfied with their earlier roles just because they stayed in the kitchen.

No one wants to see men or women involved in crime, but as women gain more freedom, it can be expected that some will choose criminal careers just as some men have.

DEAR DR. JOYCE BROTHERS: My husband insists that our son enter competitive sports, the kind of "win-or-die" games. Often, after he's lost, the boy has trouble sleeping. My husband feels we live in a highly competitive world and he wants the boy to learn the how-to-succeed game before he's 12, or be well on his way by then. I can't fight my husband on this anymore, but what can I do? I'd like to help my son so he won't grow into a mean, aggressive man who feels cheated unless he's on top of every situation. — C.G.

DEAR C.G.: I think you can help your son by presenting a different point of view that will temper his losses, and at least let him know that all people don't see the world this way. This will help give him perspective and balance. Try to introduce him to some art form, painting, poetry or music, where the individual's concentration is on competing with himself rather than winning over others.

Several studies have indicated that highly competitive sports were psychologically and emotionally damaging to youngsters. However, a University of Vermont psychologist, John Burchard, attempted to measure such side effects by studying 122 Pee Wee hockey players during that state's tournament.

He found that the 11- and 12-year-old players took out their frustrations verbally on themselves and the referees, but not on the opposing players and that there was little difference in aggression among those on the winning and losing teams. He concluded that competitive environment may not be all that disruptive. It does not elicit aggression and hostility per se.

Open house

Gateway House Auxiliary will hold open house Sunday at the house, 1139 N. Gordon St., Pomona, from 2 until 4 p.m.

The auxiliary members will take guests on a tour of the home which has been extensively remodeled, refurnished and carpeted. The Gateway office, which was formerly at the First Presbyterian Church, has been relocated in the Gateway House.

Contributors toward the remodeling project have included Claremont Senior Citizens Club, Griswold's, Soroptimist International of Pomona, Perkin-Elmer Corp. Good neighbor Club, Economy Shop in Claremont, St. Ambrose Episcopal Church, Pomona Emblem Club, United Crusade and many church groups and friends of Gateway.

The house is now home for six girls and their babies in several apartments, an apartment for the house manager and the office.

In charge of arrangements are Rhoda Muter, Dee Bechard, Billie Gray, Audrey Piatt and Jean Rogers.

Regional officer to be guest

The Pomona Valley Ladies' Auxiliary, Fleet Reserve Association will have as a guest the regional president of the auxiliary, Barbara Meredith of San Gabriel Valley Association.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. at the American Legion Hall, 13130 Central Ave., Chino. A no-host dinner will be served at 6 p.m. at the Centro-Basco restaurant.

Shirley Willmuth of Pomona, who attended the national convention in New Orleans, La., will report on the conclave and on the dedication of the Jerry L. Pettis Memorial Veterans Hospital at Loma Linda.

Nutrition group sets gathering

Pomona Valley Chapter, American Nutrition Society, will hear Dr. B. L. Weston discuss "Nutritional Factors which Influence Holistic Health" when the group meets Wednesday at Claremont Library at 7:30 p.m.

SPEED LIMIT 55

In 1975, 9400 fewer people died on our highways than in 1973, when speed limits were over 55.

But we can do better. Because some people still think the 55 speed limit is something they can take or leave. It isn't. It's a law. And it's up to each of us to make sure it gets a real chance to work.

Bizet opera slated

The West End Opera Company will present Bizet's "Carmen" in Spring Auditorium, Ontario, at 8 p.m. Oct. 22. Tickets are on sale at local music stores and at the Spring box office from 7 to 9 p.m. starting Monday.

Among the newcomers to the company are Maris U. Ubans of Glendale, the stage director; Robin L. Reed of Pasadena, Don Jose; Arlene Thomas of Los Angeles, Micaela; Mary Hurzeler of Anaheim, Frasquita; Diane De Paolo of Walnut, Mercedes; Allan Johnson of Corona Del Mar, El Remendado, and Hazel Schubert of La Jolla, understudy for Carmen.

Ubans is professor of theater arts and chairman of the theater arts department at Cal State Los Angeles. He has had a distinguished career in scholarship and teaching, as well as in the production of musical drama at universities in North Carolina and in Illinois and also at Occidental and Pomona colleges. Operas most recently produced by Ubans have been Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro" and Offenbach's "Orpheus in Hell," both at Cal State Los Angeles.

Reed has sung widely in concert in the Los Angeles area, notably as the featured tenor soloist in Orff's "Cartuli Carmina" with the Pasadena Chorale. Miss Thomas has sung with the American Opera Company and with the Beverly Hills Opera Theater. Miss Hurzeler has appeared in "Gianni Schicchi" and "Madame Butterfly" for Lyric Opera, and Miss De Paolo in Cal State Northridge, productions of "Tales of Hoffman," "Marriage of Figaro," "Faust" and others. Johnson has appeared frequently in concert in Southern California, and Miss Schubert has sung a wide variety of mezzo-soprano roles with the Pacific Lyric Theater of San Diego and with numerous other opera groups.

Returning to West End with production assignments are Mario Cajati of Downey, music director and conductor; Donald Brinegar of Claremont, choral director, and Pam Vander Heyden of Claremont, director of the children's chorus. Cajati, who was introduced to American audiences by the legendary Arturo Toscanini, founded the Downey Symphony Orchestra and conducted it for nine years. In 1976-77 he directed West End's productions of "La Boheme" and "Aida." Brinegar, director of vocal music at Claremont High School, prepared the chorus for last year's productions, and Pam Vander Heyden trained the children who appeared in these productions.

West End audiences are already familiar with many of the principals in this year's "Carmen." Sallyanne Bachman of Corona, who sings the title role of the seductive and tempestuous cigarette girl, was the Amneris in last spring's "Aida." She is currently preparing the role of Preziosilla in "La Forza del Destino" for a Southern California performance, and will shortly go to New York to sing for her friend, the noted diva Rise Stevens. Silvio Barto, Escamillo, will appear for the seventh season with the local company, having most recently sung the role of Marcello in "La Boheme." Ryan Allen of Burbank, Zuniga, and Jean Paul Lavoie of Ontario, Morales, have participated frequently in West End productions, Allen most recently as Colline in "La Boheme" and Lavoie in a variety of choral and comprimario roles since 1968. Donald Bowers of Upland, El Dancairo, has also appeared as featured soloist with the West End Symphony.

ALL THAT JAZZ — The Gus Giordano Jazz Dance Company will perform in Gymnasium 3 at Mt. San Antonio College at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. The program will include tap, rock, ballet and modern dance.

Jazz dance concert

The Gus Giordano Jazz Dance Company will perform in Gymnasium 3 at Mt. San Antonio College at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. Tickets are $4 general admission, $2 for students.

Jazz dance pioneer Giordano will take the audience through narrative performances describing jazz dance and social commentary from the 1900s to the 1970s. Although the repertoire is mainly American jazz, from tap to rock, modern dance and ballet will also be included.

The program has been designed to appeal to all audiences and includes a great variety of expressions and mood characteristics of American jazz music and jazz dance.

Giordano has toured his American product throughout the world and in 1974 was the guest of the USSR Cultural Exchange Program.

West End firemen host demonstrations

Safety demonstrations, school tours and classroom presentations are planned this week by West End fire departments in observance of Fire Prevention Week.

Chino firemen will present safety demonstrations from 4 to 5:30 p.m. at these locations: today, Country Fair, Philadelphia Street and Central Avenue; Wednesday, Alpha Beta market, Central Avenue and Walnut Street; Thursday, Stater Bros. market, Philadelphia Street and Mountain Avenue; and Friday, Alpha Beta market, Glenmeade.

They will also have a demonstration Saturday, 1 to 2 p.m., at the City Hall complex, Central Avenue and D Street.

Montclair firemen will visit various schools during the week to display firefighting equipment and talk to students about fire safety.

Ontario firemen will also go to various schools to present fire prevention tips and discuss the usefulness of smoke detectors.

They will also have safety classes for local merchants, businessmen and their employees.

For information about classroom presentations, persons may phone 986-4579.

Tours of fire stations will be held for various groups.

The Foothill Fire Prevention District and Upland Fire Department will also have tours and other presentations.

On campus

"The Rise of the Nazi State: Prelude to Genocide," will be discussed by a panel at PITZER COLLEGE tonight at 7 p.m. in Avery Auditorium.

First of a three part film and discussion series concerning "The Holocaust and Its Meaning," the event is cosponsored by Pitzer College and the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith.

"The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich, Parts I and II", will be the featured film.

Next in the series will be "The Extermination Program" on Oct. 18, and "Problems of Responsibility: Past, Present and Future," Oct. 25.

All events are free and open to the public. For more information, persons may call 626-8511, ext. 3145.

The Oldenborg Center of POMONA COLLEGE will feature a talk by Colin Jackson, British Parliament member, on Thursday, as part of the Center's International Relations Colloquium.

Luncheon in the center's south dining room will be served at 11:45 a.m., followed by Jackson's talk at 12:30 p.m. The colloquium events are open to the public. There is a charge for lunch to those who do not hold meal tickets.

Overalls and paint-spattered jeans will be the style of the day when LA VERNE COLLEGE holds its semiannual "Build La Verne" day on Wendesday.

Students, faculty, staff and administrators work to beautify the building and grounds of the campus. The first "Build La Verne" day was initiated by President Armen Sarafian in 1976. Results were so favorable the program has continued each semester since.

The first event of the day has traditionally become the forming of a "human chain" to sweep the entire campus from one end to the other. Following the campus sweep, workers break into teams to begin varius campus projects.

The Office of Continuing Education, CAL POLY POMONA, has scheduled the course "The Examined Life: An Introduction to Creative Journal Keeping" as a weekend offering.

Meeting times are scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 15, and Sunday Oct. 22, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Cal Poly library.

The course is a study on the use of journal keeping for personal growth based on the intensive journal method of Ira Progoff. It provides students with a flexible yet systematic way of examing their lives and of deepening their emotional, intellectual and spiritual experience.

Tuition fee is $47 for two units of university credit in English.

Registration and tuition will be accepted at the first meeting. For further information, persons may call 598-4391.

"Achievement Motivation: A Key to Management" is the subject of a seminar to be held at Kellogg West Center for Continuing Education at CAL POLY POMONA on Saturday.

The seminar will assess the motivational styles of participants and then provide planned learning experiences to increase their managerial effectiveness in a selective range of exercises and activities.

The seminar is scheduled from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., with registration at 8:30 a.m. The $38 fee includes lunch at Kellogg West, all instructional materials, parking and refreshment breaks. Persons may call 595-7511, ext. 272 for further information or to register.

Tom Hayden, journalist, author and teacher will make two appearances Thursday, one at POMONA COLLEGE at 11 a.m. in Bridges Hall of Music and at LA VERNE COLLEGE'S La Fetra Hall at 3 p.m.

Hayden is involved in a speaking tour across the U.S. His topic Thursday is "Making the Future Ours."

Both appearances are open to the public free of charge. In addition to his appearance in Bridges Hall, Hayden will be interviewed on the Pomona College radio station, KSPC, 88.7 FM, on Thursday beginning at 7 p.m. Listeners may call in questions for him throughout the show.

Hayden's involvement in politics and current events originated with the civil rights movement of the early 1960s. In 1967 Hayden served as intermediary in the first release of American POW's. He testified at the Pentagon Papers trial as an expert witness on negotiations that occurred during the Vietnam conflict.

Colin Jackson, British Parliament member, will speak Tuesday in LA VERNE COLLEGE'S President's Dining Room.

He will lecture on "The World in Crisis — A View From the House of Commons."

Jackson, a lecturer, writer and commentator on world affairs, has spent his last 20 years traversing the globe, speaking to a wide variety of audiences. Japan, India, South America, Europe, the Middle East, Britain and the U.S. are regular stopovers on his broad itinerary.

A graduate of St. John's College, Oxford, Jackson entered Parliment in 1964. He is chairman of the Government's Foreign Affairs Group. This is his 12th visit to the LVC campus. All interested persons are welcome to attend.

Civic Center lot expanded in Ontario

An additional 17 parking spaces will soon be added to the newly opened Ontario Civic Center.

These will be used by handicapped persons, county supervisors Joseph Kamansky and Robert Townsend, their staff members and visitors.

Initially, disabled veterans had sought parking spaces for the handicapped that would provide easier access to the veteran affairs office in the large complex.

An apparent planning oversight had made access to these offices by persons in wheelchairs quite difficult.

During discussions, Kamansky said building just four or five handicapped parking stalls was "uneconomical" and requested the additional spaces be provided for the supervisors.

This was opposed, however, by Ontario city planners since it would require removing a recently landscaped area in the Civic Center and reduce the amount of park area and landscaped open space.

But Kamansky's argument prevailed, with both the Ontario City Council and county Board of Supervisors approving a request for the additional parking spaces. The cost will be about $20,000.

PATRICIA A. KILLIANY, daughter of Mrs. Marion McCarty, 651 N. Casell Ave., Pomona, has been especially identified for early promotion to senior airman in the Air Force. She is an air traffic controller with a unit of the Air Force Communications Service at Altus AFB, Okla. She is a 1968 Ganesha High graduate.

Market activity

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks headed lower Tuesday in slow trading. Investors were disturbed by reports the Federal Reserve Board is expecting a large rise in the nation's money supply.

Also hindering the market was speculation that banks would raise their prime lending rate to 7¾ per cent, following last week's quarter-point jump to 7½ per cent. This could put a crimp in business expansion programs.

Investors were dismayed further that Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal said President Carter hasn't made up his mind "on any of the issues" that would be involved in his pending "tax reform" program.

As a result, the Dow Jones industrial average, which slipped 0.09 point Monday, was off 2.60 points to 837.66 shortly before noon EDT.

Declines led declines, 650 to 430, among the 1,595 issues crossing the tape. The 515 unchanged issues reflected considerable investor uncertainty about the course of the market.

New York Stock Exchange volume at the two-hour mark amounted to about 6,900,000 shares, up from the 4,570,000 traded during the comparable period Monday, the slowest session since Jan. 2, 1976.

Alcon Laboratories, a 2¾point winner the past two sessions, was the most active NYSE issue, up another ⅛ to 28¼. The firm last week revealed it has been contacted by several companies interested in a takeover. Citicorp was the second most active issue, off ¾ to 22⅞. PepsiCo was third, up ⅛ to 25⅞.

Blue-chip International Paper was off ⅜ after the firm reported third-quarter earnings of $1.33 a share, compared with $1.29 a year ago.

Prices were mixed in moderate trading of American Stock Exchange issues. Incoterm A stock was the most active issue, up ¼ to 15¾. Canadian International Power A stock was second, up ⅛ to 20⅜. Flagstaff was third, up ¼ to 5¼.

Gas company selling bonds

LOS ANGELES (BW) — Southern California Gas Co. filed an application with the California Public Utilities Commission (CPUC) for permission to issue and sell up to $50 million in first mortgage bonds.

Subject to CPUC approval, sale of the bonds by competitive bidding will take place on or about Oct. 11. A registration statement is scheduled to be filed with the Securities & Exchange Commission on Sept. 14.

Proceeds from the sale of $50 million in bonds will be used by the gas company for construction and development of its facilities and to meet sinking fund requirements.

Southern California Gas owns and operates distribution, transmission and underground storage facilities in Southern and Central California. It directly serves more than 13 million persons and supplies gas at wholesale rates to San Diego Gas & Electric Co. and the Long Beach municipal gas department.

Over-the-counter stock prices

Los Angeles (UPI) Over-the-counter quotations supplied by the National Association of Securities Dealers, are bids and offers quoted by over-the-counter dealers to each other; the quotations do not include retail markup, mark down or commission; and do not represent actual transactions.

Amtrak unveils expansion plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amtrak on Monday unveiled a five-year plan calling for purchase of new railroad passenger cars and locomotives and modernization of key stations and facilities at a cost of more than $4.5 billion.

It also proposed a complete restudy of Amtrak's national route system, the first major review since the government-subsidized rail passenger corporation was formed in 1971.

The package was submitted to the White House and Congress, both of which must give approval.

In the 177-page document, Amtrak projected a 28.8 per cent growth in passengers it will carry — from 18.6 million in 1976 to 26 million in 1982. In the same period, revenue is expected to increase from $287.5 million to $482 million.

New equipment to be purchased under the plan includes 353 new passenger cars, 15 diesel locomotives, 53 high-speed electric locomotives for use on the Northeast corridor between Boston and Washington and six electric switching locomotives for New York City rail yard operations. Improvements would be made to scores of existing units.

Amtrak also proposed to establish a mothball fleet of up to 200 cars and 30 locomotives for use in periods like the 1974 energy crisis when there was a sudden surge of passengers that taxed Amtrak facilities.

The plan examines the possibility of expanding routes and recommends an increase from three to six daily round trips between Chicago and Detroit and an increase from five to seven daily round trips between Los Angeles and San Diego.

It also considers added frequency on these currently operated routes: Los Angeles-San Francisco Bay area; Chicago-Memphis-Jackson, Miss., and Chicago-Fort Wayne, Canton, Ohio-Pittsburgh.

Of 24 possible new routes studied, Amtrak found six with a high potential for success: Atlanta-Montgomery-Mobile- New Orleans; Kansas City-Denver; Pittsburgh-Youngstown-Cleveland; Cincinnati-Dayton-Columbus, Ohio; Boston-Springfield, Mass.-New Haven; and Grand Forks, N.D.-Winnipeg, Alberta, Canada.

Under the plan, new stations would be built at Altoona, Pa.; Auburn, Wash; Baltimore-Washington International Airport, Md.; Buffalo, N.Y.; Charlottesville, Va.; Dearborn, Mich.; El Paso, Tex.; Hampton Roads, Va.; Jackson, Miss.; Memphis, Tenn.; Niagara Falls, N.Y.; San Antonio, Tex. and Tampa, Fla.

Improvements would be made to several other stations, and Amtrak is considering building suburban stations in Buffalo and Syracuse, N.Y.; Pittsburgh, Los Angeles and in an area east of Chicago.

When the boss doesn't retire at 65, it can cause problems

NEW YORK (AP) — When the cork stays in the bottle, which is to say when the boss stays beyond his expected retirement date, the dissatisfaction among ambitious managers below him spreads like a disease.

And now that mandatory retirement at age 65 is increasingly considered discriminatory, that disease might plague American corporations, causing them to lose some of their best managers and embittering others.

"Every time a chief executive leaves his position, 8 to 10 per cent of managers below typically receive changes in assignments as well as salary adjustments," Eugene Jennings, a management authority, points out.

"If the chief executive stays two years longer than the old mandatory retirement age, more managers who were just midly distirbed before are unhappy. At three years there's a management exodus."

Jennings, management professor at Michigan State University, has spent three decades studying the corporation. He has authored many books on the subject and is a confidential adviser to corporate chairmen and presidents.

"If the chief executive stays five years longer than the existing mandatory retirement age one can see the possibility of hundreds if not thousands of executives have their hopes dashed on the corporate wall," he said.

"In the 500 largest industrial corporations, for example, 35,000 managerial personnel would be reduced to the condition of uncertainty, leading possibly to unhappiness and dissatisfaction.'

The ripple effect of just one person declining to retire when expected is sometimes overlooked by those studying the impact of delayed retirements, Jennings feels. But that effect cannot be isolated, he observed.

In one corporation of 250,000 employes and 15,000 managers, he said, the retirement of the chief executive meant reassignments for more than 1,700 employes. Had the top man not left, many of those managers might have.

"Usually I have noted that among 100 candidates for president or chairman, 15 per cent will leave to make it elsewhere," regardless of retirement policy. "But when the chief executive stays on, another 10 per cent or so will leave," he said.

"This means that when the chief executive stays, the quit rate among eligibles is close to 25 per cent, depending on how long he stays," said Jennings, adding:

"As long as the candidates can expect the chief to retire they can deal with the problem of making it or not. But add the uncertainty about retirement and it becomes too much. They look elsewhere."

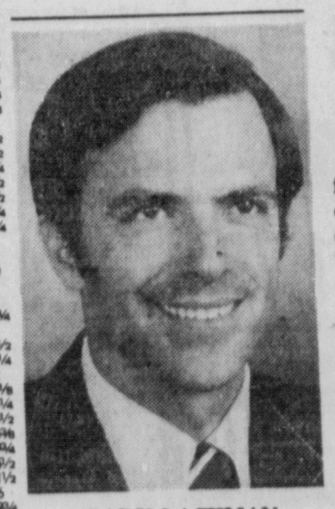
The problem for the individual in such cases is the possible loss of what they feel is life's biggest prize. Candidates for the top jobs are aware that the "window ages," where they are observed, is 45-50 for president, and 51-56 for chairman.

They understand, said Jennings, that they must get their faces in the window at these ages. And if the top man stays, they either pass the window and out of the picture, or they transfer while they have the time.

The stress and perhaps chaos in their lives is matched at the corporate level, where "in companies where the plug stays in an indeterminate time, the candidates left are relatively old or very young."

When the frustrated manager moves to another company, he sometimes does so only on the assurance that he can be a viable candidate. But if the top man there also stays on, "it might increase dissatisfaction with the whole system."

Recognizing that the problem is personal, societal, corporate and economic, and that defenses can be argued for both early and late retirements, Jennings made no attempt during the interview to defend one position or another.



GARY LACHMAN

Rain Bird appoints new V.P.

Gary Lachman has been named Vice President of Marketing for Rain Bird Sprinkler Manufacturing Corp. in Glendora.

In his new position, Lachman will be responsible for all domestic market planning, development sales for the firm's Agriculture, Turf and Consumer Products divisions.

"The U.S. irrigation equipment market is growing in size and complexity at an unprecedented rate," Lachman said, "and it is our intention to maintain a leadership position with increased emphasis on customer services, product development, and field strength."

Lachman lives in Glendora with his wife and two children.

Financial outlook conference at CMC

"The Two-Year Outlook for U.S. and World Financial Markets" is the theme of an all-day conference Thursday by the Applied Financial Economics Center (AFEC) of Claremont Men's College.

The conference, attended by California businessmen, bankers and financial executives, will focus on the practical problems of people who make financial decisions. The event will begin at 9 a.m. in Bauer Center.

Economists and political scientists from the AREC staff will lead discussions on politics, U.S. International economic policy, and exchange rate forecasting, and the center's forecast of economic and financial developments for the next two years. They include A. James Meigs, AFEC director who is on a year's leave of absence from college teaching to study the world's financial systems; John Rutledge, acting director of AFEC; Richard Sweeney, senior research associate of AFEC; Thomas Willett, Horton Professor of Economics; and Ward Elliott, associate professor of political science.

In addition, a group of visitors will lead discussions on particular problems of financial institutions. Phillip Zachary, president of the Community National Bank in Bakersfield will discuss financial futures markets; Lional Kalish III, associate professor of Cal State Fullerton, will discuss strategies for dynamic portfolio management; Donald Kaplan, director of the office of research of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, Washington, D.C., will report the results of research on alternative mortgage instruments; and Mark Riedy, vice president and chief economist of the Federal Home Loan Bank of San Francisco, will present the outlook for housing markets in 1978.

Committee to find Cal Poly president named

Formation of a Presidential Selection Advisory Committee for Cal Poly Pomona, was announced by Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke.

The committee will advise Dumke regarding candidates for the Pomona presidency prior to the chancellor presenting his recommendations to the board of trustees.

President Robert C. Kramer ended a 12-year Cal Poly career last summer to become agriculture program officer for the W.K. Kellogg Foundation in Michigan. Dr. Hugh O. LaBounty Jr. is serving as the campus' acting president.

The committee includes Norman Williamson Jr. of Claremont, community representative; David E. Cole of Glendora, chairman of the Cal Poly Faculty Senate and professor of agricultural business management; Dr. Ruth M. Harmer of Eagle Rock, professor of English and modern languages; Dr. Richard J. Hermsen of Claremont, chairman of the Electrical and Electronics Engineering Department, representing the Cal Poly faculty; Judy D. Gamble of San Dimas, chairman of the Cal Poly Staff Council and administrative aide in the School of Engineering, representing the Cal Poly Staff; and David Uguchi of Montebello. past president of Cal Poly's Associated Students, representing the students.

The committee is authorized to interview and screen candidates as a preliminary to Dumke recommending two or more nominees for consideration by the trustees.

County suing state over elderly costs

San Bernardino County officials will seek court action to force the state to reimburse administrative costs for a program that provides housekeeping services for the elderly, disabled and blind.

Fred Thies, county welfare director, told county supervisors he believes the law requires the state to pay 25 per cent of all costs.

But since 1974, the county has had to pay $179,434 in administrative costs the state should have paid, he claimed. Several other counties, including Los Angeles and Orange, are seeking similar legal actions against the state, said Thies.

The housekeeping program, called In-Home Supportive Services, is financed by the state and federal governments.

While the state does pay its share of costs for most of the program, it does not reimburse the county for administrative costs in performing state-mandated eligibility determinations, need assessments and reassessments, he reported.

Should the legal action be successful, the county could save close to $60,000 during the current fiscal year, he noted.

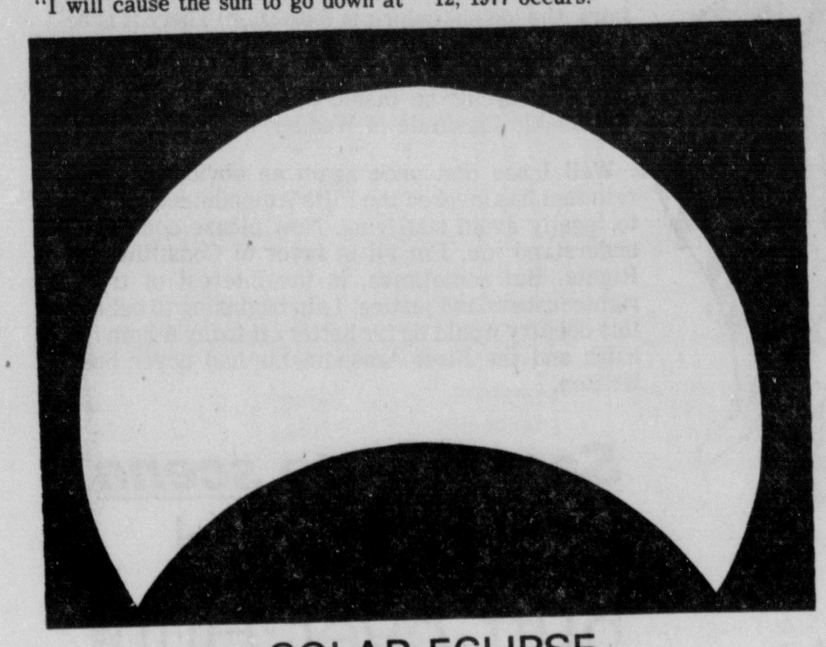
Eclipse will 'darken the Earth in the clear day'

By DAN NIEBRUGGE
PB Staff Writer

In the Bible's book of Amos, chapter eight, verse nine, it states, "I will cause the sun to go down at noon, and I will darken the Earth in the clear day."

So it will be on Wednesday in the valley when the solar eclipse of Oct. 12, 1977 occurs.



SOLAR ECLIPSE
Maximum phase 1:15 p.m.

Here, unfortunately, it won't be at noon and it won't be total. In fact, to see the eclipse at its best one would have to — as hundreds of scientists will — be sitting aboard a ship about 1,200 miles west of Colomubia, South America.

Locally, viewers will see a 47 per cent eclipse, reaching its greatest proportion about 1:15 p.m. Wednesday. From the valley angle, the sun will form a rather large crescent with the moon moving across and blotting out its lower half.

Though partial here, the total eclipse will be visible in a path across the Pacific Ocean west of Mexico, reaching the coast of Colombia shortly before sunset. Some U.S. astronomers are going to a site north of Bogota to be in the path of totality, which then extends into Venezuela, but with the sun extremely low in the sky.

Of course, one should take note of the usual reminders about eye care when looking into the sun. Physicist Robert Chambers of Pomona College notes the two safe ways to view the eclipse while also eclipsing the need for any expensive astronomical paraphernalia are the pinhole cardboard viewer and the folded and exposed (totally black) sheets of black and white picture film.

The pinhole simply requires two pieces of cardboard, one of which has been perforated in the center. With your back to the sun, hold the sheet with the hole up so the sunlight may pass through the hole and reflect on the other sheet. The image of the eclipse should be reflected.

Chambers said smoked glass works well provided the layer of carbon is good and thick and provides protection from the sun's more harmful elements.

The fascination man has for eclipses has not lapsed in the thousands of years since they first were witnessed. Aside from Biblical notations, they are also recorded among the ancient Greeks and Romans with Homer mentioning one in the Odyssey.

During eclipses, birds have been seen to go to roost, squirrels and woodchucks have prepared for sleep and, in the springtime, tree frogs have begun to croak.

Today, says Chambers, appreciation is just as great, though somewhat more sophisticated.

The last really major total eclipse in Kenya in 1973 drew scientists from throughout the world with no fewer than 300 individual experiments performed.

But all those scientists don't go out for the fun of it. Among studies surely to be considered Wednesday will be views of the sun's light spectrum

Hundreds of scientific tests done

in the corona to determine the kinds of gases in the sun, the amount of heat generated and the areas from which the heat comes.

"The sun is hotter in some areas than in others," says Chambers.

Also to be studied will be the sun's coronal region itself; the area where the matter burned by the sun is spewed out into space. These studies can have a significant impact on radio and radar communications, says Chambers.

Also to be conducted will be experiments in observing the positions of stars during the eclipse. This particular job will take six months, as scientists will view stars during the eclipse and six months from now to determine what impact the sun's gravity has on bending the light from far distant stars.

In performing such a study, says Chambers, it is important that one's equipment not be moved from the spot of the original sighting.

"Often that's more difficult than taking the measurements," he said.

The next total eclipse in North America will be Feb. 29, 1979 when the path of totality will sweep through Oregon, Washington and Idaho into Canada. It will be 30 years — 2007 — before the next total eclipse passes through the central part of the nation. In 2024, New York City will get a real blackout when the path of totality travels right down Broadway.

Caused by the moon simply passing between the earth and sun, eclipses occur at least twice a year and sometimes as often as five times a year, though they are not always total.

Wednesday's eclipse should begin at approximately 11:58 a.m. and conclude by 2:38 p.m. with its maximum phase about 1:15 p.m.

Hunting ban argued for Big Bear Valley

By BOB SWETNAM
PB Staff Writer

A proposal to ban the firing of shotguns in the resort area of Big Bear Valley because of danger and nuisance to residents was defeated on a split-vote by San Bernardino County supervisors Monday.

Hunters and wildlife lovers argued the pros and cons of the proposed ban that, if successful, would have stopped water-fowl hunting at the popular resort area.

Supervisors Robert Hammock of San Bernardino and Dennis Hansberger of Yucaipa refused to totally ban duck hunting at Big Bear, but indicated they will support a ban for most of the area next week.

For local hunters, it may mean going somewhere other than popular Big Bear Lake to shoot ducks.

The primary issue before the supervisors Monday was how much of the area should be put off-limits to hunters.

Population growth at Big Bear in recent years has changed the area from rural to urban, residents claimed.

Shotgun hunting, presently allowed in close proximity to homes, is incompatable with the wishes of the vast majority of residents, they said.

Supervisor James Mayfield, who represents the Big Bear residents, proposed completely banning the firing of shotguns — and thus hunting — from the 12-mile long, 2-mile wide valley.

He said sentiment was "90 per cent in favor" of completely outlawing the discharge of firearms in the area.

Firing of high-power rifles and other guns is already prohibited in most of the valley but shotgun use is presently unregulated by local ordinance.

Mayfield claimed risks and dangers of allowing continued duck hunting in the area were too great. He also said most residents were opposed to hunting in the area because of the noise nuisance caused by shotgun blasts.

He pleaded for supervisors to support his motion to outlaw shotgun firing in the valley, but received unqualified support from only one.

Supervisor Joseph Kamansky of Upland supported such a ban. He said residents should not be required to live with noise nuisances and accident dangers around them. "We should not have shotgun shooting in the urban areas of Big Bear Lake or any other areas where people live," he said.

In supporting a total shotgun ban, the two supervisors went against a proposal by the county fish and game commission which had earlier hammered out a compromise between hunters and officials from a wildlife group, the Organization of Wildlife Lovers (OWL).

Tony Linza of Chino, who chairs the commission, recommended supervisors only outlaw shotgun shooting on Big Bear Lake and the shore area surrounding it.

He opposed a total ban in the valley because he said there were no safety reasons to justify it. "There has never been a report of injuries related to shotgun discharges in Big Bear Valley," he said.

Linza said state laws might conflict with a total shotgun ban in the area. He said a similar case in Burbank had been deemed illegal by the state attorney general's office.

"I feel that to close the whole valley (to shotgun use) would be in conflict with the attorney general's opinion," he said.

A spokesman for the California Department of Fish and Game, Lt. Glen Moore, said he was "confused" over the proposed ban since it appeared to conflict with state law.

"We do not concur with the necessity of closing the entire lake to shotgun discharge," he said.

Most of the hunters testifying Monday agreed.

Dernis Riley, a hunter, said supervisors should consider setting aside special areas for duck hunters in the valley. "Why eliminate it (hunting) completely," he said.

Jim Hall, president of the Big Bear Valley Sportsmans Club — which has opposed the ordinance all along, said that there had never been any reported injuries from hunting at Big Bear and questioned why the entire area was considered for closure.

On the other hand, several supporters of the ban said hunting was dangerous and a nuisance.

"We live in a very narrow ecologically fragile valley," said John Joiner a Big Bear Valley resident. "Noise travels in that valley as if it were a drum."

Supervisors said they will make a final decision on the proposed ban next Monday at their regular meeting. If an urgency measure is adopted then, it would likely greatly affect the opening of duck hunting season, which starts in late October and runs till January.

Big Bear has traditionallly been one of the prime duck hunting locales in Southern California.

BATS OVER BASEBALL

Hundreds of baseball fans lined up Monday both here, at Ticketron's agency at the Montclair Plaza's Montgomery Ward store, and elsewhere throughout the Southland to purchase tickets to games of the 1977 World Series to be played at Dodger Stadium. Hundreds were turned away without tickets as the sellout was complete by noon.

Series mania leaves hundreds disappointed

Hundreds of valley baseball fans were among the many thousands disappointed Monday when tickets to the 1977 World Series were sold out by noon.

Among the most disappointed was Bill McGarry, part owner of the Guitar Store in Pomona, one of the valley's Mutual Ticket Agencies.

"It was like a madhouse in here all morning," said McGarry. "Nearly all the tickets went to Ticketron with Mutual getting only 200 tickets for all of its Los Angeles agencies."

McGarry said he wasn't able to reach the Mutual office downtown until 12:15 p.m. Monday and by then all the tickets were gone.

"I haven't even been able to go to a playoff game or a World Series game yet myself," said McGarry, "and that's supposed to be part of the benefits of having a ticket agency in your own store."

Aside from the throngs, the frustration and the constant ringing of the phone by persons asking about the possiblity of finding tickets, McGarry was unable to obtain tickets for any of the better than a hundred persons who showed up.

Fans were only slightly less disappointed at other outlets. Two Ticketron outlets at the Montclair Plaza in the Montgomery Ward and Broadway stores managed to sell about 125 tickets each, but ended up turning away over a thousand fans when tickets were sold out.

Store managers were forced to occupy themselves more with crowd control than store operation and also to hold up under the pressure of the dirty looks from unsatisfied fans.

One ticket agency worker requested that her name not be used in the paper because, "I made an awful lot of people unhappy today."

While Mutual received only 200 tickets to all three games next weekend at Dodger Starium, Ticketron was given about 5,000 tickets per game for the three Series contests in Los Angeles.

No tickets were to be sold at Dodger Stadium and all seats for Friday, Saturday and Sunday games will be reserved. Tickets were priced from $8 to $15.

Fair splits up record bet handle

By GEORGE MacLAREN
PB Staff Writer

The 1977 Los Angeles County Fair enjoyed its fourth highest attendance in history and horse bettors wagered an all-time record amount, but the fair isn't going to become rich from the proceeds, fair Secretary-Manager Phil D. Shepherd has stressed.

He explained that the $20,793,823 wagered by 191,723 bettors during the fair's 14-day meet will not go to the fair association, but is sliced up.

The state receives 5.25 percent and the bettors 84 percent. The fair takes the remainder and gives 52 percent to the horse owners.

The association will use its share, Shepherd said, to pay the racing payroll and maintain the track as well as improve the facilities, such as install new betting windows.

Shepherd saidthe huge handle indicates the state of the economy is improving.

As to the 1,249,010 visitors to the 50th fair, Shepherd explained that the city of Pomona will benefit from the 10 percent admission tax, 10 percent of the parking fees, and two cents per ride in the Fun Zone.

He noted the association pays for the services of the local police and fire departments as well as for city trash disposal.

"The police should be commended for their posture during the fair," Shepherd said.

Other than the usual routine matters, there was not a major disturbance at the fair this year.

Shepherd said the fair association uses all the money it gets for upkeep of the grounds and buildings and for new structures, such as the $600,000 all-steel horse barn used for the recent fair.

Shepherd said that he will be around for the 1978 fair, which will be his last.

He explained he will turn 65 in May, and the fair association's pension policy is geared to a person's retiring at 65.

"Oct. 15, 1978 will be my swan song," he said.

Shepherd will continue after retirement as a member of the fair board. He became secretary-manager in 1960, and has worked 17 fairs.

He has been active in the Western Fairs Association and the International Association of Fairs and Expositions.

Fundamental school discussed in Chino

Should a fundamental school be established in Chino?

The issue will be open for debate tonight when the Chino school board considers the proposed "basics" school for the year 1978-79.

Board members, who will meet at 7 p.m. in the district offices, 5130 Riverside Drive, are being asked for a decision on the controversial school. Supt. Duane Stiff indicates the issue has been discussed for a long time and should be resolved.

A parent attitude survey conducted in the 1975-76 school year showed 31 per cent of the parents favored the fundamental school concept.

Trustees said at that time, however, that they were in no hurry to form the separate school which emphasizes basic education (reading, writing and math), strict discipline, patriotism and a dress code.

Board members tonight also will consider approving guidelines for implementing a designated smoking area at Chino High School. The action would be a followup to the board meeting two weeks ago when trustees gave the go-ahead on a 3-2 vote to permitting the smoking area.

Chino Council supports bond

The Chino City Council has given its unanimous support for passage of a $3 million park bond issue next month.

The city is seeking approval of a $3 million bond issue to finance construction of five parks in Chino and acquire a 30-acre community park, lights for Don Lugo High School, 14 lighted tennis courts, and outdoor recreation facilities for senior citizens.

Should the bond issue pass, property taxes will increase 25 cents per $100 assessed valuation. The owner of a $50,000 home will pay $23 more per year.

City Council members recently signed the ballot argument for the bond issue. It states: "The construction of these (park) improvements will enable Chino residents to enjoy neighborhood recreation activities on supervised, well planned parks."

Back to school

The Alta Loma Junior High School annual "back-to-school" night will be held Thursday, Oct. 20.

Beginning at 7:30 p.m., the staff will welcome parents to the campus.

Prior to the program, the PTA and student government will sponsor a spaghetti dinner for the families and friends of the students. The spaghetti, from Vince's Spaghetti in Ontario, will be served from 6 to 7:30 p.m. The cost will be $1.50 and will include spaghetti, salad, garlic bread and a soft drink.

Liberty for some or all?

One of the major threats to religious liberty today is the complacency of the American people in the face of government encroachment. So says Andrew Leigh Gunn, executive director of Americans United for Separation of Church and State.

In a recent interview, he cited a number of ways the state — chiefly the federal government — is undermining that historic "wall" between it and the church(es): The National Labor Relations Board, for example, telling the Catholic Church it must bargain with teachers unions in parochial schools, or the channeling of federal funds through churches to build hospitals or retirement homes.

It's hard to dispel the complacency precisely because so much of the encroachment is for socially desirable ends. Now if federal agents were to physically invade a church as if it were some kind of speakeasy, the breach in the "wall" would be obvious for all to see.

The strange thing is that this actually happened last July, when FBI agents armed with sledgehammers, power saws and crowbars, swooped down on the Church of Scientology in Washington, D.C., and Los Angeles in search of documents allegedly stolen from extensive government files amassed during years of scrutiny of Scientology.

The warrant for the raid was later declared to b e improper by a federal judge and so vague as to be a violation of the Fourth Amendment's guarantee against unreasonable searches and seizures.

Back in 1963, the Church of Scientology in Washington had again been the target of federal intrusion when the Food and Drug Administration confiscated the church's "E-meters" — electronic devices used in counseling sessions — claiming they were being advertised for the treatment of diseases. The Scientologists eventually won this battle with government also.

Since it was founded in 1954, Scientology has gradually won recognition by numerous courts and government agencies, including the Internal Revenue Service, as a bonafide religion whose doctrines are based on a mixture of religious philosophies. Nondenominational and open to people of all faiths, Scientology currently claims membership of more than three million in this country.

It would seem that the FBI should have something better to do in 1977 than harass a religious organization whose danger to society — if any -- has never been demonstrated.

World opinion on Canal

Dear Editor:

I read your very interesting article on public opinion as regards the Panama Canal Treaty. Public opinion, of course, meant foreign public opinion. United States public opinion being generally adverse can be ignored.

We haven't had much luck trying to buy world opinion. The rabble-rousers think we don't do enough. Generally we're well thought of, though considered slightly stupid. Our public debt attests for our efforts.

The Panamaniacs obviously consider the canal a gold mine. The Suez is a classic example of what can go wrong in such a deal. It is unlikely Panama could dredge too much from United States shippers. Competition of alternate routes would limit fees. As is, Uncle Sam is picking up 73 percent of the tab for subsidized shipping. South and Central American countries are hardly likely to rejoice in the greatly augmented charges.

If we are interested in retaining healthy world opinion, any decision should not be influenced by such factors as defensibility lest we be considered the paper tiger we are.

School meal program ignored

WASHINGTON — Across America, millions of children arrive at school in the mornings hungry. Yet the nation's underfed school children are entitled by law to government-subsidized breakfasts.

The absence of a wholesome morning meal, doctors warn, can have grave consequences for young children. Hungry youngsters simply cannot function in the classroom as effectively as those who get their nourishment. One seven-year-old summed up the problem with touching simplicity: "I get a headache that hurts when I don't eat in the morning."

Congress created a nationwide school breakfast program more than a decade ago. The implementation was left to the Agriculture Department, which is more devoted to the cause of agricultural empires than hungry children. The department's lackadaisical bureaucrats would rather pass out subsidies to farmers, therefore, than food to impoverished youngsters.

This attitude is exemplified by an Agriculture official who was questioned about the breakfast program during a legal proceeding. He was asked for a "reasonable" estimate of how long it would take to make breakfasts available to every school.

"I suppose," he said, "two generations ought to come close to reflecting the congressional intent." The flabbergasted attorney demanded: "Could it be done any faster than, say, 50 years from now?" Replied the bureaucrat: "I don't know. I can't comment on that. I don't know."

Thus 11 years after the Agriculture Department was supposed to start providing school children with subsidized breakfasts, only 18 percent of the nation's schools now offer a breakfast program.

The effects of morning hunger are familiar to teachers throughout the country: listless, apathetic children who don't pay attention, who sometimes fall asleep at their desks, who complain about headaches, dizziness and stomachaches.

Parents and teachers alike have tried to disentangle the feeding of children from the bureaucratic snarl. But the plight of hungry children has received little attention in the Agriculture Department. Now the Food Research and Action Center (FRAC), dedicated to waging war against hunger, is taking the issue to court.

The group is preparing a huge, class-action lawsuit against the Agriculture Department for neglecting the breakfast programs. The evidence has already been extracted from officials in sworn depositions. We have examined some of the findings, which have been held back from the press. Here are the startling highlights:

— Some 14 million children in the United States are eligible for breakfasts free of charge or at reduced prices. Yet the breakfasts were available only to a scant 5 percent of these needy children in 1971, less than 10 percent in 1972. At the present rate, it would take 46 years to provide breakfast to every impoverished child. Yet Agriculture officials swore this wasn't an unreasonable timetable.

— The Agriculture Department hasn't yet established uniform standards for determining which schools are eligible for the subsidized breakfasts. Some states, therefore, have decided all their nonparticipating schools are eligible, while others insist that none of their schools need the program. Incredibly, Phillips Exeter Academy, one of the nation's wealthiest private schools, offers the government breakfasts. Yet Mississippi has no breakfast program for 236 schools, which have a 90 percent eligibility average.

— Because the program was still failing to meet its objectives in 1971, Congress decided to require every state to submit a plan detailing its intentions. The purpose was to make sure the states made the necessary preparations before any federal funds were released for child nutrition. Yet Agriculture officials have approved state plans that are wholly inadequate. Of 330 plans approved between 1972 and 1977, only 24 contained lists of school districts that intended to offer breakfasts to more poor children.

— The indifferent, uninspired folks at the Agriculture Department have regarded the breakfast program as such routine drudgery that they haven't bothered to withhold funds from states for submitting poor plans. Nor has any action been taken against a state for failing to achieve the objectives of previous plans. Some plans have been approved, in fact, even though they stated outright that the program would not be expanded.

— The failure of states to expand the program to cover thousands of low-income children prodded Congress into action. The breakfast program, lawmakers decided, must be offered in all schools whose student bodies contain 25 percent low-income children. Agriculture officials, however, have ignored this congressional mandate and have refused to require the states to comply.

These officials have helped make America the best-fed nation in history. Despite spreading drought, farmers are harvesting record crops. Yet in the swelling slums of America, children still endure the gnawing pains of hunger. They are the anonymous children of parents who are often too poor to afford even the government stamps to buy cut-price food.

So the children exist on a diet of starches and water. They sit in creaking houses, with empty stomachs and dull eyes — hungry children in the midst of plenty, ignored by Agriculture officials engrossed in the struggle to reduce the bulging farm surpluses at the same time that they seek to make farmland more productive.

Felons under glass?

A new type of glass, which a number of penologists would like to see replace the traditional metal bars and screens of prisons, was demonstrated at a convention of the American Correctional Association in Milwuakee a few weeks ago.

The glass is a sandwich of four layers of glass and three of a plastic material, and so strong that its developer, Globe-Amerada Glass Co., confidently displayed a $1,000 check behind it which it offered to anyone who could get to it by breaking the glass with a baseball bat.

The glass, surrounded by a number of broken bats, was still intact at the end of the meeting.

Penal experts have long advocated getting away from the depressing "zoo" aspects of most prisons. Glass, noted one of them in Milwaukee, "is less threatening than bars, less brutal."

Already the supertough glass is being used in the psychiatric section of Walter Reed Army Medical Center in Washington and in the control center of Attica State Prison in New York.

As the poet said long ago, stone walls do not a prison make nor iron bars a cage. But if picture windows can have a beneficial psychological effect on imprisoned criminals, we're all for it.

Think on these things

Someone once said that the secret of staying in love is never to show disillusionment — but is love so fragile? Or is it that we expect so much of it, believing that it should change our very lives. Those who love know it gives reason and purpose, but can we expect it to stand unprotected on its own?

We place such limits on it, make such demands with it, strain the very fiber of it, and complain bitterly when it doesn't stand the test. To be loved in spite of ourselves, to have the real me adored — not for looks or behavior or what one has to give in return, but just to be loved for some quality that even we cannot pinpoint — would be the pinnacle. The inner spirit seeks expression in many ways, but love is its utmost quality and deserves reverence and the most expert treatment.

We can take pride in Mr. Carter

(Editor's Note: The following editorial is reprinted from the Temple Daily Telegram, Temple, Tex.)

Those who witnessed President Carter's press conference when he announced the resignation of his friend and budget director Bert Lance, can take pride in the behavior of the President in the face of — we regret to say — a vengeful and suspicious Washington press corps.

The President was cool, articulate and sincere in fielding questions both sincere and hypothetical. There was no question but that he was deeply distressed by the turn of events which had taken away from his Administration one of its strongest members — a man who was doing a good job. But the President's personal feelings and emotions were controlled as he answered with simplicity and honesty the barrage of questions thrown at him. His full stature came shining through.

When asked if he thought the Bert Lance resignation would hurt him, he forthrightly admitted, "Probably so, to some extent." Without saying so he tacitly admitted that he had made a mistake in appointing Lance in view of the turn of events.

But it was obvious that his faith in Bert Lance has not been shaken by the false charges and innuendoes thrown at Lance, that his friendship for Lance remains intact and that nothing has taken place of record which would have forced Carter to ask for Lance's resignation.

On the other hand, he accepted the Lance resignation as the logical development in view of all the turmoil and at a time when he is burdened with many problems and he needs all the help he can get, without any extra baggage to bear.

The Washington press corps, in its traditional manner of sniping at politicians with loaded questions, twisting answers, and a kick-em-when-they're-down attitude, was more than willing to join forces with Lance's opposition to cast shadows of doubt over Lance in complicated banking matters which few of us can begin to understand.

The press has been punishing Bert Lance for weeks not for what he may or may not have done but for the high principles which the President enunciated during his campaign.

Still, the Washington press corps' role in the "Lance Affair" has been guided more by vindictiveness than by objectivity and the people's right to know. The press has shown itself to be — just like Lance — less than faultless.

All in all, and in contrast to some pundits who came on the air after the speech, it is our opinion that President Carter was not hurt by Lance's resignation to any appreciable extent except in the loss of a very valued public servant who had been skillfully carrying on his job.

This press conference, more than any other, gave the public a true look at the inner man who is Mr. Carter, our President. One cannot help but be heartened by his courage, his honesty and his forthright answers, or fail to wish him every success in trying to carry out the duties of his office. His is a job which is bigger than almost any mortal can handle, and it is refreshing to have a man of honesty and integrity capable of adjusting to events in these times of national crisis.

Hopefully, with the support of the people and the good intentions of our elected representatives, these will be resolved without disaster or any mishap to our great nation.

Just in jest

Today, if a gal expects to really go places and do things, just being a liberated woman isn't enough. And if she is looking for something on which to place the blame for this unfortunate state of affairs, the logical culprit is television. There it is being demonstrated day after day that to be a real winner, a woman must have a Farrah Fawcett-Majors haircut, be bionic and, in addition, be a reasonable facsimile of Wonder Woman.

Well I see that once again an obviously guilty criminal has invoked the Fifth Amendment in order to legally avoid testifying. Now please don't misunderstand me. I'm all in favor of Constitutional Rights. But sometimes, in the interest of truth, righteousness and justice, I am beginning to believe this country would be far better off today if both the Fifth and the First Amendments had never been written.

Tax board huff over Huff

By EARL G. WATERS

Whether or not the Franchise Tax Board acts upon the new-found authority provided in an opinion of the legislative counsel to dismiss its executive officer, Martin Huff, the ruling is bound to set the stage for future turmoil in the agency as long as he remains.

Huff's post has been regarded as unique in that, although he is an appointee of the three-member board, the law says he can only be removed by a two-thirds vote of the Senate.

The board itself is unique in that its three members serve ex officio and have full-time responsibilities in other state agencies. Because of that, Huff, under previous memberships, was permitted to administer board affairs unbridled, the members being too busy with other matters to bother supervising him.

The result was that Huff grew to be somewhat of a martinet, ruling the agency with an iron hand and making unilateral policy and personnel decisions without consulting the board and often without its knowledge.

With the turnover of members after the 1974 elections, the new board, seeking to exercise its legally assigned responsibilities for administering the tax laws, encountered difficulties finding out what Huff was doing and, according to at least two of the members, refusals to obey instructions tantamount to insubordination.

Furthermore, Huff, a politician himself who got the job as a reward for being a campaign finance chairman for former Gov. Pat Brown, has been successful in persuading some segments of the press that he stands singlehandedly defending the tax records from political tampering by the board members.

The fact is that Huff, according to the law, has no duties and no powers excepting those delegated to him by the board. His open defiance of the present board can only be attributed to the sense of security he believes he has under the provisions for his removal.

Now, the legislative counsel's opinion that the provision violates the separation of powers provisions of the state's constitution may have cut the rug out from under Huff.

The opinion notes that the California courts have not ruled on the question but cites a parallel case decided by the U.S. Supreme Court which held unconstitutional the removal of an appointee of the president being subject to the consent of the Senate.

In case that causes wonder as to the validity of the requirements for confirmation of appointees by the Senate, the opinion notes that is a practice of long standing and has been recognized by the courts.

In any event, even had the law not been held unconstitutional, such a provision violates all the principles of good management and supervision.

How can a board supervise and control a subordinate employee without the power to discipline and even terminate such employee? That, of course, is what the fuss has been all about.

If the Legislature doesn't feel that the tax laws can be properly administered by the present board, it should change the makeup of the board by altering its composition. Actually, it doesn't seem a bad structure, having two constitutional officers, elected independently, and an appointee of the governor serving as members.

What will happen next is anybody's guess. The board could, on the advice of the opinion, fire Huff, leaving him to take the issue to court. Or, in view of the opinion, Huff may now decide to be a good boy and follow orders.

Housewife termed parasite

Dear Ann Landers: This is for that nutty housewife in Dallas who wrote to say how hard she works just "raising a family." The truth is that the American housewife is a glorified parasite. She does nothing but amuse herself 95 percent of the time.

I wonder if you know how many hours the "average home-bound slave" spends looking at TV, yakking on the telephone, kaffee-klatching with neighbors and reading trashy magazines.

It takes only a minute to change a diaper. The cooking can't require more than half an hour for supper. Most husbands don't come home for lunch any more. Laundry takes about an hour a week — and the machines do the work. So they clean the house (maybe) and wash a floor or two. This uses up an hour at the most. Big deal.

The real heroines are the women who run the house and hold down an eight-hour job besides. I have a lot of respect for them. They also seem to have independent, well-behaved kids who know how to do things for themselves. What's more, their husbands do less running around and their marriages seem to be working.

So let's hear it for the little lady who can run a home and help her overworked husband pay the bills, which are staggering these days. Thumbs down on the lazy complainers who call themselves "homemakers" when in reality they are "freeloaders." — Seen It All

Dear Seen It: Since your mind is not only closed but nailed shut, I wouldn't attempt to point out the foolishness of some of your statements. You make no distinction between the woman who has a single child and the one who has six — and when you say cleaning the house and washing a floor or two takes an hour at the most — oh, well, what's the use?

'I've let you have your say because this column represents everybody's point of view, but since it's MY column, I reserve the right to have the last word. And my word to you is BULLFEATHERS, Mister.

Dear Ann Landers: You are probably sick of letters about toilet paper by this time but I hope you will pring one more. It should put an end to the hassling once and for all.

My husband works for a paper company. They sell the best known brand of toilet paper in the country. (I won't name it because I know you won't print it.(When he reads all those letters from people who were explaining the "proper" way to put the roll in the dispenser, he laughed and said, "The correct way is so obvious I don't know how people can miss it." Then he pointed out that the fancier toilet tissue is embossed with designs and color. It is made so the paper comes over the top and rolls down on the outside — not to the wall. If placed the other way, the design would not show. It would be the same as hanging your printed draperies with the pattern to the window and the lining on the outside. NOW do you understand? — Sign Me Right Side Up

Dear Right: Gotcha. And this is the last letter I am printing on the subject, so if anyone has anything more to say — tell it to somebody else.

It's not always easy to recognize love, especially the first time around. Acquaint yourself with the guidelines. Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Love or Sex and How to Tell the Difference." For a copy, mail 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

If not at first, try it at second

The "Let's Have Better Mottoes Association" of Fairbanks, Alaska, in its routine search for a monthly saying turned down: "I'd give my right arm to be ambidextrous." It also refused: "Prove you're all thumbs and you won't have to lift a finger." Instead, it chose: "If at first you don't succeed, try playing second." This is the same outfit, please note, which pointed out that the Wright Brothers' bicycle business never really got off the ground.

BOOKWORM

Q. "Louie, what did your Language man do for a living before he started teaching you what words meant?"

A. Once, he was a football cheerleader, but was dismissed after his first yell, which began: "Impede them! Impede them! Throw obstacles in their path!" Then he hired out as a power company worker, but quit when a linemen dropped a ladleful of molten solder down the back of his neck, prompting him to say, "Shame on you, Roger. That was naughty." Later, he tried ringside broadcasting at prizefights. He described the bruised chin of a glass-jawed boxer as "a heliotrope contusion on that crystalline mandible." He wasn't rehired. No, nevermind, I made it all up. Our Language man has been a professional bookworm, that's all, right from the outset.

CANVAS PANTS

He was a seller of canvas. He peddled rolls of same to miners for their tents. One of those miners happened to complain mightily to him that no pants on the market could stand up to the rough wear in the diggings. So that seller of canvas, Mr. Levi Strauss, had a tailor friend cut out a pair of pants from the tenting material. And now, as the promoter says, just about everybody in the world knows Mr. Strauss's first name.

Maybe you didn't realize that the original name of the Minnesota metropolis now called St. Paul was "Pig's Eye" in honor of a French-Canadian fur trader who went by the moniker of Pig's Eye Parrant.

Get it right! Elvis Presley's first national TV appearance was not on Ed Sullivan's show, not on Steve Allen's show, but on Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey's show.

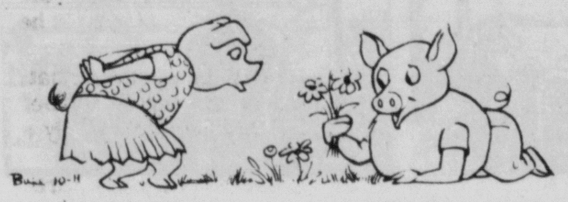
Dr. Miller

Porkie unable to have family



DEAR DR. MILLER: Dad bought Porkie and Bess to raise for bacon but Sis and I are trying to get him to let us keep them as pets. We couldn't eat them now anyway. He says he will keep them to raise pigs if Porkie could be repaired and used for breeding. The trouble is Porkie was castrated when he was younger. Is there such a thing as transplants for a male pig? — V.T.

DEAR V.T.: Unfortunately for Porkie (and Bess), porcine testicular transplants aren't available.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Our last cat died because his bladder got blocked up with sand and he couldn't urinate. Tommy Tompkings, here, is his replacement. Tommy has had all of his shots. He gets good food. He just had a check-up and he seems in perfect health. We know that bladder blockage happens often in male cats.

We would like to know what we can do besides just good care to keep Tommy Tompkins from getting the same thing? — E.A.

DEAR E.A.: The feline blocked bladder-uremia syndrome is indeed a major cause of death in adult male cats. Perhaps the single most important factor is avoiding the problem is a high daily fluid intake — the heavy drinker is rarely a victim. A cat kept in is less likely to be exposed to a virus which is apparently a causative factor in at least some of these bladder cases. That "in" cat, however, should have some system for exercise since muscle tone and a trim figure also aid in reducing susceptibility to FUS (the blocked bladder syndrome).

FLASH TO FLEA FIGHTERS

In your flea-fighting frustration — and for some feline and canine owners it can be a long tough battle — never use a flea collar in combination with any other anti-flea product.

Using a flea collar along with a powder or spray may cause the elimination of pets as well as pests. There is enough undesirable poison in any single (effective) flea-fighting preparation. All of them are intended to be used alone. There is, however, one exception to this. Aromatic cedar shaving dog beds are safe to use in conjunction with a flea collar (OR) flea powder, and those cedar mats are repelling, revolting and repugnant to most fleas.

Raising teenagers no picnic

It was either the Pope . . . or maybe one of the Hollywood Squares . . . who said that raising teen-agers is the happiest part of your married life.

I don't know how rumors like that get started.

If I were any happier, they'd take away my blunt scissors and the water glass in my bathroom before I hurt myself.

At a gathering of the neighbors a few weeks ago, Lillian said, "You are all so lucky to have teen-agers who drive. I can hardly wait. You have no idea how much of my time I spend running the kids around in the car."

No one said anything, but I caught a glimpse of Helen, whose daughter had put up two broomsticks in front of the house to practice parallel parking and was cited for speeding — in reverse.

There was Midge, whose son pulled their station wagon into the garage, left it in neutral, closed the garage door and couldn't get the door open again when it rolled back into the lock.

There was Barbara, whose teenager had 17 temporary permits and on his last try when he ran over the curb and the inspector's foot asked, "Does this mean I don't get my license?"

Lillian prattled on. "You don't know how I envy all of you with teen-agers who eat well. My children are so finicky they won't eat anything."

I looked at Maxine as she wistfully remembered getting a court order to remove her son, "Jaws," from in front of the refrigerator where he had not moved in three months.

I thought I saw Reba wince as she recalled the time she had us over for bridge and her son had eaten two pounds of assorted mints, three pounds of cashews, a three-quart tuna casserole and four straw coasters shaped like strawberries.

"Well, only a few more years," Lillian chirped, "and I won't need a babysitter. I'll be like the rest of you and have one who lives in."

I smiled wanly remembering last New Year's Eve when my daughter met me at the door with her hand computer and said stiffly, "No personal checks, please."

"I think raising teenagers must be the happiest part of your married life," said Lillian.

Our heads jerked up. I got Lillian out of there quickly . . . for her own safety.

Dr. Lamb

Alcohol is poor tranquilizer

DEAR DR. LAMB — I just read your column about the lady who likes to smoke and I have some additional comments that I feel from deep inside my conscience.

After smoking since I was 12 years old I've grown increasingly dependent on my vice. I also resent the comments made by people that it's a nasty habit and offends people socially. But may I ask why everyone makes such a big deal of smoking and completely ignores those who drink themselves into a stupor every night because they want to relax?

I feel resentful toward people when they drink and become different from the persons they really are! They become obnoxious, mouthy and care less about anyone's feelings and there are those who suddenly become quiet and are about as much company as a brick wall.

They drive and cause many accidents that in many cases involve innocent people and inconvenience people by "passing out" and having to be carried out. Thanks, but if there's a choice, I'll take smoking. It's much less hazardous.

DEAR READER — Funny, but I had an idea that you may have had someone close to you in mind when you were complaining about the effects of drinking on the personality.

There is no reason why you need to choose between two bad habits. I don't recommend drinking instead of smoking and I don't recommend smoking instead of drinking. My advice is don't do either.

Alcoholism is a severe problem. Did you know cirrhosis of the liver is the fourth common cause of death in American men between the ages of 35 and 54 and that 60 per cent of these liver deaths are caused by alcoholism? It's true. It is just another example of how people affect their own health, as opposed to depending upon the doctor to provide life and health everlasting regardless of what they do.

No, I am not going to endorse your bad habit but I will say that drinking irresponsibly is also hazardous to your health. I would concur that a warning label should be on every beverage containing alcohol. It is a poison. It does destroy health, personality and families.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-4, Alcohol, Whiskey, Gin, Vodka, Rum, Wine, Beer. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. It will give you a lot more information on how alcohol is hazardous to your health. You might be wise to share its content with some of those in your life who use too much alcohol.

There are a lot of people who both drink to excess and smoke. The combination is like playing Russian roulette with two chambers of the revolver instead of just one.

Incidentally it is not true that alcohol relaxes a person. It may be a social lubricant for some people but it is a depressant or an anesthetic. The person may not feel his anxiety or tension but he has not relieved it with alcohol. He has only numbed his senses. It is not a good tranquilizer. A much better and more healthy tranquilizer is exercise. A good walk, a swim, or participation in some sport you enjoy is much more relaxing and much better for a person's health. A wife can help in this area by planning family activities at the end of the day that provides healthy exercise.

Dr. Lamb answers representative letters of general interest in his column. Write to him in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Astrographs

By Bernice Bede Osol
For Wednesday, Oct. 12, 1977
Your Birthday, Oct. 12, 1977

You have everything going for you this coming year, so long as you take things calmly and in stride. Trim your sails. Wait if the wind is down momentarily.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Initiative, knowledge, charm and wit are your assets today. The only one who can trip you up is yourself, by being too glib. Find out more about yourself by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Use your intuition today! You're very gifted in this respect. But work from behind the scenes to avoid the risk of others not understanding.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Get involved with large organizations today. You'll be a welcome addition in all respects except those which deal with handling their assets.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A good day to inject some new element into your career. It can be great or small, but it won't be effective unless you do it solo.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Have faith in the knowledge and powers you already possess. If you try to delve too deeply into the whys and wherefores, you'll nullify potential gains.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) As the power behind the throne, you have few peers today. If you tip your hand and try to take the bows, however, you'll blow everything.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Cooperative efforts are favored today. You'll be able to achieve meetings of the mind not possible before. On the homefront, tread softly.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You can formulate new methods today to assist you. This is especially true in handicrafts, even if they're only a hobby.

GEMINI (May 21-June 30) An excellent day for a new contact, be it romantic, social or in the realm of friendship. Avoid, however, trying to impress with real or pretended affluence.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) New harmony in the home today. Your contribution is to act unselfishly and without reservation.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Ignore doubts that might surface today. Have faith in your ability. Take the initiative. Others will recognize your leadership qualities.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Forget trying to please everyone. Restrict yourself to dealing on a one-to-one basis today. Financial gains will accrue from eyeball negotiations.

Opening lead — K♥

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

Here is a problem hand composed by Eddy Kantar, one of our greatest players. Try to avoid looking at the East-West hands until you have planned your entire play starting a trick four.

West starts out by playing ace-king and a third heart. You win in your own hand and must plan the play.

You start by assuming that West will hold both black kings. He really needs them to have an opening bid. Maybe this doesn't worry you and it won't unless it turns out that West holds three trumps and just one diamond. Can you guard against that unpleasant possibility?

You can, but it requires considerable care. You start by cashing your ace of clubs and ruffing the jack.

Now if you stop thinking and just lead dummy's jack of spades the hand will collapse. West will take his king and lead a diamond. You won't be able to shut out his 10 of trumps.

So you cash one high diamond before leading that jack of spades and nothing can touch you.

Ask the Jacobys

A Texas reader wants to know what happens when the contract is three hearts. Declarer makes nine tricks but is entitled to two more because of the revoke. Does he make game?

We have answered this question several times before. Penalty tricks only count below the line if they help declarer make his contract. Otherwise, they are simply scored as overtricks. Thus, this declarer gets 60 points above the line.

Porcupines are small animals noted for their armor of sharp quills, which are very stiff hairs.

The belief that the porcupine shoots its quills at enemies by a swish of its tail isn't true.

When danger threatens, the porcupine turns its back to the danger, bristles its quills, and defends itself by striking the attacker with its well-armed tail, which can plant a dozen or more needle-sharp quills in the attacker's nose. The quills make painful wounds, and are very difficult to pull out because they have hooked ends.

Left alone, the porcupine goes about its own peaceful way, often spending part of the day asleep in a hollow long or rocky den.

American porcupines are good tree climbers. They feed on tender buds and inner bark of trees.

A fully grown porcupine can be three feet long and weigh 20 pounds. Its yellowish quills may be several inches long.

PEANUTS

What's going on around here

Childbirth classes begin

A class in Preparation for Parenthood will start Wednesday at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

The six classes will meet each Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. in room 8 at the hospital.

Instructors will be Kathy Hotchison and Marie Earle. There is a $2 fee to cover cost of class materials.

The class, open to all expectant parents, covers nutrition and care of the newborn, prenatal and postnatal care of the mother and other information related to childbirth.

Reservations for the class may be made by calling the Pomona Red Cross, 622-9930.

Valley Vaqueros meet

The Valley Vaqueros 4-H Club of Claremont will hold its first meeting this year Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Condit School.

Memberships will be received. The club offers a vareity of projects, including horses, leathercraft and photography.

For more information, persons may phone Jim Rogers at 628-3125 or Pam Pawley, 626-8134.

Aide courses

The Pomona Adult School is taking registrations for courses required for nurse aide certificates.

Classes will involve social and psychological problems of patients.

The program starts Friday, with classes offered at the Education Center from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and at the Pomona Valley Community Hospital, 7 to 9:30 p.m.

Persons may register between 8:30 and 4:15 p.m., Monday through Friday, and also 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

Blood Needed

Four valley organizations are responding jointly to urgent appeals for healthy blood by the American Red Cross.

Participating with the Red Cross Bloodmobile in the blood drive slated for Foothill Presbyterian Hospital on Friday from 2 to 6:30 p.m. are the Glendora Rotary and Lions clubs, Glenkirk Presbyterian Church and Foothill Hospital.

Local residents are urged to participate also to ensure that an adequate supply of blood is available at all times for seriously ill patients.

Reservations are helpful to avoid delays. Persons may call Foothill Presbyterian Hospital, (213) 963-8411, ext. 111, for an appointment.

Pomona Red Cross will sponsor a multi-media first aid course on Saturday from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Chapter House, 420 N. Reservoir St., Pomona.

The $6 fee covers books and workbooks.

Enrollment is limited and reservations for the class should be made by calling Diane Turner at the Red Cross, 622-1348.

Cub Olympics

The Old Baldy Council will hold its annual Cub Olympics at Chaffey High School Saturday at 9 a.m.

The event will again be hosted by Boy Scout Troop 301, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Ontario.

Stewart Perkins, scoutmaster, will be assisted by his committee. The mother's auxiliary will handle the refreshment stand. There will be a pre-opening ceremony and a closing ceremony for all boys participating.

Over 300 boys, between 7 and 10 years old, will take part in events such as 50-year dash, standing long jump, running long jump, 100-yard dash, 660-yard walk and softball throw.

School dance

Chamber Singers, a musical group at Alta Loma High School, will sponsor a dance on Saturday in the gym.

Papa Doo Run Run will play for dancing between 8 and 11:30 p.m.

The dance is being sponsored by Chamber Singers to raise money for their spring concert trip to Hawaii.

Pre-sale tickets cost $2 with ASB card and $2.50 without. Tickets at the door will cost $3.

Language survey

The Bonita Unified School District during October will send home survey forms for all students which is in compliance with the state-mandated language census.

Parents are asked to answer four simple questions regarding the language spoken by their children and return the form to the schools as soon as received.

This is a preliminary step to testing those students who indicate they speak a language other than English as a primary language. Further testing will be given to those students who are non or limited-English speaking.

The new law requires documentation that the district has made an effort to obtain a response for each student. District personnel are seeking the cooperation of all parents in this survey to complete the form for each student.

Garage sale

The Diamond Bar Lion's Club and the Diamond Bar Little League will host a garage sale Oct. 16.

Sellers should arrive at the Little League field at the west end of Sunset Crossing Road in Diamond Bar between 6:30 and 8 a.m. to obtain sale locations. Sellers will be charged $1.50 per space and buyers will be charged 50 cents each, with children under 12 free.

There will be a refreshment stand, picnic areas and a playground for children.

Money raised by the sale will be used for the Little League and other charities in the community.

Further information regarding selling spots may be obtained by calling 593-2581 or 595-1134.

Dairy cattle fair winners announced

The Los Angeles County Fair has announced the winners of the Future Farmers of America Dairy Cattle competition held recently. Local winners are:

— Becky Meidinger of Chino who won a blue ribbon for her Holstein grade senior calf.

— George Pindell of Chino who won a second place ribbon for his Holstein grade junior yearling female.

— Marie Nagano of Pomona who was awarded a first place ribbon for her junior yearling female grade Holstein.

GD denies discriminating against the handicapped

A General Dynamics Pomona spokesman has stressed that his firm does not discriminate against qualified handicapped job applicants.

"As a matter of fact," he said in a released statement, "the company employs a large number of physically handicappped persons."

The statement was in reply to allegations by the U.S. Department of Labor that the Pomona firm has failed to provide equal job opporutnities for qualified handicapped workers.

According to an administrative complaint received by the firm, a man was refused a job as a technical illustrator in March 1976 at the Pomona plant.

The company claimed that his previous back injury would be aggravated by the stress of working over a desk.

The company, according to the Labor Department, also refused the man employment on the grounds that he would increase risks of liability.

The Labor Department's investigation, however, indicates that the job did not require prolonge periods of sitting or standing which might aggravate his condition.

The individual is now employed as a technical illustrator with another company and only seeks back pay for his nine-month period of unemployment.

General Dynamics has 20 days from the receipt of the complaint to request a hearing before a Labor Department administrative law judge.

If it is found in violation, the firm's present contracts may be terminated and it could be debarred from future government contract work.

The complaint said that General Dynamics has more than $38.4 million in contracts with the government.

The spokesman said that is is the company's policy and that of its division's and subsidaries to hire qualified persons regardless of age, sex, race, color, creed, national origin and regardless of whether or not they are handicapped.

"Prospective employees are evaluated on the basis of their qualifications and their ability to perform safely the job for which they are being considered," the spokesman said.

"General Dynamics," he continued, "believes that it is not only our responsibility under the law to make employment opportunities available on a non-discriminatory basis to capable people, but that it is good business to do so."

"We have been a leader in efforts to develop and implement voluntary affirmative action plans for the handicapped and each of our divisions and subsidiaries has such a plan," he concluded.

Immunization clinic slated on Wednesday

The Pomona Health Center, 750 S. Park Ave., Pomona, will conduct an immunization clinic Wednesday from 5 to 7 p.m.

This is in addition to the immunization clinics held Monday, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 8 to 9 a.m. and Monday through Friday from 3 to 4 p.m.

Free immunizations against measles, rubella, polio, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough are available.

All children must be accompanied by an adult or legal guardian. Parents should bring immunization records for checking by the staff to determine which shots are needed.

Additional information may be obtained by calling 623-6811, ext. 528.

Supt. Stork will resign Alta Loma post in June

Alta Loma schools Supt. Floyd Stork has officially submitted his resignation to the school board, effective June 30.

Stork has previously announced that he would resign at the end of his current four-year contract.

The 55-year-old schools chief who has served in his pressent post for the past 24 years says he is not retiring. "I've decided that being in my job for 24 years is enough."

Stork noted that he wants to remain in some educational field, but at this point has not made a decision on exactly what he will do.

He is submitting his resignation a year in advance to give the school board time to pick his successor. He had previously told the board he would not accept another contract when his presnet one runs out.

Stork was first hired as a teacher in the district in 1950. He became principal-superintendent in 1953 and full-time superintendent in 1964.

Italian 'brothers' go at it tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — "We're like brothers," said Tom Lasorda, manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"The best of pals," agreed Billy Martin, manager of the New York Yankees.

"But if I was starving in the desert and I found a plate of spaghetti — and I love spaghetti — I'd rather beat his butt this week," said Lasorda.

"That's a two-way street," Martin confirmed.

The two bosom buddies will become arch-rivals for anywhere from four to seven games beginning tonight when Lasorda's Dodgers and Martin's Yankees clash in the World Series.

Before the skirmishing began, however, the rival managers found time to sit down for some friendly libation Monday evening.

After going through the formality of a pre-Series meeting in the mid-town Manhattan office of baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, Martin and Lasorda adjourned downstairs to have a few drinks and relive a few memories while startled onlookers gaped at them.

"It's Columbus Day and us Italians have to stick together," said Martin, born Alfred Manuel Pesano.

Ironically, the Martin-Lasorda friendship began with a near-fight in 1956 during a game between the Yankees and the Kansas City A's.

"Tom Sturdivant had us beat 5-0," Lasorda recalled. "In those days, when the Yankees walked out on the field our team just stared in awe. Our manager, Lou Boudreau, was pacing back and forth in the dugout.

"He said, 'You guys are afraid of the Yankees.' I grabbed him," continued Lasorda, who pitched in the Dodgers' chain for 11 years, "and I told him, 'In the organization I came from we're not afraid of anybody.'

"So he sent me to the bullpen to warm up and I came in the game in the eighth inning. Joe Collins was the first batter and I threw two pitches behind him. Sturdivant was next and I threw behind him. Billy was the third batter and he moved up in the box to hit my curve — I had a pretty good curve ball — and I said, 'Don't you do that.' Then I struck him out.

"In the ninth, Hank Bauer was the first batter and I threw two pitches behind him. Billy was really getting on me from their dugout and I said, 'Come on out and fight.'"

Martin, a ready scrapper, didn't need much coaxing.

"Bauer said, 'Why don't you go out and get him,'" he recalled, "and I said, 'I think I will,' but (umpire) Hank Soar grabbed me before I even got to the foul line."

For Lasorda, in the World Series in his first year as a major league pilot, it is a dream come true to be managing in Yankee Stadium.

"I used to dream that I was a Yankee," said the Norristown, Pa., native. "I used to dream about the Joe DiMaggios, the Bill Dickeys, the Red Rolfes, the Frank Crosettis. It's a thrill in itself to be managing in the World Series and in Yankee Stadium, but to be managing against my old buddy ...."

All the Yankees love each other

Reggie Jackson had nothing but ice things to say about Billy Martin. Give him credit — the man has uts," he said. "Martin would play itler if he thought it would help him in."

Billy Martin had nothing but nice nings to say about Reggie Jackson. I made it hard on Reggie during the ear, but I have developed the greatest respect and admiration for he guy. He really put out for us the ast two months of the season."

George Steinbrenner had nothing ut nice things to say about Martin, he manager he is reportedly ready o fire.

"Last year in the playoffs and World Series, I thought Billy was unsure of himself," the owner said. "I think the job he did in the final game against Kansas City Sunday night was the finest game of managing under pressure I have ever seen."

President Gabe Paul, who is supposed to be fashioning the noose for Martin's red neck, had nothing but nice things to say about everybody.

"This is a team that is not afraid of the consequences," he said. "The tougher the going, the tougher they play. If you are afraid of consequences, you play it close to the vest. Not these guys — they slug away."

Given a reprieve in the final inning of the final game of the final playoff for the league championship, the New York Yankees at last have found the light.

N.Y. sorry for sins

They have got religion. They are sorry for their past sins. Having stared the ghost of disaster squarely in the eyes and lived to tell about it, they have become a humbler, a more mature group of human beings.

The questions now are:

—How will this change of attitude affect their performances against Tommy Lasorda's Los Angeles "Togetherness Boys" in the World Series, starting tonight at Yankee Stadium?

—Has firebrand Billy Martin saved his job with his gutsy benching of Steinbrenner's $2.9 million free agent baby?

—Will the feuding, back-biting, discontented Yankees finally find peace and happiness in their narrow escape from doom?

The specter was raised for the controversial, outspoken Jackson Monday when a lengthy telegram was delivered to him while he was donning his pinstripes in the Yankees locker room. Jackson opened the envelope slowly and read the jolting words: "Your conduct has been disgraceful to the team. Your contract is terminated, effective Oct. 9." It continued for eight abusive pages and was signed "George Steinbrenner." It was just one of the many crank letters Jackson receives.

Martin's benching of Jackson, who had 32 homers and 110 runs batted in for the season, exploded a bombshell prior to Sunday night's game at Kansas City.

"I had to do it for the sake of the team," Martin said. "He was having trouble fielding on the artificial turf and he hadn't hit well against Splittorff (Paul Splittorff, Kansas City's starting left-hander). It was a hard decision. The manager always is a heel."

Steinbrenner agreed

Martin said he first checked out the decision with Steinbrenner, who agreed with it.

"It is true," Steinbrenner said. "Billy came up and said there was something he wanted to try on me for size. When he explained it, I said I had been on the same wave length but my idea was perhaps to play Roy White in left and Lou Piniella in right. When Billy explained that Paul Blair (Jackson's replacement) hit Splittorff well, I agreed it was a good move."

Steinbrenner was delighted with the game.

"Those kids never quit," he said of the Yankees. "They (the Royals) thought they could intimidate us. They couldn't. I love guys who fight."

He wouldn't commit himself on the future of Billy Martin, the scrappiest scoundrel in baseball, but of Jackson he said: "If I had a chance to sign him again for the same price ($2.9 million), I would do it. Reggie has fulfilled all our expectations and, take my word for it, he's going to have a great World Series."

Bears win war

Rams claim 'cheap shots'

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago Bears Coach Jack Pardee called it "a well fought game in the trenches." Los Angeles Rams quarterback Joe Namath agreed with the battle analogy.

"People get away with taking cheap shots and it becomes one big war out there," Namath said. "If you let people continue to get away with cheap shots, what happens to sportsmanship?"

He accused linebacker Waymond Bryant of hitting him after a play in the waning moments of the Bears' 24-23 nationally televised National Football League upset victory on a rainy, windy Monday night that ended with both teams sporting 2-2 records.

The officials slapped Bryant with a roughing-the-passer penalty and Rams right guard Dennis Harrah slugged him with a fist that brought Harrah a personal foul and ejection from the game.

"I did not see the hit but I know it was a cheap shot. I could feel it. What else can I say?" said a remorseful Harrah. "I lost my head and retaliated when I should not have."

Namath indicated that other Bears weren't bashful about getting in a tardy nudge or two either.

"If the league would look at the films, they'd see what's going on out there," he said. "Next time we play them we'll beat them. We're not that kind of team."

By the time Bryant bashed Namath in the chest, leaving him gasping for air, the Rams were straining to stay alive.

Pat Haden replaced Namath and led Los Angeles to its final touchdown, a 26-yard strike to Dwight Scales that drew the Rams to within one point with 27 seconds to play.

But the best quarterback on the field was a newly independent Bob Avellini, a third-year pro who is progressing week by week. Calling the plays for the first time this season, he said he was more confident. It showed.

He came up with scoring missiles of 70 and 72 yards to James Scott in the first half, which ended with the Rams ahead 16-14 on three Rafael Septien field goals and a 2-yard touchdown run by Lawrence McCutcheon.

Avellini's 29-yard touchdown pass to Greg Latta in the fourth quarter put the Bears ahead 24-16 and provided breathing room.

Pardee said he let Avellini call the plays because "We needed a little more leadership on the field ... Bob would make the same decisions we'd make from the sidelines anyway."

The Bears won with big plays, including a 51-yard scamper by Walter Payton, who gained 126 yards, to set up Latta's catch. But Avellini said that doesn't mean he's a more adventurous play-caller than the often conservative coaches.

"We've tried passes before. We were fortunate enough to hit them tonight. They were in the game plan. I didn't draw up the plays," said Avellini, who completed 11 of 17 passes for 219 yards.

Namath, who went to the air 40 times, completed just 16 and had four intercepted. He said he had trouble with the bad weather and added, "Of course I played poorly. We lost."

The Rams scored the first three times they got the ball. Septien kicked a 22-yard field goal after the Bears punted and the Rams stalled at the Chicago 5.

Isiah Robertson picked off Avellini's pass after the kickoff to set the stage for a 29-yard boot by Septien.

Robertson then recovered Payton's fumble and Namath led a 54-yard march capped by McCutcheon's tally to put the Rams up 13-0 with the game just 11:32 old.

A key play came about 10 minutes into the third quarter when the Rams, leading 16-14, decided to go for a touchdown on a fourth down at the Chicago 1. But Rod Phillips was buried for no gain.

"If we went for the field goal, we didn't think that would stand up later," said Knox. "We felt that the way Payton was running, that he was good enough to break for one and our five-point lead would not have stood up."

Pardee said the return of free safety Doug Plank, who missed the first three games with a bad ankle, helped the pass coverage and gave the linemen more time to get to Namath.

However, he added, "We're not a whole lot different than we were last week when we lost 42 to whatever that stupid score was."

So what else is new?

Lasorda highly emotional

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees and the Los Angeles Dodgers, two franchises that divided baseball passions and World Series titles in the 1950s, square off in Game 1 of the 1977 World Series tonight.

"This is exciting for baseball," enthused the Dodgers' Tom Lasorda, a National League pennant winner in his rookie managerial season in the big leagues. "Here we have the two great teams which over the years have been synonomous with major league baseball."

Lasorda, who said he was cut from the Dodgers' 1955 championship team because of a young left-hander named Sandy Koufax, was highly emotional about the classic confrontation between the Yankees pinstripes and the Dodgers blue.

Meanwhile, his managerial counterpart, Billy Martin, proclaimed there was no longer any special rivalry between the Bronx Bombers and the Dodgers, former tenants in the borough of Brooklyn.

"The fifties were too long ago," said brash Billy, a hero of the Yankees' 1953 World Series win over the "Bums" of Brooklyn. "We used to travel by subway then. Now we go cross country in planes."

There now is a lot more separating Los Angeles and New York besides 3,000 miles.

The Dodgers, a team built from its minor league system, failed to enter the free-agent market. The Yankees, however, have been called the best team money can buy, adding free-agent plums Reggie Jackson and Don Gullett to last season's AL championship club that dropped four straight World Series games to the Cincinnati Reds.

The Dodgers believe in the credo that the team that loves together plays together, while the Yankees play together on the field and argue about it in the clubhouse.

"We built this team on togetherness, love and spirit," said Lasorda, who managed many of his players in the Dodgers chain before succeeding long-time skipper Walter Alston this season. "I love my players because they got me here. Hey, I was just a third-string pitcher on my high school team and now I'm managing the Dodgers in the World Series in the House That Ruth Built."

The Yankees' road to the AL pennant, won over Kansas City in the ninth inning of the fifth game for the second straight year, was a rocky one, highlighted by a near dugout brawl between Martin and Jackson, the near firing of Martin and personality clashes between Jackson and Yankees captain Thurman Munson.

"It's a relief we won," said Jackson, benched in the final game against Kansas City but a starter in right field tonight. "That way I don't have to hear how Jackson failed. It makes things a lot more peaceful around here."

It looked for a little while like the Yankees weren't going to be allowed to drift peacefully into tonight's game when Jackson received an eight-page telegram, allegedly from owner George Steinbrenner, saying his contract was terminated because his attitude had been degrading to the team.

After seriously scrutinizing the telegram for several minutes, Jackson was able to laugh it off as a hoax.

Things could stay peaceful for the Yankees provided they quickly pick up their 100th World Series victory and follow that fast with three more triumphs. To that end, Martin will send left-hander Don Gullett to the mound against righthander Don Sutton tonight.

Gullett, who ironically was Cincinnati's opening-game pitcher against the Yankees last year, will be making his first start since a shoulder ailment knocked him out in the second inning of Game 1 of the AL playoffs last Wednesday.

At that time, Martin proclaimed Gullett was finished for the season. But Gullett, who said he threw pretty well on Saturday and Sunday, told Martin that he could pitch.

"There's been some physical improvement," said Gullett, 14-4 in the regular season. "I feel I can go out there and pitch. Every pitcher has days when he's not 100 per cent and he goes out there and wins with secondary stuff.

"But I'm not looking for secondary stuff."

Did Gullett take a pain-killing shot?

"I don't want to comment on that. Ask the doctor," Gullett said.

"We don't announce those things," said Martin.

Sutton, the Dodgers' ace righthander, is both well-rested and healthy following his victory Wednesday over Philadelphia in the NL playoffs.

"I'm fine, did you hear anything different," joked Sutton, 14-8 in the regular season and the winning All-Star pitcher last July.

"There's still a lot of excitement in being here," said the long-time Yankees fan who only changed his allegiance when he was signed by the Dodgers in 1965. "But it can't compare with my All-Star start. That was fun. This is work.

"I now have 33 full World Series shares riding on how I throw."

Kings open season

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Kings will open the 1976-77 National Hockey League season at the Forum in nearby Inglewood Wednesday night, playing host to the Cleveland Barons.

The contest, which begins at 8 p.m., PDT, is only the third home opener in 11 seasons for the Kings.

Among the new faces expected in the Kings' lineup will be Ernie Hicke from the Minnesota North Stars, Pete Stemkowski from the New York Rangers, Randy Manery from the Atlanta Flames, and Dave Taylor, the NCAA scoring champion from Clarkson College in New Jersey.

Ron Stewart will be coaching his first regular-season game for the Kings. He succeeded Bob Pulford as the Los Angeles coach in the off-season.

Missing from the Kings' lineup will be Frank St. Marseille, who became player-coach of Montreal's American League entry, the Nova Scotia Voyegeurs; Bob Berry, Shelly Kannegisser, and Steve Clippingdale.

The Kings have a lop-sided series with the Barons in the Forum, winning 24 of 32 games (24-6-2) and going unbeaten in 45 of 64 overall (34-19-11).

Rogie Vachon, who has a lifetime record of 19-9-4 against the Barons, is expected to be in the goal for Los Angeles Wednesday.

Winless gridders enjoy byes

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer

The valley's three winless college football teams all have byes this week, and according to the coaches in question these breaks in the action are coming at a most opportune time.

The value of scheduling byes, and other topics, was discussed Monday at the weekly Progress Bulletin football luncheon at the Castaway Restaurant in Pomona.

Player of the Week honors went to individuals from four different schools. Ben Morrow of La Verne and Steve Schiro of Claremont-Mudd won at the four-year level, while Bob Turner of Chaffey and Greg Grzechiwiak of Citrus claimed the honors at the junior colleges.

Morrow rushed for 169 yards in the Leopards' upset win over Azusa Pacific last week. Defensive back Schiro, the former Daniem High and Chaffey JC performer, made 10 unassisted and five assisted tackles in C-M's 35-7 loss to USIU.

Turner caught five passes for 76 yards in Chaffey's win over Palomar. Grzechiwiak played a strong game at defensive end in Citrus' 21-17 victory over San Diego CC.

Quoting the coaches:

JIM JONES, Cal Poly: "We are really showing that we are a very young team. Northern Arizona was a very good team and they just shut us out completely on offense. They dominated us.

"Right now, I guess you could say we have a balanced attack; we can't run or pass! Our injury situation also hurt, we started two freshmen in the backfield.

"Our defense did a super job. They keep coming up with the big plays but offensively we just have to get our act together.

"We are fortunate to have a buy this week with Ball State coming up in two weeks. We'll try to get some people healthy and see what we can do about our offense."

WALT AMBORD, Pomona-Pitzer: "We did not play to our capabilities against St. Mary's. St. Mary's is starting to come around and they handled us pretty easily.

"We lost a starting linebacker in the game, and also two wide receivers. Andra Moss stepped in at receiver and caught a 75-yard touchdown pass. He's 5-7 and 145 pounds and Saturday was the first time he's played football.

"We have a buy this week due to Caltech canceling out on us.

Bill Walton in hospital

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Most of the exhibition season has been uncomfortably familiar to the Portland Trail Blazers.

Bill Walton has been missing.

The Most Valuable Player in last season's National Basketball Association championship series has been in the hospital since Saturday.

He's been in traction, the result of a back injury he suffered while chopping wood prior to the start of training camp two weeks ago.

But, team officials insist, the injury is not serious and the Blazer team captain is expected to be in the lineup when the National Basketball Association champions begin their title defense Oct. 21.

"We're a long way from panic," Blazer trainer Ron Culp said after a team workout Monday. "At this time of the year, it's just foolish to push anything."

Walton's reasonably good health last season was a big reason for the team's success. He missed most of his first two pro seasons due to injuries. The team is 3-3 in preseason play, but only 1-3 in games Walton missed.

The Blazers were without four players during much of their loss to the Lakers last Saturday night. Walton and Maurice Lucas didn't play and the team lost Lloyd Neal and Wally Walker during the game.

At one time, because of the foul situation, 6-foot-6 Bob Gross was playing center against Kareem Abdul-Jabbar.

All but Walton are expected to play in Thursday night's exhibition game against the Lakers in Los Angeles.

Walton was to be released from Meridian Park Hospital in the Portland suburb of Tualatin either Monday night or Tuesday morning.

He could go through light workouts Tuesday and Wednesday, Blazer Coach Jack Ramsay said, but probably wouldn't play Thursday. Ramsay hopes to have the Portland center back for the team's final preseason game against Golden State in Oakland Saturday night.

"Obviously we miss Bill," Ramsay said, "but it (the injury) has given us the opportunity to get some playing time from Tom Owens and to use Lloyd (Neal) some at center. That's a situation that might well occur during the regular season.

"It could be time very well spent."

Still, Ramsay admits the Blazers haven't been able to progress as well as he's hoped because of Walton's absence.

"It's not that serious a problem, but when players are injured they can't work as hard so they don't execute as well," Ramsay said.

Walton has been suffering back spasms since training camp opened in late September.

"It's really not a basketball-related injury," Culp said. "He chopped wood for something like six hours. When you're seven feet tall chopping down like that you're bound to aggravate something."

Craig Morton finds home

DENVER (AP) — Ignored in Dallas and deplored in New York, Craig Morton has found a home in Denver, where he has led the Broncos to a 4-0 record with an unexpected blend of passing and running ability.

Morton has a career passing percentage of .523, so his aerial accuracy of 56 per cent and his two TD passes this season come as no surprise. But Morton also has carried 15 times for 62 yards and three touchdowns this year.

A typical Morton running play finds him faking to a back at the left side of the line and, as both teams gravitate toward that side, Morton scampers unescorted around right end. He scored on such a misdirection play from 7 yards out against Kansas City Sunday, and also scampered in from 5 yards out against Buffalo two weeks ago.

Against St. Louis the week before, Morton's naked bootleg picked up a first down on a key third-and-long situation deep in Denver territory late in the game, icing the victory.

Morton isn't fast and his running style isn't pretty, but it is effective.

"I've never had plays designed for me to run the football before," he said. "I'm not going to gain 1,000 yards, but as long as defenses are giving us that option we'll take it. It's really like a reverse. You try to get the flow going one way, then take it the other. It'll work as long as defenses are not containing the back side.

"There's an element of surprise in those plays. Sometimes even my teammates don't know; the only player I'll tell is the back who's supposed to take the handoff."

For someone with scarred knees, the result of four knee operations, such antics could be dangerous. But Morton is smart enough to know when to hit the dirt. He doesn't try running over any defenders. And he has some experience in carrying the ball. He was a feared punt returner in high school and ran the ball with some authority at the University of California.

Football is fun again for the 13-year veteran. At Dallas, Morton lost out to the more popular Roger Staubach in the battle for the No. 1 quarterback spot. Ironically, it was Staubach's running ability which endeared him to the Cowboy fans.

Morton demanded a trade and was shuttled off to the New York Giants midway through the 1974 season. Although his statistics were respectable, his 2½ years in New York were not pleasant.

"I tried to do things I shouldn't have" to make up for the Giants' shortcomings, Morton says, and the results weren't positive. Frustrated Giants' fans, looking for a scapegoat, chose Morton. He was frequently and loudly booed.

Last March, Morton and Denver's Steve Ramsey switched teams in what amounted to a change of scenery for both. Ramsey was similarly disliked by Bronco fans. The trade stands as one of the best in Denver history, since Ramsey didn't make the Giants' roster.

Morton was pleased with the trade. "There's no comparison between the two football programs," he said. "I liked the people in New York and they were good to me, but it's so much better here. This is a disciplined organization, which I was used to at Dallas. Denver has good management and excellent coaching. It's nice to be a part of that again."

He also is a fan of the Broncos' offense instituted by first-year Coach Red Miller. "We've been progressing every week," he said.

Falcons facing pressure

ATLANTA (AP) — It's a novel question: the coach of the Atlanta Falcons being asked if his team's performance will be hurt by the pressure of being on top of its National Football League division.

"No, I don't think so," said Coach Leeman Bennett. "That's not to say we won't have a bad game somewhere along the way. But I don't think the pressure will get us."

The Falcons, 4-10 the past two seasons, are 3-1 and leading the Western Division of the NFL's National Conference.

Their defense got them there.

Sunday's 7-0 shutout of San Francisco kept the number of points yielded by the Falcons to a league-leading 19. And next Sunday's game at winless Buffalo — third-lowest-scoring team in the NFL — doesn't seem to threaten the Falcons' won-lost record or defensive statistics.

"I don't know if we're that good, but we are 3-1," said rookie Coach Bennett. "People will have to consider us a contender now.

"We didn't set any goals when this season started," he said. "We just wanted to improve week by week and play mistake-free football. So far, we've done that."

Almost.

The Falcons lost two apparent touchdowns on offside penalties Sunday, but in three of their four games they haven't given up the ball by interception or fumble.

The offense hasn't moved the ball all that well, either, but the Atlanta defense has made up for that.

"Hey, we've got a good defense," said Rolland Lawrence, the cornerback who scored both apparent touchdowns that were called back. "This is a completely new ball club from what it was and it shows," said Lawrence, who is not a newcomer to the team.

Cougars up for Bruins

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP) — Washington State should be mentally up for UCLA in their Pacific-8 football clash Saturday in Spokane, but UCLA also has a reason for emotional play, according to WSU Coach Warren Powers.

Powers said Monday the Bruins know they have to recover from last week's 32-28 upset defeat at the hands of Stanford. WSU's motivation comes from a 17-10 league win over previously unbeaten California and the memory of last year's contest against the Bruins, when the Los Angeles team crushed the Cougars 62-3.

"I am sure they (the players) remember last year and have something to prove," Powers said. "But we can't dwell on last year. We have to concentrate on this year."

For the first time since 1971, the Cougars enter the night game in 34,800-seat Albi Stadium with a better record — 3-2 on the year to UCLA's 2-3. But WSU probably will play underdog for the sixth straight time this year.

UCLA has won the last 10 games in the series since 1958, and holds a 22-6 edge since 1928.

"We have a pretty tough game every week and UCLA is no exception. They are an excellent team. Injuries have bothered them, but their injuries are healing," Powers said.

MOTORIST TORTURED ON HIGHWAY

Driving a sluggish car that coughs, misses or drags on the highway can be sheer torture. Erratic engine performance is often caused by crankcase contaminents and sticking mechanical parts. In such cases you can help restore lost performance thanks to a special formulation called WYNN'S® ENGINE TUNE-UP. This famous oil treatment works in 10 minutes as you drive to help quiet valves and lifters, while it dissolves away harmful deposits. So to help end highway torture, GET WYNN'S ENGINE TUNE-UP today.

NBC hires McGuire

NEW YORK (AP) — Al McGuire, the colorful Marquette coach who closed out his career by winning the NCAA Basketball Championship last March, has been hired as a special commentator by NBC Sports, the network announced Monday.

McGuire will present filmed reports during halftime of NBC's nationally-televised college games and will appear live with commentary and interviews.

"In over 20 years of college basketball coaching, Al McGuire has been more than a highly successful coach," said Chet Simmons, vice president of NBC Sports. "His personality, showmanship and keen wit have also made him a popular and colorful ambassador for the sport. We look for Al's insight and candid commentary to be an informative and entertaining feature of our college basketball coverage."

McGuire compiled a career coaching record of 404-144 at Belmont Abbey and Marquette. Over the last 10 years at Marquette, his teams were 252-41, averaging 25 victories per season and appeared in 10 consecutive postseason tournaments.

Yanks must go with 24

NEW YORK — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn refused the New York Yankees' application to add a 25th man to their World Series roster.

In a letter to Yankee President Gabe Paul, Kuhn said the Yankees request to add outfielder Dell Alston to their list of Series eligibles could not be approved without the consent of the National League. NL President Chub Feeney would not agree to the addition, the commissioner said.

The Yankee roster vacancy was created when New York sent utiltyman Carlos May on waivers to the California Angels in mid-September. Baseball rules stipulate that players eligible for post-season action must be on the 25-man major league roster Aug. 31. Alston was playing for the Yankees' Syracuse farm team at the time.

Stewart questionable

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Defenseman Bob Stewart of the Cleveland Barons is questionable for Wednesday night's National Hockey League opener against the Los Angeles Kings because of an ankle injury suffered in the final preseason game.

Stewart was hit in the ankle by a shot during Cleveland's 4-2 victory at Edmonton Sunday night. He was scheduled to be examined by a doctor in Los Angeles when the team arrived.

Meanwhile, Barons General Manager Harry Howell said he is continuing his efforts to deal for another veteran defenseman to shore up Cleveland's injury-riddled and youthful defensive corps.

Nelson, Dales honored

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Stanford freshman Darrin Nelson and Oregon State senior Gene Dales have been named Pacific-8 Conference players of the week for their work in a pair of upsets.

Nelson rushed for 189 yards, caught four passes and scored twice to lead the Cardinals to a 32-28 victory over favored UCLA.

Dales intercepted a pass and returned it 79 yards for a touchdown, made eight tackles and sacked the quarterback once as Oregon State dumped unbeaten Brigham Young 24-19.

Nelson's rushing effort against UCLA was the third best in Stanford history. He is the nation's highest ranked freshman in rushing, receiving and all-purpose running. He leads the Pac-8 in receiving and is third in rushing.

Oregon State Coach Craig Fertig said Dales played as good a game as a linebacker can, shutting off Brigham Young's favorite play, the dump pass to the fullback.

Also nominated for offensive honors were Stanford quarterback Steve Dils, Washington tight end Scott Greenwood, Washington State punter Gavin Hedrick and Oregon State tackle Gordon Neumann.

Nominated for defensive honors were end Tom Thompson of Washington State, tackle Doug Martin of Washington and tackle Steve Howe of Stanford.

U.S. edges China

ATLANTA (AP) — Fred Pereira scored on a breakaway late in the final half to give the U.S. National Soccer team a 1-0 victory over The People's Republic of China in an international soccer match Monday night at Atlanta Stadium.

Don Droege got an assist on the winning goal as Pereira raced down the field and ripped a low kick past goalie Li FuSheng with 7:02 remaining.

A crowd of 15,003 watched the Chinese mount three mild scoring threats. However, U.S. goalie Arnold Mausser stopped two shots while the other went wide of the goal.

The United States hardly threatened except for a Mike Flater shot late in the first half which was caught by Li.

The two teams fought to a 1-1 tie Thursday in Washington, D.C., and the Chinese tied the New York Cosmos 1-1 Saturday in East Rutherford, N.J.

BART SULLIVAN

Sullivan pays visit to area

A couple former Damien High stars will be returning to the Southland this week as members of the University of Santa Clara soccer squad.

Bart Sullivan, a senior halfback, and Mike Hunter, a sophomore fullback, will be joining their Santa Clara mates in action tonight at UCLA (8 p.m.) and again Wednesday at Cal State Fullerton (4 p.m.).

Sullivan, co-captain of the Broncos' squad, was the Damien Athlete of the Year in 1974. He made the all-CIF soccer squad that same year and set a CIF record for goals in a season with 56.

Sullivan is hoping to be selected in the North American Soccer League pro draft after completing his collegiate career.

Hunter, who also won All-CIF honors at Damien, has also seen plenty of action this year for the Bronco soccer squad.

Yet another ex-Damien athlete, Brian Sullivan (Bart's younger brother) has been starring this year as a freshman place kicker on the Bronco football team.

The younger Sullivan has hit on 10 of 10 PATs and has made four of six field goals, the longest being a 41-yarder.

The Sullivans are from Diamond Bar, while Hunter hails from Claremont.

Chino league elects officers

The Chino American Little League will hold a meeting Tuesday evening beginning at 8 p.m. at the Pomona First Federal office on Central Avenue to elect officers for the 1978 season.

Head coach Terry Donahue of UCLA played in a Rose Bowl game for the Bruins and also served as an assistant coach in the New Year's Day contest at Pasadena.

Interference call frustrates Stags

We need it to rest up for Redlands. It will also help since we can't afford any more injuries at this point."

JOHN ZINDA, Claremont-Mudd: "The score (35-7) was not indicative of our game at USIU last week. It was still only 14-7 with 30 seconds to go in the half when a pass interference call went against us. That seemed to upset us and we never recovered.

"We were disappointed and frustrated down there. We did not play our game.

"We'll use our bye to try to get ready for our conference opener vs. Whittier. We have four kids down with injuries right now from our defense, but we hope they will be back for Whittier."

ROLAND ORTMAYER, La Verne: "Our trip up the hill last week to play Azusa Pacific was a very pleasant experience for us. Our defense played exceptionally well, in fact we got a very good effort out of everybody.

"Morrow broke an 80-yard early in the second half to kind of ice it for us. Steve Groggans also played an exceptional game at defensive tackle.

"We play Cal Lutheran this week, they have a fine program. We beat them the first year they had a team but have not been able to since in 15 or 16 years. We will have to play a good football game to beat them. I think they have been stronger in the past than they are this year but they are still a outstanding team."

JERRY SCONCE, Azusa Pacific: "There's not much you can say when you turn the ball over seven times inside your own 30, and that's what we did against La Verne.

"It was just one of those days I guess. Right now we'd like to forget it, quick.

"We're looking forward to playing Redlands this week. They are a well-drilled, very physical team. We are going to have to improve our offensive line play if we are going to stay with them."

MAL EATON, MSAC: "Our problem right now is that we are beating ourselves. We have played two of the ranked schools in the state and lost both games by the identical 27-24 score after being ahead late in the fourth quarter.

"Defensively, we did a super job of stopping Mesa's quarterback (Steve) Fairchild. Unfortunately, we probably had to give up something on the run as a result, and that's where we got beat.

"Our job right now is to keep our kids up for the rest of the season. They are a good football team which is just one step away from being a outstanding football team.

"We play Santa Ana this week, although they are winless I can't figure out why from the game films. They look very sharp and play good aggressive football."

JOHN STRYCULA, Citrus: "We beat San Diego CC in a very physical game, we're just happy to come out of it without any injuries. They're a rough bunch.

"We are still not playing as well as we should, we have some guys who will look good for three plays and then relax or something and get burned. We've been our own worst enemy at times.

"We play San Bernardino Valley this week. We expect the same sort of dogfight we had with San Diego. San Bernardino is a similar football team, they're very physical."

MIKE SHAUGHNESSY, Chaffey assistant coach: "We played a good Palomar team last week, I think the final score was a bit misleading. They stopped our running game, which is our strong point. We went to the air in the second half and finally started moving the ball.

"We face San Diego this week. We're not about to take them lightly. They have good size and are very aggressive. We are concerned about them, they have the ability to be a very good football team."

UCLA works at defense

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Prior to the start of the 1977 football season, UCLA Coach Terry Donahue said it would take some time for the Bruins' offense to come around because of its inexperienced personnel.

In their first three games, UCLA indeed struggled offensively, totaling only 43 points. In their last two outings, however, the Bruins have more than come around, scoring 62 points.

Donahue also said last month that the defense would have to carry the team early in the season. To an extent, it did, but against Stanford last Saturday, nearly everything went wrong.

The Cardinals rallied for a 32-28 victory over the Bruins in UCLA's Pacific-8 Conference opener. The 32 points scored by Stanford were well-earned as it rolled up 552 yards in total offense.

"I was surprised," Donahue said Monday at his weekly meeting with reporters. "I thought we would play better defensively. We executed poorly on defense, but you have to give Stanford a lot of credit."

The Bruins took a 28-25 lead on a 21-yard touchdown pass from Rick Bashore to Theotis Brown with 2:20 remaining, but the Cardinals stormed back, scoring the winning touchdown with 37 seconds to go.

"We had to shut them off and we didn't do it," said Donahue. "They went 80 yards in less than two minutes. That was the most disappointing aspect of the game."

After the Cardinals' last TD, UCLA quickly moved downfield but the game ended with the Bruins at the Stanford 15-yard line.

The game ended on a rather surprising note. With 12 seconds left and UCLA in a first-and-10 situation at the Stanford 24, Donahue called a running play instead of a pass, even though the Bruins had no timeouts left.

That meant that there was no way UCLA could stop the clock unless the ball-carrier, James Owens, went out of bounds or picked up a first down. He did neither. Owens gained nine yards and time ran out before the Bruins could get off another play.

"It was a tremendous gamble," Donahue acknowledged Monday. "We ran a trap play, which certainly was unexpected, and it didn't work. Their tackles were so wide there was a gaping hole, and James almost ran for a touchdown."

DESCRIPTION OF WORK. The work consists of furnishing all materials and all labor and equipment for the construction of a gravel envelope water well using either the conventional hydraulic rotary method or the reverse circulation method, installing conductor casing, well casing and developing and testing.

COMPLETION OF WORK. All work shall be completed within 45 calendar days following the date of award by the City Council. It is anticipated an award will be made on November 1, 1977.

PLANS AND SPECIFICATIONAS. Copies of the drawings and specifications may be obtained without charge from the office of the Director of Public Works, City Hall, Chino, or from the office of Kenneth I. Mullen, Consulting Engineers, Inc., 735 W. Duarte Road, Arcadia.

GUARANTEE. Each bid shall be made on the proposal form furnished by the City herewith and shall be in accordance with the plans, specifications and other contract documents and shall be accompanied by a certified check, cashier's check of bidder's bond, payable to the City in a sum not less than ten percent (10%) of the amount of the bid, as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into the contract for the work, the full amount of such guarantee to be forfeited to the City should said bidder fail to enter into said contract. The successful bidder will be required to furnish a Faithful Performance Bond in the amount not less than one hundred percent (100%) of the contract price, and a Labor and Material Bond in an amount not less than one hundred percent (100%) of the contract price, said bonds to be secured from a surety company authorized to do business in the State of California, and to be subject to the approval of the City Attorney.

PREVAILING WAGE RATES. As required by the California Labor Code, not less than the general prevailing rate of per diem wages and not less than the general rate for holiday and overtime work, in the locality in which the work is to be performed, for each craft of type of workman needed to execute the work contemplated under the contract, shall be paid to all workmen employed on said work by the Contractor or by any sub

PILOTLESS IGNITION, 30-INCH GAS RANGE

299.00

Solid state ignition can save up to 30% of total gas use since there is no constant flame on pilots. Has continuous cleaning oven. Charge it. CKM9622-330R.

WHEN YOU COOK

SAVE GAS ENERGY WITH THESE CONSERVATION TIPS

- Don't preheat gas oven ... it is unnecessary.
- Keep pots and pans covered.
- Adjust top burner flame to fit pans.
- Reduce burner flame to simmer after cooking starts.
- When replacing your gas range, consider one with an ignition system which eliminates the constant burning pilots.
